Haiti Moves To Halt Rebels

Measure More Generous Than House Version

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted unanimously Tuesday to fatten the pay checks of nearly all men and women—active and reserve, National Guard and retired—in the armed forces beginning Oct. 1.

Passage by a vote of 84 to 0 sent the measure to the House, which in May passed a somewhat similar but less generous bill.

Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., who managed the bill on the floor, succeeded in beating off every effort to amend the version fashioned by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

This first general military pay increase since 1958 would give more money to everybody in military uniform except recruits and privates and apprentice seamen with less than two years service.

Boost Urged By Kennedy

President Kennedy urged passage of such an increase in pay, saying inadequate income and housing are hurting military morale.

An Associated Press survey showed Tuesday that thousands of Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine enlisted men have had to turn to charity because they are unable to make ends meet on their government income.

Service-affiliated relief organizations have paid out millions to help military families obtain such food and clothing.

The Senate version of the bill would cost the taxpayers an estimated $1,227,330,000 more a year. The House version would cost $1,222,345,000.

The largest increase, $120 a month, would go to majors and equivalent ranks with 14 years' service. This would boost their base pay — which does not include housing and subsistence allowances — from $570 to $690.

Hostile Fire Pay

The House had limited its increases to officers and enlisted persons with more than two years' service. But the Senate included boosts for all lieutenants, ensigns, sergeants and technicians.

Both bills provide for a new cold war hostile fire pay, similar to wartime combat pay. It would be $55 extra a month for those exposed to death or injury, such as the fighting in South Viet Nam.

The House had voted to make this extra pay retroactive to Jan. 1, 1961, but the Senate eliminated this.

Both bills also provide an extra $30 monthly for "family separation allowance" when the military man is away from his family for more than a month. The Senate eliminated a House provision that would have pushed this up to $53.40 for some officers and approved a flat $30 rate.

U.S. Threatens To Strike Back In Poultry War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The European Common Market was put on notice Tuesday that if it does not call off sharp boosts on U.S. poultry products the United States will retaliate.

U.S. concessions on Common Market exports will be withdrawn in equal measure, said Christian A. Herter, chief U.S. trade negotiator.

He announced in a statement that public hearings will be held next month to help the government select from a list of 19 commodities those on which higher tariffs might be imposed. The major import item listed is wine.

But a spokesman for Herter's office said if the European Common Market changes its position, the United States would be happy to halt its proceeding and look toward what he called restoration of a balance of concessions.

Herter said a gradual increase in tariffs on U.S. poultry products from 4.9 cents a pound to the present 13.43 cents has severely curtailed overseas sales, mainly in West Germany.

The loss to American poultry producers was estimated by Herter at $46 million a year. His list of possible retaliation items brought Common Market nations $111.5 million from this country last year.

Herter's spokesman said it is contemplated that the hearings will start Sept. 4 and the tariff concession withdrawals will be put into effect about mid-October.

He said all of the Common Market countries would be affected—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Wine, of which $22.4 million worth was imported in 1962, had the highest money value on Herter's list. Other major items are trucks and buses, $14.8 million; film except motion pictures, $13.6 million; brandy, $12.1 million and photography paper, $10.2 million.

Three Staging Close Race In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Three veteran campaigners staged a nip-and-tuck fight for the lead Tuesday night in early returns from the Mississippi Democratic primary race for governor.

Former Gov. J. P. Coleman, Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson and lawyer Charles Sullivan maintained a three-way battle as vote-counting began.

With returns in from 21 of the state's 1,899 boxes, Coleman had 949 votes, Johnson 944 and Sullivan 805.

Civil rights-centered campaigning and Negro "vote-in" demonstrations spurred a heavy turnout in many sections of this Deep South state. The turnout and the long ballot—everything from governor to constable — indicated close races may not be decided until late Wednesday.

Coleman, 49, who was governor from 1956-60, and Johnson, 47, making his fourth bid for governor, and Sullivan, 38, all campaigned as strong segregationists and opponents of the Kennedy administration's civil rights program.

If no candidate gets a majority, the two high men will enter a runoff Aug. 27.

The vote-in demonstrations were reported in several areas under a law permitting those wrongly omitted from poll lists to vote by affidavit. However, Atty. Gen. Joe Patterson has ruled such votes would be legally worthless.

Mississippi has an estimated 30,000 registered Negroes and the vote-in does not affect them. The vote-in campaign was aimed at unregistered Negroes.

Soviet, Peking Swap Insults At Hiroshima

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP)—The Soviet Union charged Communist China with wanting to spread nuclear poison in the air and China hit back by accusing the Russians of selling out and surrendering to the United States.

It contrasted sharply with solemn ceremonies marking the 18th anniversary of the dropping of the first atomic bomb on this city.

Survivors said they took hope from the signing in Moscow of a partial nuclear test ban treaty—the same treaty the Chinese and Soviet delegates fought so bitterly about at the conference.

The Hiroshima peace bell tolled and a crowd of 15,000 stood silent in homage to the first victims of an atomic bomb. It was exactly 8:15 a.m.—the time to the minute when the U.S. B29 Enola Gay dropped the bomb on Aug. 6, 1945.

The ceremonies in Peace Park were peaceful and reverent, but not so the wrangling at the ninth conference against hydrogen and atomic weapons from which some non-Communist delegations have already walked out.

U.N. Begins Plane Hunt In S. Korea

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — The United Nations Command began a search over a wide area of South Korea Tuesday for a missing light plane which took off from an airstrip 100 miles east of Seoul with six American soldiers aboard.

Officers said there were no indications that the plane had flown near the demilitarized zone where North Korean Communist infiltrators ambushed and killed three American members of the 1st Cavalry Division.

A United Nations command spokesman admitted it was possible that the plane was shot down but that there was nothing to indicate that this had happened.

The search for the plane covered an area stretching from the east coast of Korea to Seoul. The plane took off on a training mission Monday from an airstrip near Daepo-Ri bound for Pyongtaek, 15 miles south of Seoul.

The plane was assigned to the U.S. Army Military Assistance Group, attached to South Korea's 1st Army Headquarters.

Railroad, Union Officials Hold "Useful" Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Railroad and union officials discussed their job-reducing work rules dispute across the bargaining table Tuesday for the first time in weeks. A Labor Department official called it a "useful session."

A member of the House Commerce Committee also said he thought the unions and carriers had entered "an area of agreement" in seeking a settlement that would avoid a nationwide rail strike threatened for Aug. 29.

The joint meetings are to resume at 9:30 a.m. EST Wednesday.

Representatives of both sides have been meeting separately with Labor Department officials for several weeks exploring possibilities for a negotiated agreement rather than have Congress refer the dispute to the Interstate Commerce Commission for settlement — the administration's plan.

Tuesday the railroads met in the morning with the engineers and firemen's unions. Afterward it was Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds who called it a "useful session."

Tuesday afternoon the carriers met with the brakemen's, conductors' and switchmen's unions.

There was no announcement of the outcome, but Reynolds who presided at both meetings told newsmen "both sides are seriously addressing themselves to suggestions that Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz made for bargaining."

The nature of Wirtz' suggestions, made last Friday, has not been disclosed. But Reynolds has said all talks in the past two days have been concerned with the two key issues — firemen's jobs and train crew makeup.

The railroads want to impose new work rules that would eliminate 32,500 firemen's jobs they say are unnecessary and cost them $600 million a year. Other thousands of jobs might also go later. The unions say they are needed for safety.

De Gaulle Rejects Pleas To Sign Pact

PARIS (UPI)—Reliable French sources said Tuesday President Charles de Gaulle formally has rejected pleas by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that France sign the Big Three Moscow nuclear test ban treaty.

De Gaulle told the U.S. and British leaders in personal letters delivered Monday he would stand by his firm refusal to sign the Moscow pact as long as it hampers formation of his independent French nuclear force, the sources said.

The French president was replying to personal messages from Kennedy and Macmillan delivered July 25—the day the partial test ban agreement was initiated in Moscow.

Hitchhike Days Over

West Would Link Red Assurances To No-Force Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States and Britain opened their bid Tuesday to link Communist guarantees of Western interests in Berlin to Premier Khrushchev's East-West nonaggression pact proposal, diplomatic sources reported.

Must Consult NATO Allies

The two Western foreign policy chiefs also were reported to have told Gromyko they would not be able to negotiate formally on the pact until they have completed consultations with their North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies. Conference sources said Rusk told Gromyko that the Western allies were not prepared to talk business on a nonaggression pact until the 15-nation NATO alliance makes up its collective mind on the matter.

His position was described as following closely that of President Kennedy who told a news conference Aug. 1 that "one of our interests in a nonaggression pact would be greater security for Berlin."

Details of the proposed link between Berlin and that pact are not expected to be divulged until the completion of NATO consultations.

Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman said in Washington that Britain and the United States are thinking in terms of unilateral declarations of nonaggression from both sides.

Inspection Plan Discussed

It was not clear whether this formula would prove acceptable to the Soviet Union or to French President Charles de Gaulle, who has said France will not commit aggression and hence he sees no purpose in a nonaggression agreement.

The three foreign ministers who signed the nuclear test ban treaty and toasted it at a Kremlin reception Monday, spent most of Tuesday together.

The three ministers also were reported to have opened preliminary discussions on Khrushchev's proposal for stationing inspection teams in East and West Germany to guard against surprise attack from either side.

Rusk was said to have indicated that the United States was interested in extending the inspection areas to include East and West Europe, the United States and the Soviet Union.

Soviet Launches New Space Probe

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Tuesday launched a new satellite on a mission to obtain research information for future manned space flights.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said the unmanned satellite, "Cosmos 19," went into orbit after a routine launching.

The satellite was lofted into orbit on the second anniversary of the 17-orbit flight of Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov.

The state purpose of the program, which was announced by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in a speech March 16, 1962, is to study such space phenomena as radiation and the earth's magnetic fields to gather information useful for manned flights.

Senate To Get Atom Test Ban Pact Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will send the new nuclear test ban treaty to the Senate on Thursday, the White House said Tuesday. Hearings lasting an expected two to three weeks will begin Monday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk in the chair.

When completed, the historic agreement will be assigned the highest priority on the Senate floor, ahead of civil rights and foreign aid bills, said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

"I feel our prospects are good for its ratification by the necessary two-thirds majority," he told a reporter.

Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, who negotiated the pact in Moscow, also predicted passage.

The treaty, framed by Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States, bans nuclear tests in the air, space and under the sea but not underground.

Mansfield commented on Senate ratification plans after the weekly meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with President Kennedy at the White House, and again later when questioned by a reporter.

The Senate Foreign Relations committee, headed by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., will give it expeditious consideration, Mansfield said. He predicted the hearings would last at least two weeks.

Mansfield said he presumed they would be open to the public.

Douglas' Ex-Wife Wed To Attorney

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif (UPI) — The former wife of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and Washington attorney Robert Eichholz were wed Tuesday night in a private ceremony, the day after Douglas himself took a new spouse.

Mercedes Hester Douglas, 46, who first met the former diplomat two decades ago, was united with Eichholz, 52, in a brief ceremony performed in the picturesque patio garden of a friend's home in Beverly Canyon. Only about 18 friends and relatives attended.

Douglas, 64, was married Monday to the former Joan Carol Martin, 23, at Buffalo, N. Y. He and the former Mrs. Douglas, his second wife, were divorced last Wednesday.

Cap Haitien Surrounded By Invaders

Insurgents Report Army Defections; OAS Council Meets

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —President Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier's Haitian forces have swung into action against the Haitian exile rebel contingent that invaded Haiti's north coast, authoritative sources said Tuesday night.

The invading rebels meanwhile were reported advancing in two columns southwestward from the Cap Haitien area.

The government said the rebel attack was mounted in the neighboring and hostile Dominican Republic and came by land, rather than by sea from an unidentified island as the rebel command contended.

Moreover, the government said, the invasion began Sunday instead of Monday, as the rebels had said.

Sources in Port au Prince said Duvalier counter-measures against the invasion began with an airlift of at least 150 men Monday from the capital area in the south to the vicinity of Cap Haitien, Haiti's second city and Atlantic port 90 miles north of the capital.

Army Defection Reported

The original invasion force was estimated by Haitian sources at 300 men, but reports from the rebel command spokesman at Santo Domingo, the Dominican capital, said it has been picking up Haitian army deserters as reinforcements inside Haiti.

The apparent aim was to isolate the north coast and the northwest area across the Windward Passage from Cuba — the early 19th century realm of "The Black Napoleon," King Henri Christophe.

There were no reports of actual fighting.

Cap Haitien, the second largest city in the island republic, was reported cut off by the rebel troops commanded by the invading exiles' Gen. Leon Cantave, whose aim is to oust Haiti's dictator President Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier.

Contrary to earlier reports, there was no indication that Duvalier had sent forces north from the capital, Port au Prince, in an effort to stop the invaders. Instead, he was believed to be concentrating his forces in Port au Prince for a last stand if the rebels breach the rugged mountains or make a new landing.

Dominican Aid Charged

The Haitian government radio claimed the invaders used the town of Ouanaminthe on the Dominican border in their invasion attack Monday and received help from the Dominican government.

The claim drew no immediate comment from Dominican President Juan Bosch. Reports from travelers said that Ouanaminthe was in Haitian government hands.

Exiled groups of Haitians here complained bitterly that Bosch had refused to allow rebel forces to organize or train in the Dominican Republic. The rebels were reported to have staged their invasion from an island—unidentified.

The initial attack was on the undefended northern coast near Ft. Liberte. Cantave told associates before the invasion he did not expect Duvalier to send a force after him because he could not trust his army.

Duvalier relies heavily on militia troops and the Ton Ton Macoutes, the terrorist security force Duvalier built up to offset military disloyalties.

OAS Orders Dispute Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Organization of American States Tuesday instructed its special committee on the Dominican-Haiti dispute to study new charges brought by Haiti—that exiled Haitians invaded from the Dominican Republic Monday.

The decision was unanimously adopted by the OAS Council.

Arturo Calventi, the Dominican Republic's ambassador, said the Haitian charges are "completely unfounded."

He said "the present situation in Haiti is an internal affair resulting from the dictatorial regime ruling there."

The OAS special committee was set up last May when differences between the two nations almost flared into war.

The United States supported Tuesday's OAS move.

May Meet Ford, Divorcee Hints

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Mrs. Christina Austin, whose name has been linked to that of Henry Ford II, left Tuesday for the fashionable Swiss resort of St. Moritz.

The blonde divorced wife of a British naval lieutenant who died five years ago indicated that she and Ford might run into each other in Europe.

The 45-year-old president of the Ford Motor Co., and his wife, Anne, 44, announced their separation over the weekend. They had been married 23 years.

Mrs. Austin, 36, indicated that she and Ford might meet in St. Moritz because they have mutual friends staying on the Riviera.

Mrs. Austin said she and Ford "are just good friends and nothing more."

She said she met Ford and his wife in Paris three years ago at a party given by Princess Grace and Prince Rainier of Monaco.

Gangland Sets $100,000 Price On Valachi's Head

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Word went out Tuesday that the underworld has offered $100,000 for the slaying of Joseph Valachi, a mobster who has spilled all to federal agents about a syndicate that rules organized crime in America.

Justice Department sources said: "We are going to take every precaution necessary to protect this man."

Valachi, whose fear of gangland revenge drove him to break a 33-year-old blood oath of silence, has given the Justice Department the names of a dozen men believed to be the overlords of a secret, terror-ridden syndicate of organized crime in eight cities.

The convicted New York narcotics dealer was removed from the U.S. penitentiary in Atalnta, Ga., a year ago and is now in hiding under strict federal guard.

One government source indicated that Valachi's hideout has been changed several times in an attempt to elude would-be executioners. There are suspicions that the underworld already has tried to locate the 58-year-old Valachi's whereabouts.

Considering the vast scope of the syndicate's operations, the $100,000 contract for Valachi's murder was said to be "only peanuts" — a standard price tag for gangland extermination.

Thanks to Valachi, the government has gained unprecedented knowledge of the hierarchy and operations of a Mafia-style syndicate whose business in gambling, narcotics, money lending and extortion runs into billions of dollars a year.

JFK Joins In Final Tribute To Graham

Some 2,000 persons attended the brief and simple rites in the huge Gothic cathedral which overlooks Washington from the top of Mt. St. Alban.

House Group Spells Out Tax Recommendations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recommendations to give a break to taxpayers whose incomes vary widely from year to year, but to trim the tax advantages of certain real estate operations, were spelled out in legal language by the House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday.

The committee, putting together a tax cut and revision bill, reaffirmed with minor changes its earlier decisions in these fields.

In one other, however, it reversed itself, dropping a previously approved provision that would have helped executives whose companies compensate them for losses involved in quick sale of houses when they are transferred.

Actors, authors and professional athletes, among others, would benefit by an income averaging provision agreed on. It gives special consideration to a taxpayer whose income shoots up in one year more than a third above the average for the past four years.

Under present law, such an increase can put a taxpayer in a substantially higher bracket. The committee-approved change would allow the income exceeding the average by more than a third to be taxed as though one-fifth of it had been received in each of five years.

The committee recommendation is to make some of this gain taxable at regular income rates.

One government source indicated that Valachi's hideout has been changed several times in an attempt to elude would-be executioners. There are suspicions that the underworld already has tried to locate the 58-year-old Valachi's whereabouts.

Considering the vast scope of the syndicate's operations, the $100,000 contract for Valachi's murder was said to be "only peanuts" — a standard price tag for gangland extermination.

Thanks to Valachi, the government has gained unprecedented knowledge of the hierarchy and operations of a Mafia-style syndicate whose business in gambling, narcotics, money lending and extortion runs into billions of dollars a year.

JFK Joins In Final Tribute To Graham

Some 2,000 persons attended the brief and simple rites in the huge Gothic cathedral which overlooks Washington from the top of Mt. St. Alban.

Canada Will Sign

OTTAWA (UPI) —Canada will add its name to the partial nuclear test ban treaty "at the earliest opportunity," a government spokesman said Tuesday.

Railroad, Union Officials Hold "Useful" Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Railroad and union officials discussed their job-reducing work rules dispute across the bargaining table Tuesday for the first time in weeks. A Labor Department official called it a "useful session."

A member of the House Commerce Committee also said he thought the unions and carriers had entered "an area of agreement" in seeking a settlement that would avoid a nationwide rail strike threatened for Aug. 29.

The joint meetings are to resume at 9:30 a.m. EST Wednesday.

Representatives of both sides have been meeting separately with Labor Department officials for several weeks exploring possibilities for a negotiated agreement rather than have Congress refer the dispute to the Interstate Commerce Commission for settlement — the administration's plan.

Tuesday the railroads met in the morning with the engineers and firemen's unions. Afterward it was Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds who called it a "useful session."

Tuesday afternoon the carriers met with the brakemen's, conductors' and switchmen's unions.

There was no announcement of the outcome, but Reynolds who presided at both meetings told newsmen "both sides are seriously addressing themselves to suggestions that Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz made for bargaining."

The nature of Wirtz' suggestions, made last Friday, has not been disclosed. But Reynolds has said all talks in the past two days have been concerned with the two key issues — firemen's jobs and train crew makeup.

The railroads want to impose new work rules that would eliminate 32,500 firemen's jobs they say are unnecessary and cost them $600 million a year. Other thousands of jobs might also go later. The unions say they are needed for safety.

De Gaulle Rejects Pleas To Sign Pact

PARIS (UPI)—Reliable French sources said Tuesday President Charles de Gaulle formally has rejected pleas by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that France sign the Big Three Moscow nuclear test ban treaty.

De Gaulle told the U.S. and British leaders in personal letters delivered Monday he would stand by his firm refusal to sign the Moscow pact as long as it hampers formation of his independent French nuclear force, the sources said.

The French president was replying to personal messages from Kennedy and Macmillan delivered July 25—the day the partial test ban agreement was initiated in Moscow.

Hitchhike Days Over

PAARL, South Africa (AP) — Each weekend for 14 months Frederick Wilson hitchhiked between Paarl and George, 300 miles away, to visit his girl friend, Almine Sheffield. Recently they married, and Wilson vowed he was giving up hitchhiking.

U.S., Britain Seek Berlin Guarantees

West Would Link Red Assurances To No-Force Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States and Britain opened their bid Tuesday to link Communist guarantees of Western interests in Berlin to Premier Khrushchev's East-West nonaggression pact proposal, diplomatic sources reported.

Must Consult NATO Allies

The two Western foreign policy chiefs also were reported to have told Gromyko they would not be able to negotiate formally on the pact until they have completed consultations with their North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies. Conference sources said Rusk told Gromyko that the Western allies were not prepared to talk business on a nonaggression pact until the 15-nation NATO alliance makes up its collective mind on the matter.

His position was described as following closely that of President Kennedy who told a news conference Aug. 1 that "one of our interests in a nonaggression pact would be greater security for Berlin."

Details of the proposed link between Berlin and that pact are not expected to be divulged until the completion of NATO consultations.

Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman said in Washington that Britain and the United States are thinking in terms of unilateral declarations of nonaggression from both sides.

Inspection Plan Discussed

It was not clear whether this formula would prove acceptable to the Soviet Union or to French President Charles de Gaulle, who has said France will not commit aggression and hence he sees no purpose in a nonaggression agreement.

The three foreign ministers who signed the nuclear test ban treaty and toasted it at a Kremlin reception Monday, spent most of Tuesday together.

The three ministers also were reported to have opened preliminary discussions on Khrushchev's proposal for stationing inspection teams in East and West Germany to guard against surprise attack from either side.

Rusk was said to have indicated that the United States was interested in extending the inspection areas to include East and West Europe, the United States and the Soviet Union.

Soviet Launches New Space Probe

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Tuesday launched a new satellite on a mission to obtain research information for future manned space flights.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said the unmanned satellite, "Cosmos 19," went into orbit after a routine launching.

The satellite was lofted into orbit on the second anniversary of the 17-orbit flight of Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov.

The state purpose of the program, which was announced by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in a speech March 16, 1962, is to study such space phenomena as radiation and the earth's magnetic fields to gather information useful for manned flights.

Senate To Get Atom Test Ban Pact Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will send the new nuclear test ban treaty to the Senate on Thursday, the White House said Tuesday. Hearings lasting an expected two to three weeks will begin Monday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk in the chair.

When completed, the historic agreement will be assigned the highest priority on the Senate floor, ahead of civil rights and foreign aid bills, said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

"I feel our prospects are good for its ratification by the necessary two-thirds majority," he told a reporter.

Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, who negotiated the pact in Moscow, also predicted passage.

The treaty, framed by Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States, bans nuclear tests in the air, space and under the sea but not underground.

Mansfield commented on Senate ratification plans after the weekly meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with President Kennedy at the White House, and again later when questioned by a reporter.

The Senate Foreign Relations committee, headed by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., will give it expeditious consideration, Mansfield said. He predicted the hearings would last at least two weeks.

Mansfield said he presumed they would be open to the public.

Douglas' Ex-Wife Wed To Attorney

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif (UPI) — The former wife of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and Washington attorney Robert Eichholz were wed Tuesday night in a private ceremony, the day after Douglas himself took a new spouse.

Mercedes Hester Douglas, 46, who first met the former diplomat two decades ago, was united with Eichholz, 52, in a brief ceremony performed in the picturesque patio garden of a friend's home in Beverly Canyon. Only about 18 friends and relatives attended.

Douglas, 64, was married Monday to the former Joan Carol Martin, 23, at Buffalo, N. Y. He and the former Mrs. Douglas, his second wife, were divorced last Wednesday.

House Group Spells Out Tax Recommendations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recommendations to give a break to taxpayers whose incomes vary widely from year to year, but to trim the tax advantages of certain real estate operations, were spelled out in legal language by the House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday.

The committee, putting together a tax cut and revision bill, reaffirmed with minor changes its earlier decisions in these fields.

In one other, however, it reversed itself, dropping a previously approved provision that would have helped executives whose companies compensate them for losses involved in quick sale of houses when they are transferred.

Actors, authors and professional athletes, among others, would benefit by an income averaging provision agreed on. It gives special consideration to a taxpayer whose income shoots up in one year more than a third above the average for the past four years.

Under present law, such an increase can put a taxpayer in a substantially higher bracket. The committee - approved change would allow the income exceeding the average by more than a third to be taxed as though one-fifth of it had been received in each of five years.

The committee recommendation is to make some of this gain taxable at regular income rates.

Cap Haitien Surrounded By Invaders

Insurgents Report Army Defections; OAS Council Meets

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —President Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier's Haitian forces have swung into action against the Haitian exile rebel contingent that invaded Haiti's north coast, authoritative sources said Tuesday night.

The invading rebels meanwhile were reported advancing in two columns southwestward from the Cap Haitien area.

The government said the rebel attack was mounted in the neighboring and hostile Dominican Republic and came by land, rather than by sea from an unidentified island as the rebel command contended.

Moreover, the government said, the invasion began Sunday instead of Monday, as the rebels had said.

Sources in Port au Prince said Duvalier counter - measures against the invasion began with an airlift of at least 150 men Monday from the capital area in the south to the vicinity of Cap Haitien, Haiti's second city and Atlantic port 90 miles north of the capital.

Army Defection Reported

The original invasion force was estimated by Haitian sources at 300 men, but reports from the rebel command spokesman at Santo Domingo, the Dominican capital, said it has been picking up Haitian army deserters as reinforcements inside Haiti.

The apparent aim was to isolate the north coast and the northwest area across the Windward Passage from Cuba — the early 19th century realm of "The Black Napoleon," King Henri Christophe.

There were no reports of actual fighting.

Cap Haitien, the second largest city in the island republic, was reported cut off by the rebel troops commanded by the invading exiles' Gen. Leon Cantave, whose aim is to oust Haiti's dictator President Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier.

Contrary to earlier reports, there was no indication that Duvalier had sent forces north from the capital, Port au Prince, in an effort to stop the invaders. Instead, he was believed to be concentrating his forces in Port au Prince for a last stand if the rebels breach the rugged mountains or make a new landing.

Dominican Aid Charged

The Haitian government radio claimed the invaders used the town of Ouanaminthe on the Dominican border in their invasion attack Monday and received help from the Dominican government.

The claim drew no immediate comment from Dominican President Juan Bosch. Reports from travelers said that Ouanaminthe was in Haitian government hands.

Exiled groups of Haitians here complained bitterly that Bosch had refused to allow rebel forces to organize or train in the Dominican Republic. The rebels were reported to have staged their invasion from an island—unidentified.

The initial attack was on the undefended northern coast near Ft. Liberte. Cantave told associates before the invasion he did not expect Duvalier to send a force after him because he could not trust his army.

Duvalier relies heavily on militia troops and the Ton Ton Macoutes, the terrorist security force Duvalier built up to offset military disloyalties.

OAS Orders Dispute Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Organization of American States Tuesday instructed its special committee on the Dominican-Haiti dispute to study new charges brought by Haiti—that exiled Haitians invaded from the Dominican Republic Monday.

The decision was unanimously adopted by the OAS Council.

Arturo Calventi, the Dominican Republic's ambassador, said the Haitian charges are "completely unfounded."

He said "the present situation in Haiti is an internal affair resulting from the dictatorial regime ruling there."

The OAS special committee was set up last May when differences between the two nations almost flared into war.

The United States supported Tuesday's OAS move.

Tawes To Keep Guard Troops In Cambridge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov Tawes said Tuesday he would keep the National Guard in Cambridge as long as it is necessary.

Just how long, he said, would depend "on many factors."

And that's just about all the Governor would say at his press conference about the Cambridge racial crisis.

Asked if he thought it significant that peace was brought to the Easten Shore city by an agreement signed in Washington and not Annapolis, Tawes answered, "Any comment from me is unnecessary."

The agreement, signed July 23 at the Justice Department, calls for an end to civil rights demonstrations in return for a city charter amendment requiring equal service in restaurants and the movie theater.

The amendment takes effect Aug. 20 unless it is petitioned to referendum. Informed sources have reported that opponents of the charter proposition already have enough signatures to force a vote.

Asked to comment on the effect of a vote on the interracial agreement, Tawes said, "I don't know. We'll have to comment on that when it occurs."

Q: Would you take an active part in working for the amendment if it is petitioned to a vote?

A: I'll let you know after we find out if there's a vote.

Q: Do you feel there has been progress in race relations in Cambridge since the July 23 agreement?

A: It's quiet there.

Q: Do you have a personal timetable for the permanent resolution of the crisis, or withdrawal of the troops?

A: No.

Q: Do you have reports that a defeat of the charter amendment would prompt the resumption of demonstrations in Cambridge?

A: No comment.

Q: Sir, you have been criticised for not taking a more active personal role in the Cambridge dispute. Some critics said you seemed remote from it.

A: I didn't go to Cambridge myself, but I had Ed (Edmund G) Mester there. We were in constant touch. I have my own ideas about that, but I don't want to go into it. I was as close to the situation as if I'd have been there . . . Mester called me three or four times a day.

Mester is Tawes' top civil rights aide.

Tawes said Mester and the City Council had reached agreements several times. "We were strongly advocating passage of an equal accommodations ordinance. We thought it was a settled matter," Tawes said.

"The council had agreed to passage of the ordinance. The mayor agreed to passage, and we assumed he was speaking for the council," he continued.

"But when the mayor and council met, the local attorney (City Attorney C. Awdry Thompson) said the ordinance would not be legal," Tawes said.

The council adopted the charter amendment instead. An ordinance would have gone into effect immediately.

Negro Leader Fails To Sway Sen. Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Negro leader publicly lobbied Sen. Everett M. Dirksen Tuesday — even called for prayers for him—but failed to swing the Republican leader behind the public accommodations section of the Kennedy civil rights bill.

In his famous musical tones, the Illinois senator said he would stick to the principles "I learned at my mother's knee"; that he would carry out his oath to defend the Constitution according to his lights.

Therefore, Dirksen said, he is supporting seven sections of President Kennedy's bill but not the highly controversial eighth — the one banning discrimination in public accommodations such as restaurants, hotels and theaters. On that, Dirksen favors a voluntary approach.

After a dramatic dialogue in a Senate hearing room, the Negro leader, Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told newsmen:

"I haven't given up on Sen. Dirksen. I feel we've got to go to Illinois and arouse the people he cares about."

The confrontation was an offshoot of a civil rights strategy conference sponsored by the NAACP. The aim of this three-day meeting is to lobby members of Congress and think up improved methods of building grass roots sentiment for civil rights legislation.

Baltimore Bowling Alleys CORE Target

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Congress of Racial Equality has told about 15 independent bowling alleys in the city and Baltimore County they must integrate by Aug. 16 or face picketing and demonstrations.

A CORE spokesman said that while most of the bowling alleys in the city and county are integrated, there still remain a few that are not. As a result, he said, Negroes are not sure where they can go.

Six Of Family Die In Crash

MORRISVILLE, Va. (AP)—The fiery crash of a small foreign car and a farm truck loaded with hay wiped out a family of six Monday night in this Northern Virginia area.

Police said the two vehicles collided when Finotti attempted to make a left turn off Virginia 17. Both vehicles were headed south.

The crash ruptured the gas tank in the front of the car, forcing flaming gasoline back on the six occupants. Five of them died in the flames.

The sixth, 1-year-old Barbara Ann, was thrown from the car but died later at the University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville.

Other than the parents and infant daughter, the victims were: Marion, 10, Finotti's daughter by a previous marriage; Gary, 5; and Hazel Heflin, 9, Mrs. Finotti's daughter by her previous marriage.

90 Guerrillas Slain In Viet Nam Battle

SAIGON (UPI) —An estimated 90 Communist guerrillas were reported Tuesday to have been killed in a night battle with a U.S. and Vietnamese special forces unit on the Caman Peninsula of South Viet Nam.

U.S. military sources said some of the Red Viet Cong guerrillas were mowed down as they charged to bugle calls against the dug-in defenders.

The sources, who reported the battle took place last week, said most of the Viet Cong were believed to have been killed by mortar and artillery fire from a nearby government post.

Four Baltimore Youths Jailed For Race Clash

BALTIMORE (AP) — Four youths, arrested after a street fight between about 30 Negroes and whites, were sentenced to six days in the city jail Tuesday.

Municipal Court Judge William L. K .Barrett looked at two baseball bats and a metal milk bottle used at the fracas and told the youths:

"You boys must be taught that this kind of conduct cannot take place in this city. You will each spend six days in the city jail to think things over."

The fight Monday night lasted about half an hour and it took six patrol cars loaded with police and a police dog to break it up.

Eight were arrested and the rest of the brawlers ran away. Four of the eight arrested were juveniles and released in the custody of their parents. Two others were treated for minor injuries.

The Negroes arrested said the fight started when the white youths asked for money. The white youths denied this.

Witnesses said they saw a group of Negroes chasing the white youths down the street. Moments later the white youths counter-attacked with sticks and clubs.

Names Selected For Polaris Subs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy announced Tuesday the names chosen for three more Polaris missile submarines.

Contracts for construction were authorized recently.

The submarine to be built at the Newport News shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. in Virginia, will carry the name "Lewis and Clark," honoring the two famous Virginians who explored and mapped the wild country from the Missouri to the Pacific Northwest at the outset of the last century.

Another submarine will be named the James K. Polk, for the 11th president of the United States, famous in the Mexican War and the annexation of Texas. The Polk will be built at electric boat division of General Dynamics Corp., Groton, Conn.

The George Bancroft, also being built at Groton, will carry the name of Polk's secretary of the Navy. It was Bancroft who established the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Aid Bill Moves Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee Tuesday approved President Kennedy's foreign aid bill. The vote was 23 to 7.

The House group reached agreement on an authorization totaling slightly under 4.1 billion late last week, but put off the formal vote until Tuesday.

Education Aid Voted By House After Skirmish

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was caught up Tuesday in a hot civil rights skirmish as it passed a bill that would greatly expand federal aid to vocational education.

Democrats turned back a determined Republican drive to add an antisegregation amendment to the bill, first by a nonrecord standing vote of 196 to 146 and then by a 217-181 roll call.

On the latter vote, the amendment was supported by 24 Democrats and 157 Republicans. Against it were 211 Democrats and 6 Republicans.

The bill was then sent to the Senate by a 377-21 roll-call vote.

The bill, a major part of President Kennedy's education program, would authorize $450 million in new funds over the next four years for federal grants to the states for vocational education. Present spending is at the rate of $57 million a year.

The bill would remove the existing requirements which channel most funds into agricultural training and home economics. States would be free to use their allotments to meet their own job needs.

Two Men Are Convicted In Ratterman Conspiracy

COVINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — A U.S. District Court jury Tuesday convicted two of the six men accused of conspiring to frame Campbell County Sheriff George Ratterman during his 1961 campaign for sheriff.

Found guilty of conspiring to violate Ratterman's civil rights were Charles E. Lester, former lawyer for Northern Kentucky gambling interests, and Edward A. (Marty) Buccieri, operator of the Glenn Hotel in Newport, Ky.

Ratterman and stripper April Flowers were arrested in the hotel in a May 9, 1961, police raid.

Lester and Buccieri were sentenced to one year in jail each by Federal Judge Mac Swinford. They were released on $5,000 bond each and their attorneys immediately announced they would appeal the decision.

The jury of nine men and three women deliberated for more than six hours before returning a verdict. The first trial, in the summer of 1961, ended in a hung jury. Swinford instructed this jury he did not want another hung jury.

Apple, Peach Outlook Good

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service says apple and peach orchards are in good condition in the two-state area.

The service said the Summer Rambo apples will be the main variety picked during the next two weeks. The harvest of Golden jubilee peaches was expected to reach its peak about the middle of August and Sullivan Elberta peaches will be available in late August.

Garrett County is the only county not suffering from below normal pasture supplies, the service said.

The service said that soil moisture supplies are still low despite showers last week. However, a good soaking rain could still prevent serious damage to corn, soybeans and tobacco.

Council of the rebel action but did not request action.

Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers said his government had taken Haiti's case to the Organization of American States but that it reserved its rights to self defense under the U.N. charter if the OAS is unable to deal with the situation.

Haiti, the oldest Negro republic in the Western Hemspihere, shares the island of Hispaniola with the Dominican Republic.

Haitian government charges that the invaders came from the adjoining Dominican Republic were aired by the council of the Organization of American States at an emergency meeting in Washington, called on the plea of Fern D. Baguidy, Haiti's OAS representative.

The Dominican Republic has insisted that it has barred the use of Dominican soil for bases of the political foes of Duvalier.

But Chalmers sent a message to the OAS charging that the exile invaders "departed from the Dominican Republic."

Council of the rebel action but did not request action.

Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers said his government had taken Haiti's case to the Organization of American States but that it reserved its rights to self defense under the U.N. charter if the OAS is unable to deal with the situation.

Haiti, the oldest Negro republic in the Western Hemspihere, shares the island of Hispaniola with the Dominican Republic.

Haitian government charges that the invaders came from the adjoining Dominican Republic were aired by the council of the Organization of American States at an emergency meeting in Washington, called on the plea of Fern D. Baguidy, Haiti's OAS representative.

The Dominican Republic has insisted that it has barred the use of Dominican soil for bases of the political foes of Duvalier.

But Chalmers sent a message to the OAS charging that the exile invaders "departed from the Dominican Republic."

Negro Leader Fails To Sway Sen. Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Negro leader publicly lobbied Sen. Everett M. Dirksen Tuesday — even called for prayers for him—but failed to swing the Republican leader behind the public accommodations section of the Kennedy civil rights bill.

In his famous musical tones, the Illinois senator said he would stick to the principles "I learned at my mother's knee"; that he would carry out his oath to defend the Constitution according to his lights.

Therefore, Dirksen said, he is supporting seven sections of President Kennedy's bill but not the highly controversial eighth — the one banning discrimination in public accommodations such as restaurants, hotels and theaters. On that, Dirksen favors a voluntary approach.

After a dramatic dialogue in a Senate hearing room, the Negro leader, Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told newsmen:

"I haven't given up on Sen. Dirksen. I feel we've got to go to Illinois and arouse the people he cares about."

The confrontation was an offshoot of a civil rights strategy conference sponsored by the NAACP. The aim of this three-day meeting is to lobby members of Congress and think up improved methods of building grass roots sentiment for civil rights legislation.

Baltimore Bowling Alleys CORE Target

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Congress of Racial Equality has told about 15 independent bowling alleys in the city and Baltimore County they must integrate by Aug. 16 or face picketing and demonstrations.

A CORE spokesman said that while most of the bowling alleys in the city and county are integrated, there still remain a few that are not. As a result, he said, Negroes are not sure where they can go.

Six Of Family Die In Crash

MORRISVILLE, Va. (AP)—The fiery crash of a small foreign car and a farm truck loaded with hay wiped out a family of six Monday night in this Northern Virginia area.

Police said the two vehicles collided when Finotti attempted to make a left turn off Virginia 17. Both vehicles were headed south.

The crash ruptured the gas tank in the front of the car, forcing flaming gasoline back on the six occupants. Five of them died in the flames.

The sixth, 1-year-old Barbara Ann, was thrown from the car but died later at the University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville.

Other than the parents and infant daughter, the victims were: Marion, 10, Finotti's daughter by a previous marriage; Gary, 5; and Hazel Heflin, 9, Mrs. Finotti's daughter by her previous marriage.

90 Guerrillas Slain In Viet Nam Battle

SAIGON (UPI) —An estimated 90 Communist guerrillas were reported Tuesday to have been killed in a night battle with a U.S. and Vietnamese special forces unit on the Caman Peninsula of South Viet Nam.

U.S. military sources said some of the Red Viet Cong guerrillas were mowed down as they charged to bugle calls against the dug-in defenders.

The sources, who reported the battle took place last week, said most of the Viet Cong were believed to have been killed by mortar and artillery fire from a nearby government post.

Four Baltimore Youths Jailed For Race Clash

BALTIMORE (AP) — Four youths, arrested after a street fight between about 30 Negroes and whites, were sentenced to six days in the city jail Tuesday.

Municipal Court Judge William L. K. Barrett looked at two baseball bats and a metal milk bottle used at the fracas and told the youths:

"You boys must be taught that this kind of conduct cannot take place in this city. You will each spend six days in the city jail to think things over."

The fight Monday night lasted about half an hour and it took six patrol cars loaded with police and a police dog to break it up.

Eight were arrested and the rest of the brawlers ran away. Four of the eight arrested were juveniles and released in the custody of their parents. Two others were treated for minor injuries.

The Negroes arrested said the fight started when the white youths asked for money. The white youths denied this.

Witnesses said they saw a group of Negroes chasing the white youths down the street. Moments later the white youths counter-attacked with sticks and clubs.

Names Selected For Polaris Subs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy announced Tuesday the names chosen for three more Polaris missile submarines.

Contracts for construction were authorized recently.

The submarine to be built at the Newport News shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. in Virginia, will carry the name "Lewis and Clark," honoring the two famous Virginians who explored and mapped the wild country from the Missouri to the Pacific Northwest at the outset of the last century.

Another submarine will be named the James K. Polk, for the 11th president of the United States, famous in the Mexican War and the annexation of Texas. The Polk will be built at electric boat division of General Dynamics Corp., Groton, Conn.

The George Bancroft, also being built at Groton, will carry the name of Polk's secretary of the Navy. It was Bancroft who established the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Aid Bill Moves Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee Tuesday approved President Kennedy's foreign aid bill. The vote was 23 to 7.

The House group reached agreement on an authorization totaling slightly under 4.1 billion late last week, but put off the formal vote until Tuesday.

Education Aid Voted By House After Skirmish

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was caught up Tuesday in a hot civil rights skirmish as it passed a bill that would greatly expand federal aid to vocational education.

Democrats turned back a determined Republican drive to add an antisegregation amendment to the bill, first by a nonrecord standing vote of 196 to 146 and then by a 217-181 roll call.

On the latter vote, the amendment was supported by 24 Democrats and 157 Republicans. Against it were 211 Democrats and 6 Republicans.

The bill was then sent to the Senate by a 377-21 roll-call vote.

The bill, a major part of President Kennedy's education program, would authorize $450 million in new funds over the next four years for federal grants to the states for vocational education. Present spending is at the rate of $57 million a year.

The bill would remove the existing requirements which channel most funds into agricultural training and home economics. States would be free to use their allotments to meet their own job needs.

Two Men Are Convicted In Ratterman Conspiracy

COVINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — A U.S. District Court jury Tuesday convicted two of the six men accused of conspiring to frame Campbell County Sheriff George Ratterman during his 1961 campaign for sheriff.

Found guilty of conspiring to violate Ratterman's civil rights were Charles E. Lester, former lawyer for Northern Kentucky gambling interests, and Edward A. (Marty) Buccieri, operator of the Glenn Hotel in Newport, Ky.

Ratterman and stripper April Flowers were arrested in the hotel in a May 9, 1961, police raid.

Lester and Buccieri were sentenced to one year in jail each by Federal Judge Mac Swinford. They were released on $5,000 bond each and their attorneys immediately announced they would appeal the decision.

The jury of nine men and three women deliberated for more than six hours before returning a verdict. The first trial, in the summer of 1961, ended in a hung jury. Swinford instructed this jury he did not want another hung jury.

Atheist Leader Will Look Over Kansas 'Center'

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mrs. Madalyn J. Murray leaves Wednesday for Stockton, Kan., to look over her latest project, a corporation for an atheist center.

The Baltimore housewife recently won a Supreme Court case to have required prayers and Bible readings declared unconstitutional in public schools.

Mrs. Murray formed the atheist corporation, to be known as Other Americans Inc., July 2 after former Kansas State senator Carl Brown donated a 80-acre tract of land near Stockton for the project.

She is driving out to Stockton with her two sons, William J Murray III, 17, and Garth, 8, and her mother.

The 43-year-old divorcee said Tuesday she was making the trip to survey the land, pick up the deeds and "do a million different things."

Mrs. Murray said she would establish a university, an information center, a radio station, and a printing press and a home for the aged at the atheist center.

A 50,000-book library has already been donated to the project, she said, and the corporation has received pledges amounting to about $100,000.

Mrs. Murray said she understood there are several usable buildings on the property, including a house and a barn.

"The project is becoming more and more interesting," she said. "The enthusiasm about this is surprising even to me. I'm having incredible support."

Mrs. Murray is a rector and resident agent for the non-profit corporation.

The purpose of the university "is not to teach atheism, but to show what can be done with education if you eliminate all superstitution. We are hoping this will have a reputation that will be similar to the great universities of the country."

Mrs. Murray said she and her family plan to arrive in Stockton Aug. 15. On their way out they will stop to visit six families who have told her they want to move to the center.

She will return to Baltimore in about two weeks and then move out to Kansas permanently in October.

Actor Stricken

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Middle River woman charged with homicide in the death of her husband will be given a preliminary hearing Wednesday in Essex.

The accused is Mrs. Delores Stutler, 61, whose husband, Randolph L. Sutler, 53, was found dead Sunday in the couple's trailer home.

Mrs. Sutler called Baltimore County police, saying her husband had taken an overdose of sleeping pills. His wrists had been slashed and an autopsy showed that he bled to death.

BERLIN, Md. (AP) — Mayor John H. Burbage has not appointed a biracial commission but he says some steps in integration will be taken.

The mayor told integrationist leaders that community leaders he asked to serve on a biracial commission said they "just won't want to bother with these racial things.

Burbage added, however, that one movie theater and one restaurant will be integrated, "colored" and "white" signs will be removed from public restrooms, the town shirt factory will give Negroes equal job opportunities and two food markets will begin hiring Negroes.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore wants Maryland's two U.S. senators to vote for ratification of the nuclear test ban treaty as an important step in U.S.-Soviet relations.

"Grant that the treaty is not much of an agreement — nevertheless, an agreement it is," the Republican mayor said in identical letters to Democrat Daniel B. Brewster and Republican J. Glenn Beall.

Senate rejection of the test ban, McKeldin said, would "go far toward convincing the rest of the world that we are determined to have war and will not be satisfied until we get it."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md., is proposing legislation to enable volunteer fire companies to receive donations of government surplus equipment.

"We have 296 volunteer firefighting organizations in Maryland," Sickles said in a statement, "and my bill would enable these companies to receive much-needed truck chassis and tanks, to replace outmoded engines, and to supplement existing equipment which is, in many cases, inadequate to the needs of the community."

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — State income taxes produced net receipts of $10,233,258 in July, the comptroller's office reported Tuesday. The total was $313,314 higher than for the same month last year.

Blue-eyed Rosanne Tueller will represent the city in the annual Miss America pageant in Atlantic City next month.

Police said Aburn fell from a second-story window Monday. He died of a fractured skull.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ground was broken Tuesday for an eight-story office building to be administrative headquarters for the Baltimore archdiocese of the Roman Catholic Church.

Next fall is the target date for opening of the headquarters. The building to go up on the site of the former Calvert Hall College High School, razed in 1961, will house the Catholic Information Center, the Catholic Review, the Associated Catholic Charities, the Catholic Youth Organization and the Department of Education.

Archbishop Lawrence Shehan will have offices on the seventh floor.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin complained to Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., Tuesday that control of Dulles International Airport by the Federal Aviation Agency puts Friendship International Airport in competition with the federal government.

"We have every confidence in the ability of Friendship to compete with Dulles, but it cannot compete with the United States government," McKeldin wrote Humphrey.

"It is not good business, good politics or good sense for a federal regulatory agency, such as the FAA, to engage actively in the business it is supposed to regulate."

MARSHALL HALL, Md. (AP)—The body of a 39-year-old Washington, D.C., man was recovered from the Potomac River Tuesday by the Maryland Tidewater Fisheries patrol boat Honga River.

The victim, Harold Carl Grishkot, drowned Monday while swimming with three companions from a boat they thought to be anchored. The others swam safely to shore when ths boat began drifting away.

Grishkot's body was found floating in the Potomac 175 yards east of the light at Hallowing Point. It was brought into Marshall Hall for transfer to a funeral home.

Andrew Jackson appointed a "kitchen cabinet" while he was President. It was a "brain trust" composed of close friends and advisers, who dropped in at the White House with great informality.

Stamp Honoring Anthem Writer Key Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., proposes issuing a special commemorative stamp to honor Francis Scott Key on the 150th anniversary of his writing the Star Spangled Banner.

The stamp would first be sold in Carroll County, Md., where Key was born on the family estate, Terra Rubra, near Taneytown.

A bill introduced Tuesday by Long would put the stamp on sale Sept. 14, 1964, 150 years after Key wrote the national anthem aboard a British ship during the night bombardment of Ft. McHenry in Baltimore Harbor.

Key remained on deck during the bombardment and wrote the poem when he saw the American flag still waving at daybreak.

The Star Spangled Banner was first published in the Baltimore American newspaper Sept. 21, 1814, and was sung in Baltimore theaters and parties and soon gained natonal popularity.

The original manuscript is now in the Walters Art Gallery in Baltimore.

Steel Employment Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — Employment in the iron and steel industry increased in June for the seventh consecutive month the American Iron & Steel Institute said Tuesday.

The increase was 70,000 to a total of 552,866 hourly and salaried workers compared to the 1962 low of 482,600 in November.

Elephants are as clannish as club joiners. If an elephant becomes separated from his own herd, he rarely joins another.

Md. AFL-CIO President Takes Civil Rights Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Woodrow F. Strong of the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO, facing a contest for reelection, told the organization's annual convention Tuesday he had supported all civil rights legislation and would continue to do so.

Speaking at the opening session of the four-day convention of the union, Strong said that "contrary to rumors spread here, I have supported actively every piece of the public accommodations legislation."

He told the 347 delegates that he had been "literally spit on" by members of the Maryland legislature during discussions of the legislation.

Strong, who is opposed for reelection by his secretary-treasurer, Charles A. Della, said he had urged Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland to back a "meaningful public accommodations law."

He said he now is urging the governor to issue an executive order to stop discrimination in public accommodations.

A lively debate is expected on five civil rights resolutions, part of some 52 legislative resolutions to be brought before the convention.

The five resolutions call for support of President Kennedy's civil rights program, a national fair employment practices bill and enactment of a statewide equal accommodations law applying to all of Maryland's 23 counties.

A law enacted by the 1963 Maryland General Assembly requires restaurants, motels and hotels in 11 counties to serve Negroes as well as whites. Eleven other counties were exempted from the measure and Carroll County voters will decide whether they want the law.

Women To Vote

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — The Iranian government announced Monday that parliamentary elections will be held Sept. 17. For the first time, women will be allowed to vote and run for seats in both houses of Parliament, which was dissolved in May, 1961.

JFK Not Approached

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said Tuesday it has received no formal request yet from Negro leaders to see President Kennedy on Aug. 28, the day of the civil rights march on Washington.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., proposes issuing a special commemorative stamp to honor Francis Scott Key on the 150th anniversary of his writing the Star Spangled Banner.

The stamp would first be sold in Carroll County, Md., where Key was born on the family estate, Terra Rubra, near Taneytown.

A bill introduced Tuesday by Long would put the stamp on sale Sept. 14, 1964, 150 years after Key wrote the national anthem aboard a British ship during the night bombardment of Ft. McHenry in Baltimore Harbor.

Key remained on deck during the bombardment and wrote the poem when he saw the American flag still waving at daybreak.

The Star Spangled Banner was first published in the Baltimore American newspaper Sept. 21, 1814, and was sung in Baltimore theaters and parties and soon gained natonal popularity.

The original manuscript is now in the Walters Art Gallery in Baltimore.

Steel Employment Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — Employment in the iron and steel industry increased in June for the seventh consecutive month the American Iron & Steel Institute said Tuesday.

The increase was 70,000 to a total of 552,866 hourly and salaried workers compared to the 1962 low of 482,600 in November.

Md. AFL-CIO President Takes Civil Rights Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Woodrow F. Strong of the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO, facing a contest for re-election, told the organization's annual convention Tuesday he had supported all civil rights legislation and would continue to do so.

Speaking at the opening session of the four-day convention of the union, Strong said that "contrary to rumors spread here, I have supported actively every piece of the public accommodations legislation."

He told the 347 delegates that he had been "literally spit on" by members of the Maryland legislature during discussions of the legislation.

Strong, who is opposed for re-election by his secretary-treasurer, Charles A. Della, said he had urged Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland to back a "meaningful public accommodations law."

He said he now is urging the governor to issue an executive order to stop discrimination in public accommodations.

A lively debate is expected on five civil rights resolutions, part of some 52 legislative resolutions to be brought before the convention.

The five resolutions call for support of President Kennedy's civil rights program, a national fair employment practices bill and enactment of a statewide equal accommodations law applying to all of Maryland's 23 counties.

A law enacted by the 1963 Maryland General Assembly requires restaurants, motels and hotels in 11 counties to serve Negroes as well as whites. Eleven other counties were exempted from the measure and Carroll County voters will decide whether they want the law.

Women To Vote

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — The Iranian government announced Monday that parliamentary elections will be held Sept. 17. For the first time, women will be allowed to vote and run for seats in both houses of Parliament, which was dissolved in May, 1961.

JFK Not Approached

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said Tuesday it has received no formal request yet from Negro leaders to see President Kennedy on Aug. 28, the day of the civil rights march on Washington.

Conference Plans Are Discussed

A Baltimore conference tour and two socials were discussed at the meeting of the World Friendship Circle of Melvin Methodist Church, held at the home of Mrs. Edith Riggleman, Christie Road.

Mary Eyler reported on the conference tour to be held later this month. It is open to all youth 15 years or older.

An invitation was extended to the members to attend the Sunday school picnic, which will be held at the Cookerlys', off Williams Road. It will be Saturday beginning at 9 a. m. Each is to bring a basket of food.

The circle decided to have a candy booth at the church bazaar and social, to be held August 28 at the church. Donna Sturtz, Vicki Manges, Cynthia Folk and Josephine Petenbrink were appointed poster painters.

Plans were formulated to have the next meeting in the form of a lunch box supper at the church September 5.

Josephine Petenbrink presided at the meeting, which was held following a corn and wiener roast. Cynthia Folk read an article, "Lifting Our Thoughts Above in Prayer." The group sang, "Sweet Hour of Prayer." Mrs. Riggleman offered a prayer and the group recited the Lord's Prayer. Routine reports were given by Marsha Wentling and Donna Sturtz. Thank-you notes were read and gift catalogues of articles the group will sell were distributed. Donna Sturtz reported sending Upper Room papers to the servicemen of the church.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred Thorn and children and Judy Sturtz, a former member, were welcomed as guests.

Rinker Reunion Is Rescheduled

Descendants of the late Loomis Rinker formulated plans for another reunion next year, also at Minke's park. Gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDonald, the oldest married couple, Kathy Mullaney, youngest member present. All children received toys.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. James Bishop, James and Gary; Mrs. Gary Long, Eugene, Debra, Sandra, Gary Allan; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Powell, Donna, Brenda, Robert Bishop, Mrs. Lawrence Broome, Mrs. Harry Shryock, Doris, David; Karen Sue Frizzell, Jane Frizzell, Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald, Sherry, James, William, Terry, Mrs. Betty Painter, Kim, Ava, Donald; Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. William Growe, Beverly, Bonnie; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holliday, Dudley, Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mullaney, Mrs. Lillian Coffman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coffman, Paul Jr.; Victor, Ronald; Ronald Coffman, Mrs. Catherine Hanifin, John, Blaine.

Social Chart

The regular meeting of the LaVale Homemakers Club will be held in the form of a covered dish supper for the families. It is to be held August 12 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rogers, Park Heights. It will be served at 5:30.

Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary will meet at 8 p. m. today at the fire hall.

Opti-Mrs. Club Holds Dinner Theatre Party

The Opti-Mrs. Club held its annual summer get-together last evening in the form of a dinner and theatre party. The group had dinner at Green Gables at Jennerstown, then attended the presentation of "Charlie's Aunt."

The first fall meeting, after summer recess will be held September 18 at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Decorous Shades, Transparent Thread Among New Products

Now you can roll in the cool night air into your home and roll out the simmering summer heat during the day with window shades of any color, fabric type or pattern.

One of several innovations on the market, solid-color, striped or patterned window shades—tailored or dressy to fit your decor—can look like linen or taffeta moire. Yet they remain white on the outside to harmonize with the house exterior.

Many roll from the floor up, while all completely darken the room because of a laminated process of construction. Some window shades roll in reverse so that the wrong side will not show in your room.

Miss Elizabeth Langsdale, extension home furnishings specialist, University of Maryland, also points out thread made by a California company as another new product on the market.

"Color matching is no longer a problem," she says, "as the thread is transparent and the fabric which you are sewing shows through. It comes in two tones — 'clear' for light colors and 'smoke' for dark ones.

Usuable for either hand or machine sewing, the thread is also adaptable to any weight fabric. Its extreme strength is good for slip covers, car tops and boat covers.

"However," Miss Langsdale warns, "because it is a synthetic material, it will melt if pressed with an iron set for cotton. So use a cool iron."

The new look in traverse curtain rods is wood. The hidden traverse mechanism is built into a wooden pole. Wooden rings ride on nylon stems in a groove on the topside. You can find these many-sized traverse rods in matte white, gold and white, or natural wood. They can be cut to custom measure.

For the do-it-yourselfer striving for a satin-smooth finish when sanding and scraping wood, you might try a multi-blade scraper that also tapers edges and is usable on any surface for paint or varnish remover.

This versatile scraper cleans barnacles from boats or wax from skis with 11 double-edged blades that are precision ground and re-sharpenable. Its metal rectangular shape fits easily in the hand.

Keeps Tots Out Of Book Shelves

Lower shelves of an open bookcase can easily be made inaccessible to crawling tots who seem to delight at the chaos they can cause. Simply cut out a piece of hardboard to fit the width of the bookcase and attach two friction catches to the inside to hold it in place. Finger holes cut in the panel next to the catches allow an adult to remove it quickly.

Navy Mothers Will Drape Charter

The charter will be draped and plans will be formulated for an outing at the meeting of the Navy Mothers Club, which will be held tomorrow evening. It will be at the American Legion home at 7:30.

The charter will be draped for Mrs. Cynthia Davis. All officers are to wear white.

Plans for the annual picnic will be formulated. It is to be held at the Hare cottage on the South Branch later this month.

4-H Girls Take Car Care Course

"For Girls Only," a course in automobile care and driving safety, was conducted by Guy W. Gienger yesterday at 4-H Club Week at the University of Maryland. Twenty-one Allegany County 4-H girls are attending the annual sessions this week.

Mr. Gienger, Extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland, stressed the importance of engine cleanliness.

"In a 1,500-mile trip, if you could filter the air that passes through your engine, you would collect five pounds of dirt," he said, showing a five-pound dirt sample.

Giving the girls, ages 14 to 21, a lesson in automobile dynamics, Mr. Gienger told them that it takes 10,000 gallons of air to burn a gallon of fuel. When the air cleaner is dirty, the one part gasoline (by weight) no longer mixes with 15 parts air, as it should.

So that gasoline mixes with clean air to run the engine, he suggested having their mechanics periodically clean the air cleaner located on top of the carburetor.

Mr. Gienger advised the girls to change their oil filters as directed by their car owner's manuals.

"Keep the cooling system clean too," he said. "Drain and flush anti-freeze containing ethylene glycol each spring, adding a rust inhibitor to the water at that time."

Wakefields Will Continue Reunions

Plans to hold a reunion July 25, 1964 were formulated at the first reunion of the Wakefield family held at Friendsville Park. The meeting was opened and closed with prayer by Rev. Clarence Wakefield. A basket lunch was served buffet style.

Attending were Commodore Wakefield, Lloyd Wakefield, Samuel Wakefield, Orpha Sines, Jessie Sines, Kenneth Sines, Brenda Sines, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Frazee, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frazee, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frazee, all of Friendsville; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wakefield, Pamela, Bradley, Constance Newburg, W. Va.; Dessie McBratney, Jacksonville, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Wakefield, Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Wakefield, Missouri Shank, Cumberland; Grace Mitchell, Rockwood, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hinebaugh, Friendsville, Nancy Shoemaker, Alexandria, Va.; George Holt, LaVale; Thelma Butler, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Ferguson, Abraham Ferguson, McHenry; and Ruth Piersol, Friedens, Pa.

Reservations Due

Reservations for the reunion of the Fort Hill High School class of 1948 must be made by tomorrow. They may be made by calling Mrs. Mona Beal Paupe, 722-6634; Mrs. Helen Hott Combs, 722-6766 or Mrs. Mary Collins Hensel, 724-2814.

The dinner dance reunion will be held Saturday at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club, beginning at 6 p. m.

Ina Keister Heads County WCT Union

The Allegany County Women's Christian Temperance Union elected officers and launched a membership drive at the annual convention yesterday at First Methodist Church, Frederick Street.

Miss Ina Keister was re-elected president. Other officers elected are Miss Elizabeth Workman, Frostburg, vice president; Mrs. Dayton Eversole, treasurer; Mrs. E. J. Shewbridge, recording secretary, and Mrs. John S. Cook Sr., corresponding secretary. The nominating committee consisted of Mrs. Edgar Shoemaker, Mrs. Elva Tharp and Mrs. Shewbridge.

Opening with the hymn, "Jesus Calls Us," and the flag salute, led by Mrs. Edith Young, the convention was conducted by Miss Keister. Greetings were extended by Mrs. Frances Rinker, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the host church. Mrs. Clara Lewis, Cresaptown, made the response. Devotions were conducted by Miss Ruth Pardew of the host church.

Routine reports were given by Mrs. Shewbridge, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Kyle Sawyers and Mrs. Eversole. Mrs. Lewis reported for the Cresaptown Union and Mrs. Eversole for the Cumberland Union. The latter announced several boxes of baby clothes have been sent to orphanages in Hong Kong.

Mrs. Melvin Lederer, state president, officiated at the installation of officers and gave a brief talk. She reminded her audience that "though we are not too many in numbers, the most important thing to remember is, God is our leader."

It was decided to have a booth at the Cumberland fair, at which time fruit juices will be sold and educational literature will be distributed.

Following a box luncheon, the afternoon session opened with the group singing "I Have a Charge To Keep." Devotions were led by Mrs. Albert Macy. Mrs. Robert Livengood was vocal soloist, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Edith Young. Rev. Hays K. Logan, First Brethren Church, was guest speaker. His topic was "Be Not Weary in Well Doing."

The resolutions and courtesy committee urged members to work harder during the coming year and recruit new members. It was composed of Mrs. Frank Beachley, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Shoemaker.

Wotring Reunion To Be Sunday

The fourth annual reunion of the descendants of Benjamin and Margaret E. Wotring will be held Saturday at the Thomas J. Wotring picnic grounds, Christie Road.

The family dinner and get-together will be held at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends are invited.

Games are planned, and there will be prizes for the children.

The evening will conclude with a picnic supper, hamburger and wiener roast.

Work Meeting To Be Held

Happy Valley Homemakers Club will hold a work meeting in preparation for the demonstration to be given at the fair. It will be held August 15 at 7:30 in the fellowship hall on Valley Road. Mrs. James Keefer, Mrs. Alice Daniels, Mrs. Herman Greise, Mrs. Richard McClelland and Mrs. Marvin Hite are to give the demonstration at the fair August 23 from 5 until 7 p.m.

Mrs. James Brotemarkle led the family life discussion on parents living with grown children. She also gave the history of the hymn of the month. Mrs. Daniels was in charge of the get-acquainted period. Mrs. Hite won the prize. Mrs. Greise and Mrs. Elmer Price displayed items they had made.

Opening lead: Four of ♠

Today's hand revealed a blind spot in the technique of several players that encountered it during a recent tournament. The bidding varied considerably from table to table, but most North-South pairs reached a game contract in hearts. Where South chose to take it easy by making the minimum call in hearts each time it was his turn to bid, North was finally induced to give a somewhat reluctant raise. Once the bidding had progressed to the three level, it was difficult for the opening bidder to hang short of game holding ace-king of diamonds and two outside aces.

West opened his fourth best spade and the dummy was in with the lone ace. Assuming that the hearts divide in a normal manner, declarer could count 10 top tricks provided that he could gain access to his hand to complete the drawing of trump before anything untoward occurred.

Several declarers were affected with the desire to trump one of their spade losers with North's ace of hearts, however, and in order to do this they first cashed the dummy's top diamonds intending to ruff the third round in their hand. Unfortunately, East trumped the second diamond himself and returned a heart to kill declarer's spade ruff. This left South one trick short of his goal.

While the four-one diamond break was distinctly against the odds, declarer's play was not worth the risk, for, had he been able to obtain the spade ruff, he would at best have broken even since using up the dummy's ace of trumps would have established a heart trick for East.

The safest procedure is to lead a club from the North hand at trick two in order to establish a quick entry to the concealed hand. The ace of hearts remains in the dummy to protect declarer's spade holding. If the defense returns a heart, South can ruff himself in and draw the remaining trump. If they force the dummy in spades it is merely trading trick for trick, and declarer loses one spade, one heart, and one club.

Secrets Of Charm

Brighten Family Meals With "Company Charm"

What is mealtime like at your house? Is it the pleasant social occasion it should be; the kind you enjoy when there are guests at your table? If not why not?

Next time the family meets to eat, make it a point to look and listen as if you, yourself, were an invisible guest present for the very first time.

Do you see a properly set table, however simple the arrangements? Is each member of the family suitably dressed, with face and hands clean and hair combed? Did they come promptly when called so that they can share in reciting the blessing, if that is your family's custom?

What happens when the food is placed on the table? Is it served — or simply snatched? Is the silverware merely ornamental — or is it used as it should be?

How does the typical dinner-table conversation sound? What you hear may make you very glad you're an "invisible" guest so that you needn't react to the embarrassingly endless litany of childish offenses and household calamities, to the criticism, the bickering, the teasing and the complaining.

Mealtime is no time for reforming character, for solving major problems, or for arguing. It's a time to eat — a pleasant-enough experience made more pleasant in a warm, congenial atmosphere. It's meant to be a happy time. And this is important. In these busy days, mealtimes (and perhaps only the evening meals) may be the sole occasions when all the members of the family are gathered together in one place for one purpose . . . to enjoy both their food and one another's company.

Let's not store our "company charm" in that back cupboard with the best linens reserved for impressing outsiders. There's no guest more special than each individual member of the family.

It's amazing how table manners automatically improve under the influence of "company charm." Even picky eaters and chronic whiners begin to co-operate when the attention they receive is positive instead of negative.

"Company charm" works best when families work out the "ground rules" beforehand (and, definitely, between meals) — setting up the controversial topics to avoid, establishing other times for dealing with the day's difficulties.

Making it work will take some doing, on everybody's part . . . especially at that evening meal when the family as a whole is tired and tense, aching to let up, let down or let loose! But it's certainly worth the doing!

The Allegany County Women's Christian Temperance Union elected officers and launched a membership drive at the annual convention yesterday at First Methodist Church, Frederick Street.

Miss Ina Keister was re-elected president. Other officers elected are Miss Elizabeth Workman, Frostburg, vice president; Mrs. Dayton Eversole, treasurer; Mrs. E. J. Shewbridge, recording secretary, and Mrs. John S. Cook Sr., corresponding secretary. The nominating committee consisted of Mrs. Edgar Shoemaker, Mrs. Elva Tharp and Mrs. Shewbridge.

Opening with the hymn, "Jesus Calls Us," and the flag salute, led by Mrs. Edith Young, the convention was conducted by Miss Keister. Greetings were extended by Mrs. Frances Rinker, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the host church. Mrs. Clara Lewis, Cresaptown, made the response. Devotions were conducted by Miss Ruth Pardew of the host church.

Routine reports were given by Mrs. Shewbridge, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Kyle Sawyers and Mrs. Eversole. Mrs. Lewis reported for the Cresaptown Union and Mrs. Eversole for the Cumberland Union. The latter announced several boxes of baby clothes have been sent to orphanages in Hong Kong.

Mrs. Melvin Lederer, state president, officiated at the installation of officers and gave a brief talk. She reminded her audience that "though we are not too many in numbers, the most important thing to remember is, God is our leader."

It was decided to have a booth at the Cumberland fair, at which time fruit juices will be sold and educational literature will be distributed.

Following a box luncheon, the afternoon session opened with the group singing "I Have a Charge To Keep." Devotions were led by Mrs. Albert Macy. Mrs. Robert Livengood was vocal soloist, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Edith Young. Rev. Hays K. Logan, First Brethren Church, was guest speaker. His topic was "Be Not Weary in Well Doing."

The resolutions and courtesy committee urged members to work harder during the coming year and recruit new members. It was composed of Mrs. Frank Beachley, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Shoemaker.

Wotring Reunion To Be Sunday

The fourth annual reunion of the descendants of Benjamin and Margaret E. Wotring will be held Saturday at the Thomas J. Wotring picnic grounds, Christie Road.

The family dinner and get-together will be held at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends are invited.

Games are planned, and there will be prizes for the children.

Work Meeting To Be Held

Happy Valley Homemakers Club will hold a work meeting in preparation for the demonstration to be given at the fair. It will be held August 15 at 7:30 in the fellowship hall on Valley Road. Mrs. James Keefer, Mrs. Alice Daniels, Mrs. Herman Greise, Mrs. Richard McClelland and Mrs. Marvin Hite are to give the demonstration at the fair August 23 from 5 until 7 p.m.

Mrs. James Brotemarkle led the family life discussion on parents living with grown children. She also gave the history of the hymn of the month. Mrs. Daniels was in charge of the get-acquainted period. Mrs. Hite won the prize. Mrs. Greise and Mrs. Elmer Price displayed items they had made.

Opening lead: Four of ♠

Today's hand revealed a blind spot in the technique of several players that encountered it during a recent tournament. The bidding varied considerably from table to table, but most North-South pairs reached a game contract in hearts. Where South chose to take it easy by making the minimum call in hearts each time it was his turn to bid, North was finally induced to give a somewhat reluctant raise. Once the bidding had progressed to the three level, it was difficult for the opening bidder to hang short of game holding ace-king of diamonds and two outside aces.

West opened his fourth best spade and the dummy was in with the lone ace. Assuming that the hearts divide in a normal manner, declarer could count 10 top tricks provided that he could gain access to his hand to complete the drawing of trump before anything untoward occurred.

Several declarers were affected with the desire to trump one of their spade losers with North's ace of hearts, however, and in order to do this they first cashed the dummy's top diamonds intending to ruff the third round in their hand. Unfortunately, East trumped the second diamond himself and returned a heart to kill declarer's spade ruff. This left South one trick short of his goal.

While the four-one diamond break was distinctly against the odds, declarer's play was not worth the risk, for, had he been able to obtain the spade ruff, he would at best have broken even since using up the dummy's ace of trumps would have established a heart trick for East.

The safest procedure is to lead a club from the North hand at trick two in order to establish a quick entry to the concealed hand. The ace of hearts remains in the dummy to protect declarer's spade holding. If the defense returns a heart, South can ruff himself in and draw the remaining trump. If they force the dummy in spades it is merely trading trick for trick, and declarer loses one spade, one heart, and one club.

Secrets Of Charm

Brighten Family Meals With "Company Charm"

What is mealtime like at your house? Is it the pleasant social occasion it should be; the kind you enjoy when there are guests at your table? If not why not?

Next time the family meets to eat, make it a point to look and listen as if you, yourself, were an invisible guest present for the very first time.

Do you see a properly set table, however simple the arrangements? Is each member of the family suitably dressed, with face and hands clean and hair combed? Did they come promptly when called so that they can share in reciting the blessing, if that is your family's custom?

What happens when the food is placed on the table? Is it served — or simply snatched? Is the silverware merely ornamental — or is it used as it should be?

How does the typical dinner-table conversation sound? What you hear may make you very glad you're an "invisible" guest so that you needn't react to the embarrassingly endless litany of childish offenses and household calamities, to the criticism, the bickering, the teasing and the complaining.

Mealtime is no time for reforming character, for solving major problems, or for arguing. It's a time to eat — a pleasant-enough experience made more pleasant in a warm, congenial atmosphere. It's meant to be a happy time. And this is important. In these busy days, mealtimes (and perhaps only the evening meals) may be the sole occasions when all the members of the family are gathered together in one place for one purpose . . . to enjoy both their food and one another's company.

Let's not store our "company charm" in that back cupboard with the best linens reserved for impressing outsiders. There's no guest more special than each individual member of the family.

It's amazing how table manners automatically improve under the influence of "company charm." Even picky eaters and chronic whiners begin to co-operate when the attention they receive is positive instead of negative.

"Company charm" works best when families work out the "ground rules" beforehand (and, definitely, between meals) — setting up the controversial topics to avoid, establishing other times for dealing with the day's difficulties.

Making it work will take some doing, on everybody's part . . . especially at that evening meal when the family as a whole is tired and tense, aching to let up, let down or let loose! But it's certainly worth the doing!

Western Maryland BPW To Attend Conference

Three local women will be among the approximately 2,000 participants in a series of leadership training conferences to be held by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Miss Mary Jo Logsdon chairman of the Maryland Federation nominating committee and second vice president of the Cumberland club, Mrs. Frieda Massara president of the local club, and Mrs. Phyllis Trickett, of Oakland, chairman of the Western District, will attend the conference scheduled August 9-11 at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore.

"Achieve through Leadership" is the theme of the conference which will be chaired by Miss Sarah Jane Cunningham, third vice president of the National Federation. Miss Cunningham is a lawer from McCook, Neb. Last year she was legislation chairman for the National Federation.

The purpose is to equip the leadership core group of the federation—state officers and chairmen, district chairmen, and club officers—with the principles and techniques of professional leadership.

The series of 12 1963 conferences will implement the federation's 1963-64 program theme, "The Responsibility of Full Partnership." In addition to enabling officers of the 170,000 member federation to increase their effectiveness as leaders in their careers and in federation activities, it is expected that the national conferences will multiply themselves through hundreds of counterpart conferences to be scheduled later at the local level. In this way, leadership training will be opened to thousands of women in communities across the country.

The national organization is a federation of 3,532 clubs throughout the United States, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Ann Landers . .
Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 17-year-old boy with a perfectly sensible question which no one seems to be able to answer. So I am writing to you.

Why do 50-year-old people refer to themselves as "middle-aged?" How many people live to be 100 anyway? My own idea is that middle age should be half of life expectancy, which puts it at about 35.

My own parents are in the 50-year-old group and they consider themselves middle-aged. Are they trying to kid themselves — or what? Please let me know what you think about this. It's been bugging me for a long time.

—SPEAKER OF THE TRUTH

DEAR SPEAKER: When I was 17, I thought middle age was about 30. When I got to be 30 I shoved middle age up about 10 or 15 years — and I've been shoving it up ever since.

Why all this preoccupation with age, Buster? I've said it before and I'll say it again . . . it's only a number, Baby.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have hunted everywhere for the newspaper that carried your column about an 11-month pregnancy. Will you please tell me when and where this happened?

My friend bet me $10 that no such item appeared. She claims all pregnancies are about the same length of time and that people get confused for all sorts of reasons. I know she is wrong because I was pregnant with my second child for 11½ months.

Please settle this for us. Thank you. J and R

DEAR J AND R: There was nothing in my column recently about an 11-month pregnancy. What you are probably referring to is a letter from a woman who complained because her friend could never get anyplace on time. She repeated the town joke — that Adelle was an 11-month baby and has been late ever since.

The average full-term pregnancy is about 280 days, which is approximately nine months. This can vary several days one way or the other. But medical science has never recorded an 11½ month pregnancy. Maybe it just SEEMED that long, Honey.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son Ron is going to marry a fine girl whom I will call Anna Marie. She was born and reared in another country and her parents speak very little English. They are very foreign in their ways.

Please don't take my head off and tell me I am a snob. Our son is lucky to get this girl. Anna Marie is not only beautiful, but also brilliant and talented. She has already secured a teaching position on the staff of a conservatory and will help put Ron through law school.

The wedding will be held at a hall and the guests will be requested to bring money instead of gifts. This will appear on the invitation. I was mortified when I heard it, but apparently it is the custom in Europe. My husband says to keep my nose out of it and to let them do whatever they want.

I'm afraid when our family and friends get the invitations they will be shocked. Please tell me what to do. — M. M. M.

DEAR M.M.M.: Take your husband's advice. Since you will provide the bride's mother with your guest list you'll be able to phone or drop each of your guests a line explaining the European custom. Let them know there is nothing obligatory about it.

Confidential to USED, ABUSED AND ACCUSED: Your letter was one of the most vitriolic attacks I've ever read. May I suggest that you speak more kindly of your enemies. Remember — you made them.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelop.

Hot-Weather News

By RAY KOHN

"Summertime, when the livin' is easy" often produces hot-weather news with a high assay of "corn." Like this:

The woman walked over to the driver and let him have it with the sack. It contained eggs.

Judge James Spradling of Carthage, Mo., is a brave man. His wife, Sandra, appeared in court before him and pleaded guilty to speeding six miles per hour over the limit.

"You, of all people, should know better," said Spradling, fining his spouse $12 and costs—double the penalty usually assessed in such cases.

Sam is a smart dog. In Ottawa, Kan., Sam has acquired a regular Sunday habit. When he hears the church bell ring, he trots off for the church, about a mile away. After services he rides home with the minister.

So, when the bell rang out recently, Sam made his way to the church. There were no services, no minister, and Sam had to trot home. What happened? The bell was rung as part of the Fourth of July "Let Freedom Ring" project.

The boys heaved bricks and the girls threw rolling pins—but not at each other. It was a tournament in Stroud, England, involving contestants from Stroud, Okla. the British Stroudians, Australia and Canada.

In previous years the Oklahomans dominated the tourney in the brick-throwing contest. Not this year, though. The winner was British Staff Sgt. Tony O'Neill. The secret of his success? American bricks used by the Britisher.

Stroud officials began to smell a rat as the Oklahomans won year after year. They requested some American bricks, which are smaller and lighter than the British variety.

GOP Win Seen With "Fair Share" Of City Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Republican national chairman William E. Miller predicted Monday that if the Republican party could get a "fair percentage" of big city votes in 1964, it would win the presidential election.

The New York congressman, here with other GOP leaders to make preliminary arrangements for the nominating convention next summer, said that lack of neighborhood level organization and contact with minority groups cost the Republicans the big city votes in 1960.

However, Miller added in 1964, "the GOP won't have to carry the big cities, but merely pile up sizeable votes to go with the normally Republican rural areas" as in upstate New York and downstate Illinois."

He added that Republicans have "gained muscle" in metropolitan areas by setting up headquarters, pushing get-out-the-vote campaigns and directing intensive appeals to minority and labor groups.

As the the GOP's choice next year for a presidential candidate, Rep. Miller said none of the party figures now mentioned as possible candidates has enough strength at present to win the nomination.

He said it would be a "wide open" convention with the possibility that a dark horse, not yet in the public eye, could win the nomination.

However, he listed Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Sen. Thruston Morton of Kentucky as leading contenders.

Malaysia To Restrict Bases

By CARL ZIMMERMAN

MANILA (AP)—Neutralist Indonesia and anti-Communist Malaya and the Philippines have agreed that the foreign military bases in their territories should "not be allowed to be used directly or indirectly to subvert the national independence of any of the three countries."

The agreement was reached at a summit meeting that ended in Manila Monday.

It also said the three countries "will abstain from the use of arrangements of collective defense to serve the particular interests of any of the big powers."

The United States maintains large air and naval bases in the Phillipines. Britain has bases in Malaya and Borneo and a big naval base at Singapore, which is scheduled to join Malaya in the Malaysia Federation Aug. 31.

So far as is known, there are no foreign bases in Indonesia.

The agreement restricting the use of the bases puts into writing and understanding that the Philippines and Indonesia already had in the special situation of West Irian.

The Philippines agreed to prohibit use of American bases against Indonesia if war broke out over Indonesia's demand that the Netherlands transfer West New Guinea (West Iiran) to Indonesia. The Filipinos agreed, with the proviso should not call in Communist countries in such a war.

There was no war.

The agreement, however, does not affect existing U.S.-Philippine defense arrangements which already require consultation between the two governments on use of the bases here.

The present Malayan-British agreement prohibits use of the British bases in Malaya for the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, to which Britain belongs but Malaya does not. This does not apply to the Singapore naval base, as Singapore still is a British colony.

What arrangements will be made on bases in the Malaysian Federation—which would include Singapore and Borneo — is not known.

Philippine officials in explaining their recent shift toward closer relations with Jakarta, have stressed that this does not mean weakening this country's strongly anti-Communist stand or of Philippine-American friendship.

These officials maintain that the Philippines is simply seeking to work more closely with her Asian neighbors, who were in the past neglected while attention was focused chiefly on Washington.

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI Monday granted a private audience to Cyrille Adoula, the prime minister of the Congo. Adoula met later with Italian President Antonio Segni and other officials. He spent 30 minutes with the Pope.

Ordinance For Trailer Tax Planned By County Board

County Attorney Gorman E. Getty yesterday was instructed by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to draw up an ordinance that would provide for the assessment of trailers used as homes.

This new system would affect those mobile homes now parked in trailer courts. Others now are assessed and taxed.

The ordinance was suggested by John H. Stitely, county supervisor of assessments, and it will be modeled after those in effect in Washington and Frederick counties.

The amount of the tax would be determined by figuring a percentage of the rental of the space in the trailer court.

Getty said the operator of the court would collect the tax from each owner and sumbit it to the tax collector.

If the trailer owner moves before assessors can make their rounds twice each year, he will have paid his real estate tax on the mobile home, the attorney explained.

It was pointed out that in Washington and Frederick counties the systems are not popular with the owners of trailer courts as it in effect makes them tax collectors and also requires them to keep records.

The ordinance will be adopted under an act passed in this year's General Assembly.

Stitely pointed out that the owner of an $800 trailer will pay as much tax as the possessor of a $10,000 trailer. There will be inequities, he explained, to both the county and other taxpayers, but the Washington - Frederick county system appears to be the best that is in operation.

Tax bills will be continued to owners of mobile homes not in trailer courts. The law defines court as a place of rented space having two or more trailers.

Getty reiterated that this new system will affect mainly those mobile homes that are moved about frequently by those such as transient workers.

Commissioners May Raise City's Tax Rolls Charge

The supervisor of county assessments and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday discussed the proposition of increasing the charge to the Cumberland Mayor and Council for furnishing copies of the tax rolls.

These lists are used for compiling city tax bills for both real estate and personal property.

John H. Stitely, supervisor of assessments said Cumberland now pays $275 annually for the lists, and he said it was his opinion that this is not enough.

When asked as to his estimate of what the work of compiling the lists is worth, Stitely answered "$500."

The county commissioners, before making any decision, decided to ask the Mayor and Council for a conference on the matter.

Stitely pointed out that Frostburg pas the county $175 for real estate alone; LaVale, $75; Lonaconing, $20; Westernport, $100; Mt. Savage, $15; Potomac Park, and Cresaptown, $25 each.

Getty explained that each municipality has the right to use its own clerical help to take the information off the county tax rolls for the purposes of figuring the taxes for each community.

The previous practice was for the towns to pay the clerical help in the assessment office for making up the lists on their own time.

Getty said he feels the present system is the best one for both the political subdivisions and the assessment department.

Pair Arrested, Released, Arrested

Two men were arrested twice within 25 minutes by City Police yesterday morning, and the second time earned them a short stay in the city jail.

V. F. Tingler, a Navy petty officer reportedly bound for San Diego, Cal., and Ralph Stonebreaker, 433 Ascension Street, received fines of $25 in Police Court yesterday on charges of disturbing the peace and destruction of city property. Stonebreaker was also ordered to pay $25 to the city in damages.

Detective Harry Iser arrested the pair at 4:30 a.m. yesterday in Central Quick Lunch Restaurant on a disturbance of the peace complaint. They posted $13 bond each and left headquarters via the garage.

While in the garage, one of them knocked down a ladder, which struck and damaged the police patrol wagon. They were re-apprehended and charged with destruction of city property.

A presumptive heir is one who is a present heir to another but whose claims may become void by the birth of a nearer relative.

Mt. McKinley, in Alaska, is the highest mountain in North America.

County Issues 17 Permits

Some 17 building permits and zoning certificates were issued by C. Lee Renaud, Allegany County planning director, during the final 10 days of July.

These permits authorized work in 11 different election districts of the county. The leader was District 7, Cresaptown - Rawlings, with three. Those with two permits each were Districts 6, West Side suburban; 16, North Branch; 29, Lavale, and 31, McCoole. Districts with a single building permit included 2, Oldtown; 3, Flintstone; 8, Westernport suburban; 20, Ellerslie; 24, Eckhart, and 27, Gilmore.

Total estimated cost of these 17 jobs was only $35,630. Seven of the projects were dwelling additions and improvements. Three others authorized new dwellings. The others included one each of dwelling foundation, garage, garage and patio, rebuild washhouse, liveable basement, carport, dwelling and garage.

This new system would affect those mobile homes now parked in trailer courts. Others now are assessed and taxed.

The ordinance was suggested by John H. Stitely, county supervisor of assessments, and it will be modeled after those in effect in Washington and Frederick counties.

The amount of the tax would be determined by figuring a percentage of the rental of the space in the trailer court.

Getty said the operator of the court would collect the tax from each owner and sumbit it to the tax collector.

If the trailer owner moves before assessors can make their rounds twice each year, he will have paid his real estate tax on the mobile home, the attorney explained.

It was pointed out that in Washington and Frederick counties the systems are not popular with the owners of trailer courts as it in effect makes them tax collectors and also requires them to keep records.

The ordinance will be adopted under an act passed in this year's General Assembly.

Stitely pointed out that the owner of an $800 trailer will pay as much tax as the possessor of a $10,000 trailer. There will be inequities, he explained, to both the county and other taxpayers, but the Washington - Frederick county system appears to be the best that is in operation.

Tax bills will be continued to owners of mobile homes not in trailer courts. The law defines court as a place of rented space having two or more trailers.

Getty reiterated that this new system will affect mainly those mobile homes that are moved about frequently by those such as transient workers.

Commissioners May Raise City's Tax Rolls Charge

The supervisor of county assessments and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday discussed the proposition of increasing the charge to the Cumberland Mayor and Council for furnishing copies of the tax rolls.

These lists are used for compiling city tax bills for both real estate and personal property.

John H. Stitely, supervisor of assessments said Cumberland now pays $275 annually for the lists, and he said it was his opinion that this is not enough.

When asked as to his estimate of what the work of compiling the lists is worth, Stitely answered "$500."

The county commissioners, before making any decision, decided to ask the Mayor and Council for a conference on the matter.

Stitely pointed out that Frostburg pas the county $175 for real estate alone; LaVale, $75; Lonaconing, $20; Westernport, $100; Mt. Savage, $15; Potomac Park, and Cresaptown, $25 each.

Getty explained that each municipality has the right to use its own clerical help to take the information off the county tax rolls for the purposes of figuring the taxes for each community.

The previous practice was for the towns to pay the clerical help in the assessment office for making up the lists on their own time.

Getty said he feels the present system is the best one for both the political subdivisions and the assessment department.

Pair Arrested, Released, Arrested

Two men were arrested twice within 25 minutes by City Police yesterday morning, and the second time earned them a short stay in the city jail.

V. F. Tingler, a Navy petty officer reportedly bound for San Diego, Cal., and Ralph Stonebreaker, 433 Ascension Street, received fines of $25 in Police Court yesterday on charges of disturbing the peace and destruction of city property. Stonebreaker was also ordered to pay $25 to the city in damages.

Detective Harry Iser arrested the pair at 4:30 a.m. yesterday in Central Quick Lunch Restaurant on a disturbance of the peace complaint. They posted $13 bond each and left headquarters via the garage.

While in the garage, one of them knocked down a ladder, which struck and damaged the police patrol wagon. They were re-apprehended and charged with destruction of city property.

County Issues 17 Permits

Some 17 building permits and zoning certificates were issued by C. Lee Renaud, Allegany County planning director, during the final 10 days of July.

These permits authorized work in 11 different election districts of the county. The leader was District 7. Cresaptown - Rawlings, with three. Those with two permits each were Districts 6, West Side suburban; 16, North Branch; 29, Lavale, and 31, McCoole. Districts with a single building permit included 2, Oldtown; 3, Flintstone; 8, Westernport suburban; 20, Ellerslie; 24, Eckhart, and 27, Gilmore.

Total estimated cost of these 17 jobs was only $35,630. Seven of the projects were dwelling additions and improvements. Three others authorized new dwellings. The others included one each of dwelling foundation, garage, garage and patio, rebuild washhouse, liveable basement, carport, dwelling and garage.

In Hollywood

By JACK LINKLETTER
Written for UPI

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Of course I'm a folk music enthusiast, but I can't say I always was.

Like a lot of other people, I didn't appreciate folk music until my "Hootenanny" show came along on ABC-TV. In fact, I'm aware there are still some generally held misconceptions about the folk world.

Since I feel a part of both worlds — "The "ins" and the "outs"—let me say I don't believe they need defending, but for whatever it's worth, here are some of my impressions about folk performers and their music.

"Folkniks" have been unfairly referred to as amateurs getting paid as professionals, or unbathed beatniks, or even wild-eyed radicals. We Americans seem to be comfortable only when we can put people in neat little categories. This is an uninformed and dangerous tendency. Folk musicians are not beatniks. Sure, their dress is casual, but so is their music. Can you imagine singing "Froggie Went a Courtin' " in a tuxedo?

For the most part, they are excellent musicians. True folk performers are purists, concerning themselves with the original moods and meanings of their songs, rather than with a commercial approach. Because of this, it is my observation there seems to be less jealousy among folk singers than in any other facet of show business.

Their personalities differ, to be sure, but there is always a feeling of "onemanship." They are very close socially and enjoy performing together. Very seldom have I gone to see a folk artist and not found many of his fellow performers in the audience.

Many people believe that the folk world is amoral. I think this is a throwback to the semi-distorted image of the beatnik's world. Sure, many folkniks were beatniks, but they matured.

As for the music they perform, it's analogous to other art forms. It seems to me that good music should express emotion, be interpretive, say something. That's why folk music has become so popular, it says things that are meaningful. This is diametrically opposed to rock 'n' roll, for instance. That, for me, says nothing.

One of the acid tests of this view took place on a recent Saturday night when I took my folks for the first time to a coffee house in Los Angeles. They expressed indifference at first, but when they saw and heard, they thought it was great.

Next thing I know, they will be watching "Hootenanny."

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soybean futures lowered sharply under persistent selling Tuesday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Corn and rye also ended heavy, and other grains steady to easy.

At the close, wheat was off ½ to up ¼; corn off ⅞ to 1½; oats off ⅛ to ⅜; rye off 1 to 1½; and soybeans off 2¾ to 4⅝.

Longs sold soybeans steadily following the release of two private reports both placing this year's crop at record levels. Prices were down more than 4 cents.

Favorable weather and slow export trade were also bearish influences. The selloff pulled soybeans down from firmer levels which reflected good weekly export figures.

Prospects for a large 1963 corn crop plus scattered rains brought liquidation and general selling to corn.

Wheat derived initial strength from buying by exporters and flour millers. Late selling by local longs yanked wheat down from firmer ground.

Oats were estimated at a markedly lower level than last year's crop and prices steadied in early trade, but ended easy. Rye lost more than a cent on selling by brokers with northwest connections.

Phone Pioneer Group To Meet In Baltimore

Two hundred and twelve men and women from Western Maryland, who total more than 6,000 years of service in the telephone industry, will be represented at the 1963 General Assembly of the Telephone Pioneers of America to be held in Baltimore September 17-19.

George L. Eppler, of Westminster, is the newly-elected president of the Western Council which is a part of the state-wide organization of more than 4,400 members. These pioneers are located in the 23 Maryland counties and city of Baltimore.

The 1963 meeting of the Telephone Pioneers is the 38th general assembly and this is the first time it has ever been held in Maryland. Some 1,200 delegates from 48 states and Canada will represent more than 226,000 members, both men and women, active and retired, who have served in the telephone industry 21 or more years.

Highlights of the meeting include a tour of historic Chesapeake Bay and Annapolis on September 16, the day before the assembly officially opens. On September 18, a crab feast and a tour of Baltimore's inner harbor will be held for the men, while the women will be guests at a tea and fashion show.

Guest speakers will include Gov. J. Millard Tawes and Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, of Baltimore.

Suspect Requests Trial Shift

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — One of two men charged with rape in the strangulation slaying of a Baltimore divorcee asked that his preliminary hearing be scheduled elsewhere because the judge and prosecutors are brothers.

Andrey Pavilson, 22-year old construction worker, was to have appeared yesterday in Geauge County Court in Middlefield. He requested the change of venue because Judge Carl Hofstetter and prosecutor Edward Hofstetter are related.

A hearing on Pavilson's motion will be conducted in County Court before Judge Charles Hall. No date was set.

The other man, Ronald Jenkins, 18, will appear in Middlefield Court today on the rape charge stemming from the slaying of Mrs. Norma Jean Burns, 20, formerly of Garrett County, Md., on July 22.

The men, both residents of Newbury Township, were charged with rape after admitting they assaulted Mrs. Burns in a field, said Sheriff Louis A. Robusky. Her body was found several days later.

Mrs. Burns was a baby sitter for couple living in the township. The coroner has ruled she was strangled but authorities have not yet solved the slaying.

Musician Union To Meet Tomorrow

Local 787, American Federation of Musicians, will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Labor Temple, South Centre Street.

Plans will be made for the annual picnic, Sunday, August 18, at the Ali Ghan Shrine picnic grounds.

Report To U.N.

PHNOMPENH, Cambodia (UPI) —The government charged Monday that a Thai policeman injured four persons Aug. 1 by throwing a grenade in Battambang, an interior province of Cambodia. A communique said the government will report the incident in a protest to the United Nations.

Appoint Commissions

DAKAR, Senegal (UPI) — Foreign ministers attending the Organization of African Unity appointed commissions Monday to study problems of inter-African cooperation in social, economic and cultural fields. The conference is expected to continue through Aug. 17.

Two Soldiers Arrested In Stolen Car

Two young soldiers caught in a wild chase in Romney after running around a State Police roadblock in a stolen car were returned Monday to Grafton.

Trooper John Leeson of the Romney Detachment of West Virginia State Police set up a roadblock in Romney at the intersection of Routes 50 and 28 late Sunday night.

He had been notified that a West Virginia National Guard sedan had been stolen from the Grafton Armory and was headed toward Romney. The trooper saw the car turn down a street and he started to pursue it through streets and alleys.

The two soldiers brought the car to a halt when Trooper Leeson fired his revolver, hitting the rear of the auto.

Both young men surrendered. One, Ronald M. Leinen, was from Grafton, and the other, Roger Hoffman, was from North Dakota. Both are 21 years of age and are stationed at Fort Eustis, Va.

Centennial Tomato Variety Is Popular

Earlier this year announcement was made of West Virginia '63, "The Centennial Tomato," a new variety released by the Agricultural Experiment Station at West Virginia University in Morgantown.

David O. Quinn, state extension plant pathology and entomology specialist at the university, reports that the distribution of the seeds was more or less limited to citizens of West Virginia, although those of the neighboring states who requested seeds were also sent a small quantity.

He said there were about 3,000 individual requests for the seeds, and they were filled as promptly as possible.

In addition, 65 to 70 commercial plant growers in West Virginia were provided with seeds. Most of these growers received from 300 to 600 seeds and were encouraged to start these as plants and sell them to whoever was interested.

Some seeds were sent to various seed-producing companies, although an answer has not been received from the companies, said Mr. Quinn.

He pointed out that properly selected seeds could be used next year. A selection of seeds from well-rounded fruit without any imperfections would be desirable.

The new variety, developed by the Department of Plant Pathology, Bacteriology and Entomology in cooperation with the Department of Horticulture, is resistant to the late blight and to the verticillium and fusarium wilt diseases.

Developed primarily for the home garden, the West Virginia '63 has a vigorous vine, which provides excellent cover for the fruit to reduce sunscald. The fruit is of high color and ripens evenly without green shoulders, according to Mr. Quinn, who said the mature fruit will weigh about half a pound.

Power Line Opposition Motion Fails

LEESBURG, Va. (UPI)—Opponents of the proposed 500,000-volt power line from Grant County, W. Va., to the metropolitan east were temporarily blocked Monday during a meeting of the Loudoun County Board of Supervisors.

A motion asking the board to record its opposition to the proposed Virginia Electric Power Co.'s. (VEPCO) line died for lack of a second.

The power line, to originate in a multi-million dollar generating plant at Mt. Storm, W. Va., has met bitter opposition from residents of the famed hunt country on grounds the lines and high towers would be eyesores.

Lovettsville District Supervisor James Arnold presented the motion to the board in behalf of about 60 residents of the Lovettsville Citizens Association.

The board asked the County Planning Commission to report as soon as possible on what action it intended to take on VEPCO's application for a local permit. The commission has until Aug. 22 to take action.

The commission can approve, disapprove or take no action. However, if no action is taken within the 30-day limit, the permit is automatically issued.

If the commission disapproves, the power company has a right to appeal to the board of supervisors. The utility's plan was approved by the State Corporation Commission after lengthy courtroom arguments.

Unofficial reports are the firm is running a feasibility study of a possible underground power-line.

The governing body of nearby Jefferson County, W. Va., recently went on record opposing the proposed rerouting of the line through a portion of Jefferson County.

Retired Teacher Seeks Pension

A teacher who retired this year, Mrs. Jane Lucas Snyder, yesterday applied to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners for a supplemental teachers pension that is paid by the county.

Mrs. Snyder said she taught from 1919 to 1930 when she quit to rear her family of four, and also from 1945 to 1963.

Her request was referred to the clerk, James G. Stevenson.

Local governments in the United States spend about $2 billion for health and medical services.

Writ Arguments Of Ex-Escapee Heard In Court

Arguments on a writ of habeas corpus filed by a former escapee from the County Jail were heard yesterday by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The petition was filed by Howard M. Iser, one of two men sentenced to the Maryland Penitentiary in 1959 for holding up a local used auto dealer, William J. Cover, on Shade's Lane.

He and Raymond Gray were sentenced to the penitentiary while their accomplice, Alma Johnson, was also charged with armed robbery and sentenced to 18 months in the Women's Reformatory.

While awaiting transportation to the penitentiary, Iser paid a fellow prisoner, whose identity he would not divulge, to saw three bars with saws smuggled into the County Jail by his wife.

That occurred on November 5, 1958 and he was arrested several days later in Montgomery, Ala.

Returned here after his capture, Iser was given an additional three years for jail break when tried by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris. That term was to be served consecutively with the ten-year sentence.

Yesterday, arguments for the state were presented by State's Attorney James S. Getty and Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason, while John M. Robb was court-appointed counsel for Iser.

Getty and Mason argued that Iser is now incarcerated under the ten-year armed robbery sentence, and the three-year escape term is not to start until 1969. Therefore, they said, his action is premature as he is being detained legally under a sentence he does not question.

Robb declared that Iser is being illegally detained as he was not given a magistrate's hearing.

Fire Company Gets Four Calls

District 16 Volunteer Fire Company was kept busy the past three days with four calls in the Mexico Farms region.

The company Monday responded to a call to the farm of Lynwood Walker, Mexico Farms, to extinguish a six-acre grass fire, according to Chief L. J. Shoemaker. District 16 and Oldtown Fire Departments both fought the blaze from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m.

District 16 answered two calls Sunday, the first at 4 p. m. at the Baltimore and Ohio right of way for a brush fire, and the second at 6:30 p. m. at the B&O dump. They had to haul water from a city hydrant at Offut Street for the latter blaze.

On Saturday, the company was called to put out a grass fire along Mesick Road.

Man Given Jail Term In Burglary

One of four persons arrested in Moorefield and charged with breaking and entering a home at Augusta, W. Va., was given a one to ten-year term in the West Virginia State Penitentiary when tried Monday in Hampshire County Circuit Court, Romney.

Judge H. Gus Muntzing handed the term to James Sykes, 26, of Cincinnati. He had entered a plea of not guilty.

But charges against the other three, Thomas Hammond, 44, Columbus, Ohio; Janet Fielden, 18, Summersville, Tenn., and Roberta Malone, Washington Court House, Ohio, were dropped due to insufficient evidence.

Three-year suspended sentences were given Clarence Edward Parsons and Frank Roger Cosner for the theft of old guns from the Keplinger camp south of Romney.

All six persons had been indicted by the special session of the grand jury of the July term of court which was held last week.

Appeal Denied Barton Man In Morals Case

Permission has been denied Warren Robert Elliott, Barton, to appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals from the decision of Circuit Court here in a Post Conviction Procedure Act hearing.

Elliott was found guilty by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris some months ago in a morals case and sentenced to three years in prison.

Following denial of his freedom in the hearing here, Elliott filed a petition to the high court asking for a hearing.

The court ruled that he had exhausted his rights in the Post Conviction Procedure Act petition to the local court and his request for an appeal had no basis.

Judge Cobey To Attend Event

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey will attend the National Conference of State Trial Judges next week in Chicago as a delegate from Maryland.

The conference is being held in conjunction with the American Bar Association convention.

Next Tuesday, Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune of the Maryland Court of Appeals, who visited former Chief Judge George Henderson here Monday and last night, will speak at Chicago at the judges' conference.

He will speak before the section on judicial administration on "Proper Exercise of Trial Judges' Discretion."

City Playlot Skit Night Set Tomorrow

The annual intra-city Comedy Skit Night will be held by supervised playgrounds tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Constitution Park amphitheatre, Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant recreation director, announced.

Thirteen of the 14 playgrounds will be represented in what has been known prior to this year as "Stunt Night."

Judges will be Miss Edith Scharf, a retired staff member of Celanese Fibers Company; Mrs. Thelma Streett, assistant city tax collector; and Miss Gertrude Wolfe, secretary at Brown's Insurance Company.

Walter Turner, director of Frazier Playground, will be master of ceremonies.

Debbie Beckward, advanced student of Moyer Dancing School, will present acrobatic dancing during the judging.

Prizes to the playgrounds rather than individuals will be awarded for first, second and third by Mrs. Hogan.

Centre Street, "Beverly Hillbillies"; Columbia Street, "Styles for the Miles"; Gephart, "Television Commercials"; Johnson Heights, "On Top of Spaghetti"; Mapleside, "Challenge Golf"; Mt. Royal, "Dracula and Son"; North End, "Soap" by the Smothers Brothers; Pennsylvania Avenue, "That's My Mother"; Pine Avenue, "The Swinging Divorcee Court"; Post, "An Average Day at Post"; Frazier, "A Quiet Evening" or "Jack and Jackie At Home"; Virginia Avenue, "What's the Matter With Kids Today?"; and West Side, to be announced.

In Hollywood

By JACK LINKLETTER
Written for UPI

Like a lot of other people, I didn't appreciate folk music until my "Hootenanny" show came along on ABC-TV. In fact, I'm aware there are still some generally held misconceptions about the folk world.

Since I feel a part of both worlds — "The "ins" and the "outs"—let me say I don't believe they need defending, but for whatever it's worth, here are some of my impressions about folk performers and their music.

"Folkniks" have been unfairly referred to as amateurs getting paid as professionals, or unbathed beatniks, or even wild-eyed radicals. We Americans seem to be comfortable only when we can put people in neat little categories. This is an uninformed and dangerous tendency. Folk musicians are not beatniks. Sure, their dress is casual, but so is their music. Can you imagine singing "Froggie Went a Courtin' " in a tuxedo?

For the most part, they are excellent musicians. True folk performers are purists, concerning themselves with the original moods and meanings of their songs, rather than with a commercial approach. Because of this, it is my observation there seems to be less jealousy among folk singers than in any other facet of show business.

Their personalities differ, to be sure, but there is always a feeling of "onemanship." They are very close socially and enjoy performing together. Very seldom have I gone to see a folk artist and not found many of his fellow performers in the audience.

Many people believe that the folk world is amoral. I think this is a throwback to the semi-distorted image of the beatnik's world. Sure, many folkniks were beatniks, but they matured.

As for the music they perform, it's analogous to other art forms. It seems to me that good music should express emotion, be interpretive, say something. That's why folk music has become so popular, it says things that are meaningful. This is diametrically opposed to rock 'n' roll, for instance. That, for me, says nothing.

One of the acid tests of this view took place on a recent Saturday night when I took my folks for the first time to a coffee house in Los Angeles. They expressed indifference at first, but when they saw and heard, they thought it was great.

Next thing I know, they will be watching "Hootenanny."

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soybean futures lowered sharply under persistent selling Tuesday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Corn and rye also ended heavy, and other grains steady to easy.

At the close, wheat was off ½ to up ¼; corn off ⅞ to 1½; oats off ⅛ to ⅜; rye off 1 to 1½; and soybeans off 2¾ to 4⅝.

Longs sold soybeans steadily following the release of two private reports both placing this year's crop at record levels. Prices were down more than 4 cents.

Favorable weather and slow export trade were also bearish influences. The selloff pulled soybeans down from firmer levels which reflected good weekly export figures.

Wheat derived initial strength from buying by exporters and flour millers. Late selling by local longs yanked wheat down from firmer ground.

Oats were estimated at a markedly lower level than last year's crop and prices steadied in early trade, but ended easy. Rye lost more than a cent on selling by brokers with northwest connections.

Phone Pioneer Group To Meet In Baltimore

Two hundred and twelve men and women from Western Maryland, who total more than 6,000 years of service in the telephone industry, will be represented at the 1963 General Assembly of the Telephone Pioneers of America to be held in Baltimore September 17-19.

George L. Eppler, of Westminster, is the newly-elected president of the Western Council which is a part of the state-wide organization of more than 4,400 members. These pioneers are located in the 23 Maryland counties and city of Baltimore.

The 1963 meeting of the Telephone Pioneers is the 38th general assembly and this is the first time it has ever been held in Maryland. Some 1,200 delegates from 48 states and Canada will represent more than 226,000 members, both men and women, active and retired, who have served in the telephone industry 21 or more years.

Highlights of the meeting include a tour of historic Chesapeake Bay and Annapolis on September 16, the day before the assembly officially opens. On September 18, a crab feast and a tour of Baltimore's inner harbor will be held for the men, while the women will be guests at a tea and fashion show.

Guest speakers will include Gov. J. Millard Tawes and Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, of Baltimore.

Suspect Requests Trial Shift

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — One of two men charged with rape in the strangulation slaying of a Baltimore divorcee asked that his preliminary hearing be scheduled elsewhere because the judge and prosecutors are brothers.

Andrey Pavilson, 22-year old construction worker, was to have appeared yesterday in Geauge County Court in Middlefield. He requested the change of venue because Judge Carl Hofstetter and prosecutor Edward Hofstetter are related.

A hearing on Pavilson's motion will be conducted in County Court before Judge Charles Hall. No date was set.

The other man, Ronald Jenkins, 18, will appear in Middlefield Court today on the rape charge stemming from the slaying of Mrs. Norma Jean Burns, 20, formerly of Garrett County, Md., on July 22.

The men, both residents of Newbury Township, were charged with rape after admitting they assaulted Mrs. Burns in a field, said Sheriff Louis A. Robusky. Her body was found several days later.

Mrs. Burns was a baby sitter for couple living in the township. The coroner has ruled she was strangled but authorities have not yet solved the slaying.

Musician Union To Meet Tomorrow

Local 787, American Federation of Musicians, will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Labor Temple, South Centre Street.

Plans will be made for the annual picnic, Sunday, August 18, at the Ali Ghan Shrine picnic grounds.

DAKAR, Senegal (UPI) — Foreign ministers attending the Organization of African Unity appointed commissions Monday to study problems of inter - African cooperation in social, economic and cultural fields. The conference is expected to continue through Aug. 17.

Two Soldiers Arrested In Stolen Car

Two young soldiers caught in a wild chase in Romney after running around a State Police roadblock in a stolen car were returned Monday to Grafton.

Trooper John Leeson of the Romney Detachment of West Virginia State Police set up a roadblock in Romney at the intersection of Routes 50 and 28 late Sunday night.

He had been notified that a West Virginia National Guard sedan had been stolen from the Grafton Armory and was headed toward Romney. The trooper saw the car turn down a street and he started to pursue it through streets and alleys.

The two soldiers brought the car to a halt when Trooper Leeson fired his revolver, hitting the rear of the auto.

Both young men surrendered. One, Ronald M. Leinen, was from Grafton, and the other, Roger Hoffman, was from North Dakota. Both are 21 years of age and are stationed at Fort Eustis, Va.

Centennial Tomato Variety Is Popular

Earlier this year announcement was made of West Virginia '63, "The Centennial Tomato," a new variety released by the Agricultural Experiment Station at West Virginia University in Morgantown.

David O. Quinn, state extension plant pathology and entomology specialist at the university, reports that the distribution of the seeds was more or less limited to citizens of West Virginia, although those of the neighboring states who requested seeds were also sent a small quantity.

He said there were about 3,000 individual requests for the seeds, and they were filled as promptly as possible.

In addition, 65 to 70 commercial plant growers in West Virginia were provided with seeds. Most of these growers received from 300 to 600 seeds and were encouraged to start these as plants and sell them to whoever was interested.

Some seeds were sent to various seed-producing companies, although an answer has not been received from the companies, said Mr. Quinn.

He pointed out that properly selected seeds could be used next year. A selection of seeds from well-rounded fruit without any imperfections would be desirable.

The new variety, developed by the Department of Plant Pathology, Bacteriology and Entomology in cooperation with the Department of Horticulture, is resistant to the late blight and to the verticillium and fusarium wilt diseases.

Developed primarily for the home garden, the West Virginia '63 has a vigorous vine, which provides excellent cover for the fruit to reduce sunscald. The fruit is of high color and ripens evenly without green shoulders, according to Mr. Quinn, who said the mature fruit will weigh about half a pound.

Power Line Opposition Motion Fails

LEESBURG, Va. (UPI)—Opponents of the proposed 500,000-volt power line from Grant County, W. Va., to the metropolitan east were temporarily blocked Monday during a meeting of the Loudoun County Board of Supervisors.

A motion asking the board to record its opposition to the proposed Virginia Electric Power Co.'s. (VEPCO) line died for lack of a second.

The power line, to originate in a multi-million dollar generating plant at Mt. Storm, W. Va., has met bitter opposition from residents of the famed hunt country on grounds the lines and high towers would be eyesores.

Lovettsville District Supervisor James Arnold presented the motion to the board in behalf of about 60 residents of the Lovettsville Citizens Association.

The board asked the County Planning Commission to report as soon as possible on what action it intended to take on VEPCO's application for a local permit. The commission has until Aug. 22 to take action.

The commission can approve, disapprove or take no action. However, if no action is taken within the 30-day limit, the permit is automatically issued.

If the commission disapproves, the power company has a right to appeal to the board of supervisors. The utility's plan was approved by the State Corporation Commission after lengthy courtroom arguments.

Unofficial reports are the firm is running a feasibility study of a possible underground power-line.

The governing body of nearby Jefferson County, W. Va., recently went on record opposing the proposed rerouting of the line through a portion of Jefferson County.

Retired Teacher Seeks Pension

A teacher who retired this year, Mrs. Jane Lucas Snyder, yesterday applied to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners for a supplemental teachers pension that is paid by the county.

Mrs. Snyder said she taught from 1919 to 1930 when she quit to rear her family of four, and also from 1945 to 1963.

Her request was referred to the clerk, James G. Stevenson.

Local governments in the United States spend about $2 billion for health and medical services.

Writ Arguments Of Ex-Escapee Heard In Court

Arguments on a writ of habeas corpus filed by a former escapee from the County Jail were heard yesterday by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The petition was filed by Howard M. Iser, one of two men sentenced to the Maryland Penitentiary in 1959 for holding up a local used auto dealer, William J. Cover, on Shade's Lane.

He and Raymond Gray were sentenced to the penitentiary while their accomplice, Alma Johnson, was also charged with armed robbery and sentenced to 18 months in the Women's Reformatory.

While awaiting transportation to the penitentiary, Iser paid a fellow prisoner, whose identity he would not divulge, to saw three bars with saws smuggled into the County Jail by his wife.

That occurred on November 5, 1958 and he was arrested several days later in Montgomery, Ala.

Returned here after his capture, Iser was given an additional three years for jail break when tried by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris. That term was to be served consecutively with the ten-year sentence.

Yesterday, arguments for the state were presented by State's Attorney James S. Getty and Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason, while John M. Robb was court-appointed counsel for Iser.

Getty and Mason argued that Iser is now incarcerated under the ten-year armed robbery sentence, and the three-year escape term is not to start until 1969. Therefore, they said, his action is premature as he is being detained legally under a sentence he does not question.

Robb declared that Iser is being illegally detained as he was not given a magistrate's hearing.

Fire Company Gets Four Calls

District 16 Volunteer Fire Company was kept busy the past three days with four calls in the Mexico Farms region.

The company Monday responded to a call to the farm of Lynwood Walker, Mexico Farms, to extinguish a six-acre grass fire, according to Chief L. J. Shoemaker. District 16 and Oldtown Fire Departments both fought the blaze from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m.

District 16 answered two calls Sunday, the first at 4 p. m. at the Baltimore and Ohio right of way for a brush fire, and the second at 6:30 p. m. at the B&O dump. They had to haul water from a city hydrant at Offut Street for the latter blaze.

On Saturday, the company was called to put out a grass fire along Mesick Road.

Man Given Jail Term In Burglary

One of four persons arrested in Moorefield and charged with breaking and entering a home at Augusta, W. Va., was given a one to ten-year term in the West Virginia State Penitentiary when tried Monday in Hampshire County Circuit Court, Romney.

Judge H. Gus Muntzing handed the term to James Sykes, 26, of Cincinnati. He had entered a plea of not guilty.

But charges against the other three, Thomas Hammond, 44, Columbus, Ohio; Janet Fielden, 18, Summersville, Tenn., and Roberta Malone, Washington Court House, Ohio, were dropped due to insufficient evidence.

Three-year suspended sentences were given Clarence Edward Parsons and Frank Roger Cosner for the theft of old guns from the Keplinger camp south of Romney.

All six persons had been indicted by the special session of the grand jury of the July term of court which was held last week.

Appeal Denied Barton Man In Morals Case

Permission has been denied Warren Robert Elliott, Barton, to appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals from the decision of Circuit Court here in a Post Conviction Procedure Act hearing.

Elliott was found guilty by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris some months ago in a morals case and sentenced to three years in prison.

Following denial of his freedom in the hearing here, Elliott filed a petition to the high court asking for a hearing.

The court ruled that he had exhausted his rights in the Post Conviction Procedure Act petition to the local court and his request for an appeal had no basis.

Judge Cobey To Attend Event

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey will attend the National Conference of State Trial Judges next week in Chicago as a delegate from Maryland.

The conference is being held in conjunction with the American Bar Association convention.

Next Tuesday, Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune of the Maryland Court of Appeals, who visited former Chief Judge George Henderson here Monday and last night, will speak at Chicago at the judges' conference.

City Playlot Skit Night Set Tomorrow

The annual intra-city Comedy Skit Night will be held by supervised playgrounds tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Constitution Park amphitheatre, Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant recreation director, announced.

Thirteen of the 14 playgrounds will be represented in what has been known prior to this year as "Stunt Night."

Judges will be Miss Edith Scharf, a retired staff member of Celanese Fibers Company; Mrs. Thelma Streett, assistant city tax collector; and Miss Gertrude Wolfe, secretary at Brown's Insurance Company.

Walter Turner, director of Frazier Playground, will be master of ceremonies.

Cast Of Over 100 Begins Rehearsals For Keyser's W. Va. Centennial Revue

KEYSER — Approximately 100 persons are rehearsing for the centennial revue, and countless others are lending their assistance to the production which will be presented August 20, 21 and 22 on Stayman Field at Potomac State College.

Written in three acts the show, "Mineral County Spree of '63," is being produced by Mrs. Nina Oldfield, Romney, who has also done the choregraphy for the various dance numbers. The first portion of the show will be a salute to the nationalities of the county; second act, a salute to the institutions and occupations of the area, and the third to the history and patriotism of the county.

Mrs. E. E. Church, director of choral music at Keyser High School, is supervising selections by the Men's Chorus and Women's Chorus, and will be accompanist for the show. A final call is being made for all who would like to sing in the ensembles, and those interested to attend rehearsal in the Elks Home.

Soloists to date include Mrs. Clara Kauffman, Mrs. Phyllis Chapman and Dee Cessare, Keyser, and Miss Carole Snyder and Miss Linda Twigg, Romney.

Also participating will be the Double Octave Chorus from KHS, accompanied by Mrs. Chapman, and the Mineral County Farm Women's Chorus, accompanied by Mrs. Cordelia Prettyman. Several other speciality acts are being prepared.

Dance routines will be offered by students of Nina Oldfield. Featured will be Miss Brenda Taylor, Keyser, in an acrobatic dance, adagio and waltz. Her partner for the latter two numbers will be Donald Keckley, Romney.

Ten men from the regular chorus will do an Indian dance and a routine saluting Italians of the area. Also featured will be several international dances under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Blundon.

During one of the numbers saluting the apple orchards of the area, queens and princesses from various events in the county will be introduced along with Mineral County's centennial Queen, Miss Sue Ellen Fike, who will be featured as the Statue of Liberty in the show's finale.

Important roles are also being played by the Military Department of Potomac State College, National Guard unit and area Army, Navy and Air Force recruiting officers.

The revue is being coordinated by Thomas J. Conlon and Mrs. Mary Evelyn Coffman with staging by Joseph Stanislawczyk, lighting by Albert Willhide and Grover Aronholt, and Sound Director Joseph Altobello. Following each evening's performance, there will be a fire works display sponsored by the county's centennial committee.

Aiding with wardrobe changes and backstage preparations will be members of the Soroptimist Club of Keyser, Several other organizations have volunteered to help with various other phases of the production.

Tickets will go on sale this week.

Council Studies Improvement Plans

WESTERNPORT — Mayor and Commissioners at their meeting Monday enjoyed the comfort of the new air conditioner, installed in the city building. This is a heavy duty appliance, purchased at a cost of $379 and services the entire council chamber.

The council decided to order necessary materials for immediate repair of Waverly Street bridge. The bridge links Waverly Street with Main Street extended and needs an entirely new floor.

The work of renewing service lines on the north end of Poplar Street will begin Monday. This is in cooperation with residents who are installing new curbs and gutters to have the street in readiness for paving early next year.

Mrs. Katherine Hartig, city clerk, was instructed to cease payment for monthly service charges for a blinker light that has been out of order for over a year.

Officials recently examined the vacant Hammond Street schoolhouse in the prospect of securing a new site for council chamber, fire hall and maintenance equipment and decided it would not be suitable for these purposes.

A letter was read from a recent visitor from Bellmaur, N.J., who decribed the hills and surrounding mountains as perfectly beautiful, but stated that the Main Street was disgraceful. The writer had heard of the planning for the town and suggested they hurry and get started.

The Maryland Municipal League requested seals, stationary and history of the Town of Westernport for an exhibit at the annual convention at Tidewater Inn in Easton, October 24-26.

Thatcher Re-Elected Foundation President

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. VA.— W. R. Thatcher was re-elected to a third term as president of the Shepherd College Foundation at the annual meeting held in the Shepherd College dining room July 25.

C. D. Sions, who is at present superintendent of schools in Grant County, was elected vice president and William Agee, business manager of the college, was elected secretary - treasurer. Earl Weller of Martinsburg was elected attorney for the Foundation.

Name Chairman For CUF Campaign

KEYSER—C. Edwin Jordan has been named to head the 1963-64 Keyser County United Fund campaign next fall.

Jordan was selected as the local CUF committee met at Potomac Dining Room, New Creek Drive, to discuss plans for the coming year. Floyd Boor, 1962-63 chairman, presided.

Jordan, a resident of Hawthorne Heights, has been active in CUF since its formation here and was co-chairman of the business division with Herschel Hedrick in 1961-62.

Besides Boor, other local campaign chairman have been J. Lee Temple, 1961-62; Harland D. Ridder, 1960-61; Willard A. Gortner, 1959-60 and T. Warner Lowry, 1958-59.

Frostburg Airs U.S. Grant For Water Plans

Other Routine Before Council

FROSTBURG — The main item of discussion at this week's council meeting concerned passing a resolution to proceed with the acceptance of a U. S. grant of $57,500 for the expansion of the Frostburg Water Distribution system.

Council also voted unanimously to accept the proposition of Whitman-Requardt Associates for engineering and inspection of the project. Ralph M. Race, president of the Fidelity Bank, was present and explained the steps necessary to float a bond issue for $100,000 or more to pay for the cities share of the work.

According to the timetable set forth by the federal government and the engineering firm, work is scheduled to begin on November 18 provided all legal and preliminary work is carried out on schedule. The new lines over the town will alleviate low pressures in some areas, provide water for fast growing sections and for Frostburg State College.

A representative of a truck selling ice cream from door-to-door within the city complained of the high cost of license. He was advised that if the $100 fee was not satisfactory he could take legal action against the city.

Alvin Rankin and a delegation from the Frostburg Fire Department were present to ask a clarification of the agreement between the two bodies concerning the hiring and paying of a night man to service both the city hall and the fire hall. Mayor Joseph James explained that the new night man hired by the city comes under civil service, does police work and therefore is a sole employe of the city and that the fire department has no jurisdiction over him. The "cat-eye" man however comes under the agreement and works part time for the city and the fire company who both contribute towards his wages.

The Centennial Water Association asked the city for permission to grant a water tap to the Lions Club for their park but not to charge it to the quota of taps for the area. Permission was granted.

Phillip Jenkins, Wood Street, who is erecting a home on Broadway extended, asked when a sewer and water line would be laid in the area. Council replied that

Freak Mishap Kills Miner Near Kingwood

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (UPI) — Francis Herbert Wilt, 47, of Howard, Pa., was killed Tuesday in a freak accident at a nearby mine operated by Sylvester Bolyard.

Authorities said the victim was driving a locomotive out of the mine when it swerved and knocked out timbers near the pit mouth. One of the large supports fell on him, smashing his head against the motor.

Preston County Sheriff Ralph Brown said he was unable to locate any relatives Tuesday night. He said the victim came to Preston County Sunday, was hired at the mine Monday, and killed Tuesday.

KEYSER — Approximately 100 persons are rehearsing for the centennial revue, and countless others are lending their assistance to the production which will be presented August 20, 21 and 22 on Stayman Field at Potomac State College.

Written in three acts the show, "Mineral County Spree of '63," is being produced by Mrs. Nina Oldfield, Romney, who has also done the choregraphy for the various dance numbers. The first portion of the show will be a salute to the nationalities of the county; second act, a salute to the institutions and occupations of the area, and the third to the history and patriotism of the county.

Mrs. E. E. Church, director of choral music at Keyser High School, is supervising selections by the Men's Chorus and Women's Chorus, and will be accompanist for the show. A final call is being made for all who would like to sing in the ensembles, and those interested to attend rehearsal in the Elks Home.

Soloists to date include Mrs. Clara Kauffman, Mrs. Phyllis Chapman and Dee Cessare, Keyser, and Miss Carole Snyder and Miss Linda Twigg, Romney.

Also participating will be the Double Octave Chorus from KHS, accompanied by Mrs. Chapman, and the Mineral County Farm Women's Chorus, accompanied by Mrs. Cordelia Prettyman. Several other speciality acts are being prepared.

Dance routines will be offered by students of Nina Oldfield. Featured will be Miss Brenda Taylor, Keyser, in an acrobatic dance, adagio and waltz. Her partner for the latter two numbers will be Donald Keckley, Romney.

Ten men from the regular chorus will do an Indian dance and a routine saluting Italians of the area. Also featured will be several international dances under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Blundon.

During one of the numbers saluting the apple orchards of the area, queens and princesses from various events in the county will be introduced along with Mineral County's centennial Queen, Miss Sue Ellen Fike, who will be featured as the Statue of Liberty in the show's finale.

Important roles are also being played by the Military Department of Potomac State College, National Guard unit and area Army, Navy and Air Force recruiting officers.

The revue is being coordinated by Thomas J. Conlon and Mrs. Mary Evelyn Coffman with staging by Joseph Stanislawczyk, lighting by Albert Willhide and Grover Aronholt, and Sound Director Joseph Altobello. Following each evening's performance, there will be a fire works display sponsored by the county's centennial committee.

Aiding with wardrobe changes and backstage preparations will be members of the Soroptimist Club of Keyser, Several other organizations have volunteered to help with various other phases of the production.

Tickets will go on sale this week.

Freak Mishap Kills Miner Near Kingwood

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (UPI) — Francis Herbert Wilt, 47, of Howard, Pa., was killed Tuesday in a freak accident at a nearby mine operated by Sylvester Bolyard.

Authorities said the victim was driving a locomotive out of the mine when it swerved and knocked out timbers near the pit mouth. One of the large supports fell on him, smashing his head against the motor.

Preston County Sheriff Ralph Brown said he was unable to locate any relatives Tuesday night. He said the victim came to Preston County Sunday, was hired at the mine Monday, and killed Tuesday.

Mt. Savage WSCS Adopts Project

Bloodmobile Gets 99 Pints At Hercules

The unit was at the ABL plant on Monday and collected 137 pints for a two-day total of 238 pints, 62 pints short of the 300-pint quota set for the visit.

There had been 97 donors scheduled yesterday and 81 persons kept their appointments. There were 24 walk-ins and six persons were rejected for various reasons.

Yesterday's total included 13 persons who donated blood for the first time.

Mrs. A. G. Wallace, 751 Fayette Street, joined the Four Gallon Club, and Walter Woodson, RD 1, Ridgeley, became a member of the Two Gallon Club.

Four persons joined the One Gallon Club yesterday. They were Vincent R. King, 519 Pearre Avenue; William Elder, 518 Regina Avenue; John B. Derrick, 819 Fayette Street, and Mrs. Alice M. Reuschlein, 12 Grant Drive, LaVale.

The bloodmobile unit will be at Celanese Fibers Company on Monday, September 9, and will visit the Westernport-Piedmont area the next day.

Club Has Picnic

A covered dish picnic was held by the Canasta Club '9' at the home of Mrs. Leah Hinkle. Prizes were won by Mrs. Emily Miller, Mrs. Betty Adams and Mrs. Mamie Winfield.

Others attending were Mrs. Annalee Roberts, Mrs. Vada Warnick, Mrs. Emma Fisher, Mrs. Helen Wilson and Miss Margaret Conner.

Unemployment Fraud Brings Sentence

A local man was given a suspended jail sentence yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court after he was found guilty of making false statements to obtain unemployment benefits.

Peter R. Burnelle, 35, of Columbia Street, was given a 60-day suspended sentence by Magistrate Leslie J. Clark.

Burnelle was charged with making false statements to obtain $570 in unemployment benefits during a 15-week period from December 14, 1962 to March 30, 1963.

Deputy State's Attorney Donald W. Mason told the court that during the period Burnelle received weekly unemployment benefits he was employed by the Four Seasons Aluminum Company and earned $288 which was not reported to the Maryland Department of Employment Security.

Magistrate Clark suspended the jail term on condition Burnelle make restitution of $570 to the state within the next year.

'Stork Notes' Pour Into White House

W By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Nearly 300 letters a day, many of them pouring into the White House these days with good wishes to two prospective parents.

Like this one from New Orleans: "I'm so glad that Mrs. Kennedy is having a baby. I hope it is a boy so that it can grow up to be a fine man like you. You are a fine President."

Although this letter was for the President, most of the mail is for Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, who is expecting her third child this month. The letters are labeled by the White House as "congratulations - stork-received." Before they are filed away, a thank-you reply is sent.

There was a little girl from Marion, Ohio, who wrote to the First Lady: "Have you decided what you are going to name the baby if it is a girl or if it is a boy? And if so, will you please tell me, if possible. I am praying that everything will go well for you and the baby.

"P.S. I have a lot of faith for what you say and do, Mrs. Kennedy."

The reply, by White House Social Secretary Nancy Tuckerman, expressed thanks for the girl's "kindness in sending a message of good wishes" and added that "no name has been chosen for the new baby at the present time."

One little girl, from Wesleyville, Pa., enclosed a four - leaf clover in her letter so that Mrs. Kennedy's third child "will be a very healthy one." A Shreveport, La. woman asked Mrs. Kennedy to "name her Mary K, after me."

President Kennedy received a letter from a Far Rockaway, N. Y., youth who wrote "I would love and wish if you could give me the honor of being the godfather for the new baby. I am 10 years old if you want to know. And I'll be the happiest and proudest boy in the whole world."

He received this answer: "The President and Mrs. Kennedy appreciate the thoughtfulness which prompted you to write and offer to be the godfather for the new baby. They regret, however, that this role is usually filled by a relative or a very close friend of the family."

A Roslyn, N.Y., fan wrote to Mrs. Kennedy "I want to congratulate you on expecting another child. I hope it will be a girl and grow up to be as pretty as you, and I'm sure if it is a boy it will be as handsome as Mr. Kennedy."

After congratulating the First Lady on having a baby, one little girl wrote that she had taken a tour of the White House and thinks "it is very pretty. I sure wish I lived in it. I guess you are lucky."

Another youngster wrote that she wished Mrs. Kennedy would have twin girls "cause I don't like boys."

HONG KONG (UPI) — A study of the Chinese formula for gaining power in under-developed countries just published here shows significant differences from Russian views on how Communist interests should be advanced.

The study, published in the magazine "Current Scene," says Communist Chinese parties insists on local Communist parties spearheading the struggle for power in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

The Russian contention is that efforts to extend Communist influence must be conducted by Communist bloc nations.

It also concludes that Russian and Chinese views on anti-foreign revolutions differ radically. The Chinese believe that Nationalist movements must be infiltrated from their beginnings and taken over from within. The Russians hold that Nationalist revolutions must precede Communist takeovers.

Observers of Chinese Communist tactics in Southeast Asia believe that the study's conclusions are borne out by recent events in Laos, where Chinese advisors have been attached to the leadership of the Pro-Communist Rebel movement since 1962.

The study lays down two basic assumptions about Chinese views on how Communists should operate:

—Anti-foreignism is the prime incentive for revolution in the underdeveloped countries and should be exploited to the hilt in the present situation where all-out nuclear war is unthinkable.

—It is the "negative example" of foreign imperialists that has "provoked colonial peoples to revolutionary action and armed struggle."

By negative example, the study declares, is meant the actual physical presence of "oppressors of the people."

"The appeal of Communism, in Peking's view, lies not in what it proposes, but in what it opposes," the article says. "As Mao Tse-Tung observes, the Communists would not have been able to gain power even in Russia and China had they not been able to present themselves as champions in a struggle against an unpopular enemy. The Communists need the negative example of 'reactionaries' to forment revolution."

Thus, just as the Chinese found it easier in their own revolution to recruit sympathizers for the Communist cause when the ineffectiveness and corruption of the Kuomintang regime was all about them, so today the Peking leadership would like to entrap the United States into stationing troops along the Mekong River in Laos.

This would enable the Communists on the spot to portray them as "oppressors" and whip up hate against them.

The study points out that the Peking peoples daily has stated: "Imperialism has been compelled to put up a frenzied fight and, in doing so, has provoked the increasingly widespread and intense resistance on the part of the colonial people."

The study then concludes that Peking has decided that international Communism should rely its own indigenous, not foreign, agencies to achieve political control in the underdeveloped world. "This puts Peking in direct opposition to the Soviet line," the study says.

Mitsubishi Takes Steps To Regain Former Glory

TOKYO (AP) — Once upon a time in feudal Japan, a man named Iwasaki decided his family's destiny lay in commerce and industry.

This was a strange decision in a country ruled by the code of the Samurai warrior, which disdained commerce. But Iwasaki persevered.

In 1873, his clan took the name Mitsubishi (three diamonds) and went on to become one of the world's strongest financial-industrial houses. In the 1930s, it joined the militarists and helped finance Japan's international adventures and the Pearl Harbor attack.

Then came disaster. American authorities disbanded Mitsubishi on the grounds it was undemocratic. Even the name Mitsubishi was banned. The house that controlled 170 separate companies was wrecked.

Last month after years of biding its time, Mitsubishi took a giant step toward recovering its former glory.

Three of the largest Mitsubishi concerns, which on the surface had operated independently of each other since the Americans arrived announced they will merge next year.

Shin-Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, Mitsubishi Nippon Heavy Industries, and Mitsubishi Shipbuilding and Engineering Co. said they will merge as Mitsubishi Heavy Industries — the name used before the war.

It is likely to give Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's government a likely severe case of political embarrassment.

The government's foremost political opponent, the vocal Socialist party, is dead set against permitting rebirth of what it calls the Zaibatsu — family economic and industrial empires that the Socialists say must bear some of the responsibility for getting Japan into World War II.

Many Japanese who are not Socialists agree.

The government is having little success in pushing a "special industry development" bill that the Socialists say would permit legal rebirth of sprawling money empires and threaten democratic government.

Whatever its other effects, there is little doubt the new Mitsubishi combination will control a huge segment of Japan's heavy industry. According to best available figures, the three firms, operating independently in 1962, racked up a sales total second only to one other industrial giant — Hitachi Seisaku.

The three firms totalled 31 per cent of Japan's ship production, 30 per cent of the boilers for thermal power generation and turbines, 9.4 per cent of automobiles manufactured in the country.

Mitsubishi Heavy Industries will have at least, 77,000 employes, more than any other firm in Japan, and is expected to begin a strong campaign for dominance in manufacturing motor vehicles, aircraft, rolling stock and ship repairing, among other fields.

Buses, Trains To Pick Up Capital Marchers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—A Negro spokesman said Monday at least two 20-car trains and several buses would tour the South to pick up Negroes for a massive march on Washington aimed at persuading Congress to pass proposed civil rights legislation.

Rev. Abraham Woods, Southern coordinator for the Aug. 28 Washington demonstration, said premarch meetings have been conducted throughout the United States.

He would not estimate the number of Negroes expected to make the trip from the South.

Twenty-one years before the invention of air conditioning, doctors packed the room of wounded and dying President Garfield with ice to relieve his suffering.

TEACHERS HELD IN FLOGGING — Mrs. Catherine Trebing (left) and Mrs. Edith Bates, accused of flogging Mrs. Trebing's son, David (right), leave for jail in Detroit after neighbors broke up the flogging and called police. David was treated at a hospital and released. Both women are divorcees and school teachers. Immediate cause of the flooging was said to be caused by David running away from the Bates home where he had been staying.

Attorney Asks Conviction Review

BALTIMORE (AP)—J. Thomas Ellicott, a Towson attorney, asked the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals Monday to review his conviction on mail fraud charges.

Ellicott's co-defendants, Lewis L. Fleury and Harvey C. Jones II, also Baltimore County lawyers, had filed their appeals a week ago.

The charges stemmed from the operations involving the Monumental City and First Union savings and loan associations.

Ellicott was sentenced to 18 months in prison while the others were fined $2,000 each and placed on a year's probation.

U.S. District Court Judge Harrison L. Winter found that the lawyer had moved the paper titles to two large Baltimore County land tracts through newly formed firms to reflect profits on savings and loan's books.

The first trained fleas were exhibited in 1821.

Nature Doesn't Love A Wall

In the still of the Kremlin night after the latest reports from Berlin are in, Nikita Khrushchev must sometimes hear the gentle voice of Robert Frost as he spoke a great human truth on Russian soil.

"Something there is that doesn't love a wall," Mr. Frost had said, reciting a poem he'd written long before there was a Berlin Wall, long before the world had heard of Nikita Khrushchev.

Perhaps Khrushchev attributed Frost's selection of that particular poem to the pixy humor that was not alien to the poet. But by now, reading the reports from Berlin, the Kremlin boss must be having second thoughts.

In the space of 10 days nearly a dozen persons have defied the Wall. One was a girl hidden in the trunk of a low-slung sports car that slipped under a barrier gate at the wall. Two were border guards who bolted to the safety of the U. S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie. Two were young men who scaled the Wall and escaped under gunfire. A man and wife were machine-gunned by border guards.

The Wall was built, Khrushchev has explained, to keep the capitalist West Berliners out of Communist East Berlin. But the escapes are in the other direction.

It must sometimes occur to Khrushchev that he has lost the battle of the Wall. This was inevitable for, as poets and other men know, something there is that doesn't love a wall.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

A Maoist International?

There is a theory that the present rift between Khrushchev and China's Mao Tse-tung is a phony, cooked up to delude the West. Since Communist morality is capable of accommodating any sort of criminal ruse, this could turn out to be true. But the weight of the evidence is against it. Surely, if Khrushchev and Mao were plotting together, the Russian Soviet government would not have withdrawn its atomic physicists from Peiping back in 1961, leaving Mao Tse-tung with only a primitive experimental nuclear reactor as the fruit of a short-lived scientific collaboration.

The Red Chinese supposedly have three other experimental reactors, built with the help of renegade Western physicists, but they had to send their uranium to Russia for processing. Russia has controlled Red Chinese access to any significant amount of fissionable stuff.

The progress of the Red Chinese in producing deliverable atomic bombs could be a tip-off to the actual state of cooperation between Moscow and Peiping. If a Red Chinese bomb comes along, and if Peiping is able to go on from there to make a "family" of bombs, complete with rocket propelling power, we can be relatively certain that the Russians are delivering both technical help and purified uranium or plutonium for use in Chinese reactors. Otherwise we can be at least reasonably sure that the rift between Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung is real.

There is another tip-off, too, that may very well be in the works. To date, there have been four Communist Internationals. The First International was Marx's own, and it collapsed because it was premature. The Second, or Socialist, International had its heyday prior to World War I. The Third International was Lenin's, formed as a splinter group in Switzerland. This particular organization grew to fearsome proportions once it had a national power base in a Soviet Russia that reached all across the top of the Eurasian continent. As the "Comintern," it has officially been liquidated. Nevertheless, it still exists under various "fronts" and "covers" that are designed as eyewash for us innocent fools in the West.

The Fourth International, of course, was Leon Trotsky's. Though Trotsky had his devoted followers all over the world, this organization never succeeded in taking on body and depth. Trotsky tried to direct it from a study desk in a fortified villa outside of Mexico City, where he had been granted asylum. There was a vast coming and going of Trotskyite agents between New York City and the "old man's" hideout in Mexico, but there was never much to show for it all beyond some brilliant theoretical journalism in precariously financed Trotskyite journals. The collapse of the Fourth International came in 1940, when a Stalinist agent, a Spaniard going by the names of "Jacques Mornard" and "Frank Jacson" (a misspelling for "Jackson" that occurred on a fake passport), slipped into Trotsky's study and killed him with an alpine ice-axe.

The Fourth International failed to take root because it never had a geographical power base. But the Fifth, or Maoist, Communist International, which will surely be forthcoming if the break between Moscow and Peiping is genuine, will have a nation with a population of 700,000,000 people behind it. And its presumptive leader, Mao Tse-tung, will be well protected against any "Jacques Mornards" or "Frank Jacsons" armed with ice picks.

What the Fifth International will have to sell is the so-called "Yenan Way" based on Mao's experience in eluding capture for years in northwest China. It will not use the "Aesopian" language of peace, with its "ban the bomb" appeal to pacifists and groups of housewife demonstrators. Instead, it will glorify open guerilla warfare throughout Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. It will live on blood, not on Aesopian words. And it will make a good living for many a small arms gun runner.

Watch for the organization of a Fifth International, with lines of influence and force going from Peiping to scores of outposts in tropical jungles. If it materializes, it will be a sure sign that Khrushchev and Mao are in competition for the allegiance of the "underdeveloped" regions of the world. It could portend a far more troublesome and dangerous period for the West than any it has ever known. To nip the development of a Fifth International in the bud, we should do all we can to win on our own "forward position" fronts in Vietnam, Laos and Korea.

If We Fail To Ratify The Nuclear Test Treaty

By Laurence Barrett

(Joseph Alsop will be on vacation this month — and gathering material both in this country and abroad for future columns. During his absence, top members of the New York Herald Tribune will substitute for him.)

WASHINGTON

So far, the argument over the limited nuclear test ban treaty has skirted perhaps the most important issue: what the consequences would be if the Senate fails to ratify.

President Kennedy says this would be a "great mistake." Mr. Harriman says it would cost this country its position of world leadership. These are understatements. It is not too much to predict that rejection of this treaty will sentence the world to continued imprisonment in the dungeon that is the arms race for a long, long time.

Both in the Administration and in Congress there is considerable optimism that the necessary two-thirds vote in the Senate will be achieved. Yet there is an undercurrent of opposition, rather muted for the moment, and lacking in focus. If a rallying point emerges, the treaty could be in trouble. Rejection is not the only avenue of defeat. An attempt could be made to append "reservations" or even formal amendments. These could have the same effect as a negative vote.

One wonders whether those who for various motives are searching so hard for minute flaws in the treaty have honestly considered the larger question of what failure to ratify would mean.

If the United States is unwilling to take this very little step towards arms control, then its stated position since the end of World War II in favor of controlling the atom is a fraud. And the more recent American posture in favor of arms reduction and ultimate disarmament is doubly fraudulent.

It must be remembered that the treaty under consideration is essentially an American treaty, which both the Eisenhower and the Kennedy administrations put forward for the world to see and desire. Were we seeking to decieve the world? Were we, safe in the knowledge that the Russians would spurn any agreement, merely teasing humanity?

The treaty to ban tests in the atmosphere, outer space, and underground is the most modest advance possible that can still provide meaningful progress. If we fear this, then longer strides toward peace will frighten us senseless.

Would the Russians negotiate with us seriously again on anything else? It is difficult to see why they should. They could simply bask in their greatest propaganda victory of the cold war.

The arguments against the treaty vary from sober considerations of the military and technical implications to hysterical screams about what monsters the Russians are. The Senate must think about the former and try to be immune from the latter.

The Republican Congressional leadership now gropes for some rational basis on which to question the treaty. It posed this choice last week: "Which will do most to preserve peace in the world, ratification of a limited treaty placing selective restraints on the development of nuclear weapons or a maximum up-to-the-minute defense capability so destructive as to prohibit attack? This is the same Republican leadership that thinks the defense budget could be cut easily by a few billions.)

Actually, this seemingly logical question contains holes. The treaty does not prevent, or even seriously inhibit, continued weapons development. But there is a bigger hole. The question implies that an absolute deterrent exists, or is rapidly obtainable. This is a delusion. There exists only the means for mutual destruction.

No new weapon is immune to a still newer defense. No defense remains impermeable for long. The choice really is between an ever-quickening contest for more devastating weapons and a glimmer of hope that the race may slow to a more rational pace.

In evaluating the debate that is to come, it would be stupid to shut one's mind to all opposition. Perhaps there is real evidence, undisclosed until now, that the treaty's risks are greater than its benefits. If so, it is difficult to believe that President Kennedy is unaware of it, or has ignored it.

The skeptics urge caution and objectivity. One would do well to be cautious and objective in considering criticism by scientists who think that, because they have built great engines of war, these engines must be kept ever primed at mankind's head, and the criticism by professional anti-Communists. One would also do well to be skeptical of politicians who have their eye on Election Day next year and who know that, if the treaty is ratified and proves successful, President Kennedy will reap great political benefits.

Finally, the 100 judges in the Senate must know that their votes on this issue will be remembered for a long, long time.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

U. S. RUSSIAN RELATIONS — United States-Russian relations are much in the headlines. The implication of news flowing out of Moscow and Washington is that for one of the few occasions since the end of World War II there appears an opportunity for a genuine improvement in the dealings between the two countries.

Diplomats term the present condition "fluid," meaning conditions are conducive to change, probably for the better, but that no one knows — at least in Washington — where it all will lead.

There is general agreement among U. S. diplomats that the trigger for the new situation was the unseemly family brawl that has broken out between the Russian Communists and the Chinese Communists. Unfortunately, this factor causes some experienced Western diplomats to flash caution lights.

As indications of worsening relations between the Soviet and Chinese leaders mounted in recent months, some "Kremlinologists" calculated that the time might come when Russia would seek improved relations with the West to isolate its biggest ideological partner. However, none of them figured that it would come quite so soon.

What bothers foreign policy officials is the uneasy feeling that the United States is being courted by Russia because the Soviets want to show the Chinese they can find another love. This is hardly a firm basis on which to negotiate major changes in international cold war relationships. Who knows? — perhaps the Russians and Chinese will fall back in love again.

Yet, diplomats don't want to miss an opportunity to lessen world tension. Even if nothing much is finally accomplished, it will give them a better idea of basic Soviet position as opposed to demands they make for bargaining purposes.

Keep Medicine Cabinet Clear Of Old Drugs

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Modern drugs are complex chemicals. Some are affected by age; if left on the shelf for years, they could change enough to poison the individual or damage certain organs. Now and then a medicine becomes more concentrated or loses its potency. These alterations occur because the chemicals are exposed to air, moisture, and heat.

Several reports have appeared on the bad effects of outdated or degraded tetracycline. This antibiotic is recommended for a variety of infections. It is eliminated from the body via the kidneys and is safe to use except by those with serious renal disorders. But the situation is different when the product has remained in a bottle for a long time and has deteriorated.

A group of New York City physicians reported on the ill effects of this drug on three persons. One of their patients, a 54-year-old widow, was advised to take tetracycline for a sinus infection. She found an unopened bottle in her medicine cabinet that had been purchased a year before to take on a trip. The container had no expiration date and had been repackaged by the pharmacist from a 1,000-capsule stock bottle.

On the second day she developed nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea. She was advised to take milk with each capsule and felt somewhat better. After a few days the drug was discontinued but symptoms returned one week later. Examination showed extensive kidney damage which fortunately responded to treatment.

Others have a more dismal experience after the antibiotic was discontinued. The kidneys go into a state of failure because they are damaged by the degraded tetracycline. In one case, an old capsule was opened and found to contain a brown gummy substance instead of a fine powdery material.

The lesson: Never use old drugs. Clean out the medicine cabinet now.

COFFEE OR CAUTERIZATION

E. L. writes: Whenever I drink coffee around 8 or 9 p. m. I have to get up during the night. Someone said the cure was to have the bladder cauterized. Do you think this is what I will have to do?

REPLY

It is easier and safer to stop drinking coffee at night and far less painful than undergoing this type of surgery. If you like coffee, drink it, get up at night, and then go back to sleep. This won't kill you.

FACIAL PUFFINESS

Mrs. H. writes: The skin between my eyebrows (over the nose) and my eyelids swells quite often. My eyes are healthy. What could cause this swelling?

REPLY

Puffiness in this area may stem from allergy or loss of elasticity of the skin in the middle-aged. Other causes include kidney disease, insufficient thyroid, and malnutrition. See your physician if a rash co-exists.

BIRD PET

L. P. writes: I found a wild baby bird and want to keep it in the house. Is there any danger of getting psittacosis from it?

REPLY

VITAMINS AND FERTILITY

S. S. writes: What vitamins are helpful in encouraging pregnancy?

REPLY

None. Vitamin E has been recommended for infertility, but it is of doubtful value.

ACQUIRED HERNIA

A. G. writes: Could extreme nausea and vomiting for several days lead to a hernia in the diaphragm?

REPLY

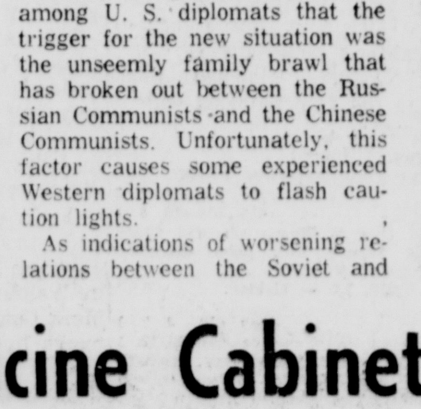
Yes, especially when accompanied by retching.

TOMORROW: Evaluating mouthwashes.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf



Finley was on his way home through a dark alley when three thugs attacked him. Finley fought like a wildcat, but finally was overcome and robbed of all the change in his pocket — thirty cents, to be exact. "You're a fighting feller," grunted one of the thugs with something like admiration in his voice, "but why would you be wanting to put up such a battle for a measly thirty cents?" "Sure," confided Finley, "I thought yez wanted the ten dollars I've got hidden in me shoe!"

"In every organization," observed Dr. Charles Lapp, "there are three kinds of people: rowboat people, sailboat people, and steamboat people. Rowboat people need to be pushed or shoved along. Sailboat people move when a favorable wind is blowing. Steamboat people move continuously, through calm or storm. They are the ones who are masters of themselves, their surroundings, and their fate."

Terse verse from Colonel Francis Duffy:

"He let his head get swollen
up,
And sniffed at those who
hired him.
He thought himself a great big gun—
And that is why they fired
him."

Congressmen Intervened To Keep Gang Lords From Being Deported

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — In a search through federal crime files, this column has come across the names of four members of Congress who have tried to save mobsters from deportation.

These were not obscure hoodlums who could easily pass themselves off as aggrieved constituents. They were big-time, big-money racketeers with international police records.

Case No. 1—Congressman Mike Kirwan, the tough, twinkling Irishman from Youngstown, Ohio, introduced a private bill to save Frank Cammarata from exile.

The Sicilian-born Cammarata, lean and mean, is a graduate of Detroit's infamous Purple Gang. He is described in the federal rogues' gallery as "a killer, hold-up man and narcotics distributor."

Congress failed to share Kirwan's benevolent attitude toward the mobster, and in 1958, Cammarata skipped to Cuba in order to avoid deportation to Italy.

He soon fell into the clutches of dictator Fidel Castro who had Cammarata arrested for possessing cocaine. But word got back to U. S. narcotics officials that the racketeer's real offense was smuggling drugs without giving the Castro government its cut.

Castro Cons Mobster

FBI files tell a fascinating account of how the bearded Cuban dictator tried to take over Cammarata's operation. He used two renegade American hoodlums to try to trick Cammarata into disclosing where he got the stuff and how he disposed of it in the United States.

One of the hoods, who used the alias of Carl Weston, actually was planted in Cammarata's cell to win his confidence. But the wily racketeer was too experienced at keeping his mouth shut and didn't tumble for the ruse.

Case No. 2—Louisiana's likeable Congressman Jimmy Morrison introduced a private bill to stop the deportation of New Orleans mobster Silvestro Carollo.

A darkly menacing fellow with black, thinning hair and a long curving face, Carollo is currently No. 34 on the international list of narcotics violators.

"This man," says the confidential report under his mug shot, "is a dangerous man and has been connected with narcotics traffic for many years."

His arrests go back to 1923 and encompass everything from swindling to the attempted murder of a narcotics agent.

Again, Congress learned the truth about the man in time to pigeonhole Morrison's bill. Carollo was deported to his native village of Terrasini, Sicily, where he now operates the biggest bar in town.

Gangster's Shrimp Luncheons

Parenthetically, Carollo isn't Morrison's only acquaintance on the shady side of the law. The handsome, happy-go-lucky lawmaker used to be a frequent guest of underworld lobbyist Murray Olf at shrimp luncheons. On at least one occasion, Morrison arranged a good time in Las Vegas for a group of Congressional secretaries.

Case No. 3—Olin "The Solon" Johnston, the South Carolin Senator, somehow was persuaded to introduce a private bill for the special benefit of Nicolo Impastato, one of Kansas City's most notorious gangsters.

Impastato is a light, thin-faced, shy-looking man who wears rimless glasses and resembles a college professor more than a crime czar. But beneath his mug shot in the federal rogues' gallery appears this ominous passage:

"Has been known to use violence, including murder, to maintain his organization; though deported, he still has an income from rackets in the United States."

When Johnston's bill failed to save him, Impastato slipped across the border into Mexico to continue directing his operations from the Mexican side. However, the Mexican authorities obligingly deported him to Italy, saving Uncle Sam the trouble.

He now operates a farm outside the same village of Terrasini where Carollo lives and laments.

Case No. 4 — Congressman George O'Brien, recently retired by his Detroit constituents, dropped a private bill into the House hopper to keep racketeer Ralph Cannavo in this country.

The slender, blue-eyed, fair-haired mobster actually has been deported three times but keeps bouncing back. His niche in the hall of infamy is assured by this caption beneath his mug shot:

"A hardened criminal who has never had a legitimate source of income; has engaged in counterfeiting and narcotics trafficking for many years."

White House Estimate

Mrs. Andrew McNamara, wife of the three-star general who heads the Defense Supply Agency, was side-swiped the other day by a bus.

The driver phoned her husband later to apologize for the accident and exchange insurance information. He caught the McNamaras just as they were about to drive to a White House reception.

"I have to take the car to the White House this evening," explained General McNamara.

There was a puzzled silence on the phone. Then the driver asked tentatively: "For an estimate?"

Hope For Hungary

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has hinted to visitors that he will withdraw Soviet forces from Hungary. The last time he relaxed the Soviet grip on the country in 1956, freedom-hungry Hungarians made a bold bid for full independence.

The resulting Hungarian uprising got Khrushchev into such hot water inside the Kremlin that his rivals were encouraged to attempt his overthrow. For a while, it looked as if they would succeed.

Letters To The Editor

Sir:

Lately we have received several anonymous communications from your readership area threatening renewed violence against our program of hail suppression for the fruit growers in the belief that our cloud seeding is robbing them of rain. I ask the privilege of your letters column to address a rebuttal to those of your readers who have heard this view expressed.

Since I took over the program this season from the operator who had run it for six years, I was as concerned as anyone to know if this belief were right; and I sought the answer by comparing all the official summer (June-July-August) rainfall records in the seeded target with all those in a "C"-shaped control area enclosing all but the downwind side of the target (where the seeding effect might slop over), going roughly from Harrisburg to Morgantown to Culpepper, using the six seeded seasons and as many unseeded seasons as would add usable information. Here is what I found, going back to 1932.

In the target, the seeded seasons 1957-62 averaged 11.8 per cent drier than the unseeded seasons 1932-56; but in the control area, the seeded seasons were 12.2 per cent drier than the unseeded.

For the area as a whole, there were seven outstanding drought seasons: Unseeded in '32, '43, '44, '50, and '53; seeded in '57 and '62. In the five unseeded seasons, the target average 72 per cent of the control rainfall; but in the two seeded seasons, its share was up to 88 per cent.

I can draw no sure grounds for a rain-decrease opinion, especially in drought seasons. But this is only one experience among many, ours and others', that tell the story. In the past dozen years we have served farm clients in a dozen states and a dozen foreign countries well enough to stay in business. Those nearest Hagerstown were a Spring Grove (three seasons) and near Allentown (two seasons); and for these, where the cloud seeding methods differed only slightly from those we are now using for hail suppression, target-control comparisons indicated increases ranging from 14 to 41 per cent and averaging 27 per cent.

Looking farther afield, we see that the science of weather modification is in ferment: there is room for conflicting opinions because new discoveries are raising questions faster than they can be answered. But in all the increasing flood of scientific reports, I know of not one theory nor one experimental result that points to rain-decrease by cloud seeding of the sort we are doing; and scores of them point to probable increases. The fourth annual report on Weather Modification just published by the National Science Foundation has this to say (p. 45): "Not only can rainfall be somewhat augmented and hail discouraged under certain conditions, but certain kinds of supercooled fog can be dissipated. The possibility for further development of cloud seeding as a weather modification tool should be investigated thoroughly under a variety of conditions, and under procedures where the effect of cloud seeding can be accurately determined."

Our program is moving in that direction, and I believe it holds promise for the farmers no less than for the fruit growers. Certainly we recognize our responsibility to every citizen, not just to the fruit growers. Obedience to law is only the beginning; We have freely undertaken to meet the scientific and ethical standards required by the American Meteorological Society for qualification as Certified Consulting Meteorologists; we maintain complete documentation of our activities, reported to the National Science Foundation and accessible to all agencies qualified to use them properly.

To all who dispute these matters in a responsible manner, we have accorded and will continue to accord respectful attention and our cooperation in seeking after truth and justice wherever they may lie.

To those readers who have given ear to our anonymous detractors, we ask only that they recognize the tantrums sprung from childish fearfulness, and that they accord illegal threats and violence the repudiation they deserve.

Editor's note: Apparently some opponents of the cloud-seeding program have addressed anonymous communications to W. E. Howell Associates. For the record, however, it should be noted that no such communications have been published in The Cumberland News. Our stories concerning opposition to the program have clearly identified the groups and spokesmen involved.

Nature Doesn't Love A Wall

In the still of the Kremlin night after the latest reports from Berlin are in, Nikita Khrushchev must sometimes hear the gentle voice of Robert Frost as he spoke a great human truth on Russian soil.

"Something there is that doesn't love a wall," Mr. Frost had said, reciting a poem he'd written long before there was a Berlin Wall, long before the world had heard of Nikita Khrushchev.

Perhaps Khrushchev attributed Frost's selection of that particular poem to the pixy humor that was not alien to the poet. But by now, reading the reports from Berlin, the Kremlin boss must be having second thoughts.

In the space of 10 days nearly a dozen persons have defied the Wall. One was a girl hidden in the trunk of a low-slung sports car that slipped under a barrier gate at the wall. Two were border guards who bolted to the safety of the U. S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie. Two were young men who scaled the Wall and escaped under gunfire. A man and wife were machine-gunned by border guards.

The Wall was built, Khrushchev has explained, to keep the capitalist West Berliners out of Communist East Berlin. But the escapes are in the other direction.

It must sometimes occur to Khrushchev that he has lost the battle of the Wall. This was inevitable for, as poets and other men know, something there is that doesn't love a wall.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

A Maoist International?

There is a theory that the present rift between Khrushchev and China's Mao Tse-tung is a phony, cooked up to delude the West. Since Communist morality is capable of accommodating any sort of criminal ruse, this could turn out to be true. But the weight of the evidence is against it. Surely, if Khrushchev and Mao were plotting together, the Russian Soviet government would not have withdrawn its atomic physicists from Peiping back in 1961, leaving Mao Tse-tung with only a primitive experimental nuclear reactor as the fruit of a short-lived scientific collaboration.

The Red Chinese supposedly have three other experimental reactors, built with the help of renegade Western physicists, but they had to send their uranium to Russia for processing. Russia has controlled Red Chinese access to any significant amount of fissionable stuff.

The progress of the Red Chinese in producing deliverable atomic bombs could be a tip-off to the actual state of cooperation between Moscow and Peiping. If a Red Chinese bomb comes along, and if Peiping is able to go on from there to make a "family" of bombs, complete with rocket propelling power, we can be relatively certain that the Russians are delivering both technical help and purified uranium or plutonium for use in Chinese reactors. Otherwise we can be at least reasonably sure that the rift between Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung is real.

There is another tip-off, too, that may very well be in the works. To date, there have been four Communist Internationals. The First International was Marx's own, and it collapsed because it was premature. The Second, or Socialist, International had its heyday prior to World War I. The Third International was Lenin's, formed as a splinter group in Switzerland. This particular organization grew to fearsome proportions once it had a national power base in a Soviet Russia that reached all across the top of the Eurasian continent. As the "Comintern," it has officially been liquidated. Nevertheless, it still exists under various "fronts" and "covers" that are designed as eyewash for us innocent fools in the West.

The Fourth International, of course, was Leon Trotsky's. Though Trotsky had his devoted followers all over the world, this organization never succeeded in taking on body and depth. Trotsky tried to direct it from a study desk in a fortified villa outside of Mexico City, where he had been granted asylum. There was a vast coming and going of Trotskyite agents between New York City and the "old man's" hideout in Mexico, but there was never much to show for it all beyond some brilliant theoretical journalism in precariously financed Trotskyite journals. The collapse of the Fourth International came in 1940, when a Stalinist agent, a Spaniard going by the names of "Jacques Mornard" and "Frank Jacson" (a misspelling for "Jackson" that occurred on a fake passport), slipped into Trotsky's study and killed him with an alpine ice-axe.

The Fourth International failed to take root because it never had a geographical power base. But the Fifth, or Maoist, Communist International, which will surely be forthcoming if the break between Moscow and Peiping is genuine, will have a nation with a population of 700,000,000 people behind it. And its presumptive leader, Mao Tse-tung, will be well protected against any "Jacques Mornards" or "Frank Jacsons" armed with ice picks.

What the Fifth International will have to sell is the so-called "Yenan Way" based on Mao's experience in eluding capture for years in northwest China. It will not use the "Aesopian" language of peace, with its "ban the bomb" appeal to pacifists and groups of housewife demonstrators. Instead, it will glorify open guerilla warfare throughout Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. It will live on blood, not on Aesopian words. And it will make a good living for many a small arms gun runner.

Watch for the organization of a Fifth International, with lines of influence and force going from Peiping to scores of outposts in tropical jungles. If it materializes, it will be a sure sign that Khrushchev and Mao are in competition for the allegiance of the "underdeveloped" regions of the world. It could portend a far more troublesome and dangerous period for the West than any it has ever known. To nip the development of a Fifth International in the bud, we should do all we can to win on our own "forward position" fronts in Vietnam, Laos and Korea.

If We Fail To Ratify The Nuclear Test Treaty

By Laurence Barrett

(Joseph Alsop will be on vacation this month — and gathering material both in this country and abroad for future columns. During his absence, top members of the New York Herald Tribune will substitute for him.)

WASHINGTON

So far, the argument over the limited nuclear test ban treaty has skirted perhaps the most important issue: what the consequences would be if the Senate fails to ratify.

President Kennedy says this would be a "great mistake." Mr. Harriman says it would cost this country its position of world leadership. These are understatements. It is not too much to predict that rejection of this treaty will sentence the world to continued imprisonment in the dungeon that is the arms race for a long, long time.

Both in the Administration and in Congress there is considerable optimism that the necessary two-thirds vote in the Senate will be achieved. Yet there is an undercurrent of opposition, rather muted for the moment, and lacking in focus. If a rallying point emerges, the treaty could be in trouble. Rejection is not the only avenue of defeat. An attempt could be made to append "reservations" or even formal amendments. These could have the same effect as a negative vote.

One wonders whether those who for various motives are searching so hard for minute flaws in the treaty have honestly considered the larger question of what failure to ratify would mean.

If the United States is unwilling to take this very little step towards arms control, then its stated position since the end of World War II in favor of controlling the atom is a fraud. And the more recent American posture in favor of arms reduction and ultimate disarmament is doubly fraudulent.

It must be remembered that the treaty under consideration is essentially an American treaty, which both the Eisenhower and the Kennedy administrations put forward for the world to see and desire. Were we seeking to decieve the world? Were we, safe in the knowledge that the Russians would spurn any agreement, merely teasing humanity?

The treaty to ban tests in the atmosphere, outer space, and underground is the most modest advance possible that can still provide meaningful progress. If we fear this, then longer strides toward peace will frighten us senseless.

Would the Russians negotiate with us seriously again on anything else? It is difficult to see why they should. They could simply bask in their greatest propaganda victory of the cold war.

The arguments against the treaty vary from sober considerations of the military and technical implications to hysterical screams about what monsters the Russians are. The Senate must think about the former and try to be immune from the latter.

The Republican Congressional leadership now gropes for some rational basis on which to question the treaty. It posed this choice last week: "Which will do most to preserve peace in the world, ratification of a limited treaty placing selective restraints on the development of nuclear weapons or a maximum up-to-the-minute defense capability so destructive as to prohibit attack? This is the same Republican leadership that thinks the defense budget could be cut easily by a few billions.)

Actually, this seemingly logical question contains holes. The treaty does not prevent, or even seriously inhibit, continued weapons development. But there is a bigger hole. The question implies that an absolute deterrent exists, or is rapidly obtainable. This is a delusion. There exists only the means for mutual destruction.

No new weapon is immune to a still newer defense. No defense remains impermeable for long. The choice really is between an ever-quickening contest for more devastating weapons and a glimmer of hope that the race may slow to a more rational pace.

In evaluating the debate that is to come, it would be stupid to shut one's mind to all opposition. Perhaps there is real evidence, undisclosed until now, that the treaty's risks are greater than its benefits. If so, it is difficult to believe that President Kennedy is unaware of it, or has ignored it.

The skeptics urge caution and objectivity. One would do well to be cautious and objective in considering criticism by scientists who think that, because they have built great engines of war, these engines must be kept ever primed at mankind's head, and the criticism by professional anti-Communists. One would also do well to be skeptical of politicians who have their eye on Election Day next year and who know that, if the treaty is ratified and proves successful, President Kennedy will reap great political benefits.

Finally, the 100 judges in the Senate must know that their votes on this issue will be remembered for a long, long time.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

U. S. RUSSIAN RELATIONS — United States-Russian relations are much in the headlines. The implication of news flowing out of Moscow and Washington is that for one of the few occasions since the end of World War II there appears an opportunity for a genuine improvement in the dealings between the two countries.

Diplomats term the present condition "fluid," meaning conditions are conducive to change, probably for the better, but that no one knows — at least in Washington — where it all will lead.

There is general agreement among U. S. diplomats that the trigger for the new situation was the unseemly family brawl that has broken out between the Russian Communists and the Chinese Communists. Unfortunately, this factor causes some experienced Western diplomats to flash caution lights.

As indications of worsening relations between the Soviet and Chinese leaders mounted in recent months, some "Kremlinologists" calculated that the time might come when Russia would seek improved relations with the West to isolate its biggest ideological partner. However, none of them figured that it would come quite so soon.

What bothers foreign policy officials is the uneasy feeling that the United States is being courted by Russia because the Soviets want to show the Chinese they can find another love. This is hardly a firm basis on which to negotiate major changes in international cold war relationships. Who knows? — perhaps the Russians and Chinese will fall back in love again.

Yet, diplomats don't want to miss an opportunity to lessen world tension. Even if nothing much is finally accomplished, it will give them a better idea of basic Soviet position as opposed to demands they make for bargaining purposes.

Keep Medicine Cabinet Clear Of Old Drugs

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Modern drugs are complex chemicals. Some are affected by age; if left on the shelf for years, they could change enough to poison the individual or damage certain organs. Now and then a medicine becomes more concentrated or loses its potency. These alterations occur because the chemicals are exposed to air, moisture, and heat.

Several reports have appeared on the bad effects of outdated or degraded tetracycline. This antibiotic is recommended for a variety of infections. It is eliminated from the body via the kidneys and is safe to use except by those with serious renal disorders. But the situation is different when the product has remained in a bottle for a long time and has deteriorated.

A group of New York City physicians reported on the ill effects of this drug on three persons. One of their patients, a 54-year-old widow, was advised to take tetracycline for a sinus infection. She found an unopened bottle in her medicine cabinet that had been purchased a year before to take on a trip. The container had no expiration date and had been repackaged by the pharmacist from a 1,000-capsule stock bottle.

On the second day she developed nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea. She was advised to take milk with each capsule and felt somewhat better. After a few days the drug was discontinued but symptoms returned one week later. Examination showed extensive kidney damage which fortunately responded to treatment.

Others have a more dismal experience after the antibiotic was discontinued. The kidneys go into a state of failure because they are damaged by the degraded tetracycline. In one case, an old capsule was opened and found to contain a brown gummy substance instead of a fine powdery material.

The lesson: Never use old drugs. Clean out the medicine cabinet now.

COFFEE OR CAUTERIZATION

E. L. writes: Whenever I drink coffee around 8 or 9 p. m. I have to get up during the night. Someone said the cure was to have the bladder cauterized. Do you think this is what I will have to do?

REPLY

It is easier and safer to stop drinking coffee at night and far less painful than undergoing this type of surgery. If you like coffee, drink it, get up at night, and then go back to sleep. This won't kill you.

FACIAL PUFFINESS

Mrs. H. writes: The skin between my eyebrows (over the nose) and my eyelids swells quite often. My eyes are healthy. What could cause this swelling?

REPLY

Puffiness in this area may stem from allergy or loss of elasticity of the skin in the middle-aged. Other causes include kidney disease, insufficient thyroid, and malnutrition. See your physician if a rash co-exists.

BIRD PET

L. P. writes: I found a wild baby bird and want to keep it in the house. Is there any danger of getting psittacosis from it?

REPLY

VITAMINS AND FERTILITY

S. S. writes: What vitamins are helpful in encouraging pregnancy?

REPLY

None. Vitamin E has been recommended for infertility, but it is of doubtful value.

ACQUIRED HERNIA

A. G. writes: Could extreme nausea and vomiting for several days lead to a hernia in the diaphragm?

REPLY

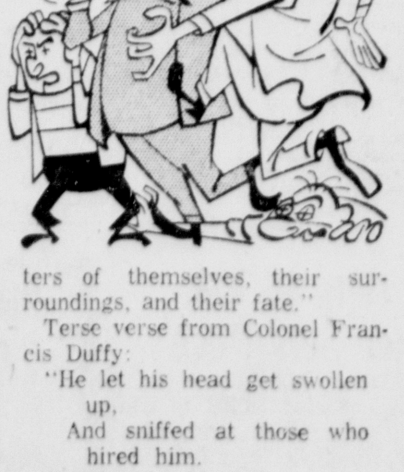
Yes, especially when accompanied by retching.

TOMORROW: Evaluating mouthwashes.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf



Finley was on his way home through a dark alley when three thugs attacked him. Finley fought like a wildcat, but finally was overcome and robbed of all the change in his pocket — thirty cents, to be exact. "You're a fighting feller," grunted one of the thugs with something like admiration in his voice, "but why would you be wanting to put up such a battle for a measly thirty cents?" "Sure," confided Finley, "I thought yez wanted the ten dollars I've got hidden in me shoe!"

"In every organization," observed Dr. Charles Lapp, "there are three kinds of people: rowboat people, sailboat people, and steamboat people. Rowboat people need to be pushed or shoved along. Sailboat people move when a favorable wind is blowing. Steamboat people move continuously, through calm or storm. They are the ones who are masters of themselves, their surroundings, and their fate."

Terse verse from Colonel Francis Duffy:

"He let his head get swollen
up,
And sniffed at those who
hired him.
He thought himself a great big gun—
And that is why they fired
him."

Letters To The Editor

Sir:

Lately we have received several anonymous communications from your readership area threatening renewed violence against our program of hail suppression for the fruit growers in the belief that our cloud seeding is robbing them of rain. I ask the privilege of your letters column to address a rebuttal to those of your readers who have heard this view expressed.

Since I took over the program this season from the operator who had run it for six years, I was as concerned as anyone to know if this belief were right; and I sought the answer by comparing all the official summer (June-July-August) rainfall records in the seeded target with all those in a "C"-shaped control area enclosing all but the downwind side of the target (where the seeding effect might slop over), going roughly from Harrisburg to Morgantown to Culpepper, using the six seeded seasons and as many unseeded seasons as would add usable information. Here is what I found, going back to 1932.

In the target, the seeded seasons 1957-62 averaged 11.8 per cent drier than the unseeded seasons 1932-56; but in the control area, the seeded seasons were 12.2 per cent drier than the unseeded.

For the area as a whole, there were seven outstanding drought seasons: Unseeded in '32, '43, '44, '50, and '53; seeded in '57 and '62. In the five unseeded seasons, the target average 72 per cent of the control rainfall; but in the two seeded seasons, its share was up to 88 per cent.

I can draw no sure grounds for a rain-decrease opinion, especially in drought seasons. But this is only one experience among many, ours and others', that tell the story. In the past dozen years we have served farm clients in a dozen states and a dozen foreign countries well enough to stay in business. Those nearest Hagerstown were a Spring Grove (three seasons) and near Allentown (two seasons); and for these, where the cloud seeding methods differed only slightly from those we are now using for hail suppression, target-control comparisons indicated increases ranging from 14 to 41 per cent and averaging 27 per cent.

Looking farther afield, we see that the science of weather modification is in ferment; there is room for conflicting opinions because new discoveries are raising questions faster than they can be answered. But in all the increasing flood of scientific reports, I know of not one theory nor one experimental result that points to rain-decrease by cloud seeding of the sort we are doing; and scores of them point to probable increases. The fourth annual report on Weather Modification just published by the National Science Foundation has this to say (p. 45): "Not only can rainfall be somewhat augmented and hail discouraged under certain conditions, but certain kinds of supercooled fog can be dissipated. The possibility for further development of cloud seeding as a weather modification tool should be investigated thoroughly under a variety of conditions, and under procedures where the effect of cloud seeding can be accurately determined."

Our program is moving in that direction, and I believe it holds promise for the farmers no less than for the fruit growers. Certainly we recognize our responsibility to every citizen, not just to the fruit growers. Obedience to law is only the beginning; We have freely undertaken to meet the scientific and ethical standards required by the American Meteorological Society for qualification as Certified Consulting Meteorologists; we maintain complete documentation of our activities, reported to the National Science Foundation and accessible to all agencies qualified to use them properly.

To all who dispute these matters in a responsible manner, we have accorded and will continue to accord respectful attention and our cooperation in seeking after truth and justice wherever they may lie.

To those readers who have given ear to our anonymous detractors, we ask only that they recognize the tantrums sprung from childish fearfulness, and that they accord illegal threats and violence the repudiation they deserve.

WALLACE E. HOWELL

Editor's note: Apparently some opponents of the cloud-seeding program have addressed anonymous communications to W. E. Howell Associates. For the record, however, it should be noted that no such communications have been published in The Cumberland News. Our stories concerning opposition to the program have clearly identified the groups and spokesmen involved.

Washington Splits With Yankees, Orioles And Pirates Win

Whitey Ford Is Bombed In Opener, 8-5

New York Captures Second On 1-Hitter By Williams, 1 To 0

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stan Williams tossed a brilliant one-hit, 1-0 shutout at the Washington Senators Tuesday night, enabling the New York Yankees to split a doubleheader after the Senators had bombed Whitey Ford with four home runs and handed him his third straight loss in the opener, 8-5.

Williams, who last went the distance April 14 in his first start with the Yankees, struck out 11 and walked one. The lone hit off the hulking, former Los Angeles Dodger was Don Blasingame's double down the left field line in the third inning. He was the only Senator to go as far as second.

The Yanks' run off loser Bennie Daniels came in the eighth on a triple by Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson's sacrifice fly.

In the opener, light - hitting Chuck Cottier hit two homers off Ford and drove in four runs.

Cottier, hitting only .201 going ingo the doubleheader, hit his fourth homer of the season with the bases empty in the fifth inning, pulling the Senators into a 4-4 tie. His fifth, also against the Yanks' struggling left-handed ace, came with two on in the sixth and broke a 5-5 tie.

Tigers Wallop Red Sox, 10-1

DETROIT (UPI) — George Smith, playing in only his second major league game, slashed two doubles and a triple Tuesday night and drove in three runs to lead Frank Lary and the Detroit Tigers to a 10-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Smith, called up from Syracuse Sunday to replace injured second baseman Jake Wood, also scored a pair of runs.

He received ample hitting support from Lary, the hard-luck pitcher who spent most of the season at Knoxville with a bad arm.

Lary, now 2-5, drove in a pair of runs with two singles and a perfectly executed squeeze bunt.

Rocky Colvaito hit his 16th homer in the eighth with a man on. The Tigers got to Red Sox starter Earl Wilson, now 9-12, for single runs in the first and second innings, then added two more in the fourth, three in the fifth and two in the eighth.

The 16 hits rapped out by the Tigers was their highest total of the season. In addition, the Tigers played errorless ball for the 11th consecutive game, setting an American League record and tying Cincinnati's major league record.

Griffith Testifies Butts Furnished Bryant Only Plays Georgia Used

Georgia Coach Defense Witness In Libel Trial

By DON McKEE

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgia football Coach Johnny Griffith testified Tuesday that information allegedly passed to a rival coach disclosed the only two playing formations employed by his squad in their 1962 opener against Alabama.

Griffith took the stand as a witness for Curtis Publishing Co., in its defense against a $10 million libel suit by Wally Butts, former Georgia athletic director. The Saturday Evening Post, published by Curtis, has charged that Butts gave Georgia football secrets to Coach Paul Bryant of Alabama.

Griffith was questioned about notes allegedly taken by an insurance salesman who said he overheard Butts give information to Bryant in a telephone conversation last September.

However, on cross-examination the coach said a description for one of the plays involved was used during his first year as head coach in 1961. He also testified that neither of the two formations was new but that both had been employed in previous seasons.

Griffith said in his opinion it would be helpful to an opponent to know that Georgia would use only the two formations described in the notes.

Butts' attorney, William H. Schroder Jr., attacked Griffith's testimony in an attempt to show that the Georgia team was not prepared for the game against Alabama.

Going over the scoring plays—Alabama won 35-0 — Griffith admitted that the first three touchdowns were scored because of errors or weakness on the part of Georgia players.

Earlier, Welborn B. Cody, Atlanta attorney for Curtis, said he could prove that Butts made numerous calls to persons engaged in gambling.

But Cody added: "We do not say that Coach Butts gambled."

Cody brought up gambling in the second day of the trial of Butts' suit against Curtis, publishers of the Saturday Evening Post which in a March issue charged that Butts rigged a football game.

Cody argued before U.S. District Judge Lewis R. Morgan that he wanted to identify by a witness a list of telephone calls made by Butts. Cody said his purpose was to prepare for defense against one part of the libel suit.

In the suit, Butts contends the Post charged him with seeking to benefit by gambling.

Cody said the list of calls in question included "a tremendous number of calls to several different parties who I can prove were engaged in gambling."

Schroder countered with a challenge for Cody to prove his statement.

Cody's statement followed testimony by University of Georgia comptroller-treasurer J. D. Bolton, who told of Butts being confronted with accusations against him at a meeting of university officials Jan. 29.

Bolton said Butts confirmed the story of Atlanta insurance salesman George P. Burnett, who said he overheard a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant last Sept. 13.

According to Burnett, Butts — then athletic director at Georgia—passed on to Bryant information about Georgia's football team. Burnett said he took notes which were introduced in evidenec Tuesday.

Bolton said the notes were shown to Butts at the meeting Jan. 29.

"Coach Butts looked at the notes and said, 'No doubt the guy heard what he said he heard—I don't blame him for placing the interpretation on it that he did.'

"'If I had been in his place," Bolton quoted Butts, "'I would have done the same thing. But he was mistaken.

"'You know I would not give anything to hurt Georgia . . . if I did give anything to hurt Georgia, it was not intentional.'"

Under cross-examination, Bolton quoted Butts as saying:

"You know I wouldn't give Old Bear anything to help him."

Bolton said Butts handed in his resignation the following day, effective Feb. 28. The university official testified that when Butts stepped down as football coach in January 1961, university President O. C. Aderhold made it plain Butts "would have no responsibility for coaching."

Emmanuel Scores 19th Church Win

Emmanuel Methodist, behind the two-hit pitching of "Babe" Crabtree, defeated Potomac Park EUB 7-1 yesterday for its 19th Inter-Church Softball League victory in 22 starts.

Second Baptist upended Old Furnace 6-2 at Rolling Mill Field, and First Methodist scored an 8-1 triumph over Living Stone on its home field. Zion Methodist won by forfeit over First Christian.

Crabtree, league strikeout king, fanned 13 Potomac Park batsmen yesterday. He also shared hitting honors with James Malone, each with two safeties.

Bob Hershberger sparked First Methodist at the plate with a home run and three singles in five appearances. Ron Barb also homered for the winners.

Gurley's wound up its regular schedule in the High School Rec Baseball League by registering its sixth straight win at the expense of the pennant-winning V.F.W. tossers yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 7-2.

Bill Rawnsley outpitched Larry Wolfe to make his record 6-5 for the campaign. Rawnsley fanned seven and failed to issue a pass while Wolfe also whiffed seven and gave up six bases on balls.

Al Delbrugge, Dave Merrill and Lonnie Lewis shared six of the winning team's nine hits and Jimmy Graham blasted a triple. Delbrugge excelled at the keystone hassock for Gurley's which finished the season tied with the Forty & Eight Club for third place.

Bob Brady and Eddie Lease collected two hits each and Alan Foley smacked a three-bagger for the losers.

At Municipal Field, the Forty & Eight Club downed Bernstein's by the score of 13-8, with Tommy Zembower getting the win and Tom Stitcher being tagged with the loss.

John Roy was the hitting star with a homer and two-bagger and six runs batted in while Vince DelaGrange collected a triple and two singles. Stitcher accounted for three of Bernstein's seven hits.

The best-of-three playoff semifinals open Friday at 5:45 p.m., with Gurley's at the V.F.W. at Municipal Field and the Forty & Eight Club at the Toy Shop at Fort Hill. The second games are set for Saturday at Municipal Field with the Toy Shop opposing the Forty & Eight Club at 1 p.m., and the V.F.W. battling Gurley's at 4 p.m.

If third games are necessary they will be staged Sunday at Municipal Field. At 1 p.m., the Toy Shop plays the Forty & Eight Club and at 4 p.m., the V.F.W. tackles Gurley's. The teams will flip a coin to determine the home teams in the third and deciding contests. The playoff finals, best-of-three, will be held next Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

Gentile Belts Two Home Runs In 6-4 Victory

Roberts Rings Up 5th Straight Win Over Cleveland

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Gentile, deposed Baltimore clean-up hitter, knocked in four runs with a pair of homers and powered the Orioles to a 6-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night.

The big first baseman's three-run homer capped a five-run first inning rally as Cleveland starter Barry Latman failed to retire any of the five batters he faced. Gentile's leadoff homer in the sixth off Pete Ramos was the only other hit allowed by three Indian relief pitchers.

Gentile, who has batted in his customary fourth position only twice in the past 17 games because of a slump, increased his season homer output to 19 with his twin blasts. The first homer came after consecutive singles by Luis Aparicio, Russ Snyder, Boog Powell and John Orsino.

Robin Roberts, with relief help from Stu Miller, won his fifth straight game for Baltimore and 11th of the season. He has lost nine.

After allowing a first inning run on two singles, a walk and a force play, Roberts was touched for the three solo homers — by Woodie Held in the second, and Fred Whitfield in the sixth and eighth innings.

Miller relieved Roberts after Whitfield's second homer and picked up his 17th save. He permitted one hit in 1 1-3 innings while preserving Roberts' 255th career victory.

Reds Win Opener From Phils, 6-4

BULLETIN

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Dennis Bennett's air-tight hurling and three doubles by Johnny Callison spearheaded the Philadelphia Phillies to a 7-1 victory over Cincinnati Tuesday night after the Reds took the 10-inning opener of a doubleheader, 6-4.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Cincinnati capitalized on two mistakes by Philadelphia reliefer Jack Baldschun to gain a 6-4 victory in 10 innings in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader.

Baldschun opened the gates for the Reds by dropping Frank Torre's throw on an infield grounder that allowed Marty Keough to reach first safely. Catcher John Edwards then slammed a double to left to score Keough. Later in the frame, Edwards came home from third when Baldschun uncorked a wild pitch.

Tigers, Dodgers, Cubs Triumph In Dapper Dan Games

The pennant winning Tigers of the Dan Division wound up their regular season in the Dapper Dan Little League with a 13-1 record by trimming the Angels yesterday at Constitution Park by the score of 11-4.

The Tigers racked up an even dozen safeties, four of which were credited to Merv Uhl. Tommy Geatz garnered three hits and Jeff Storr larruped a triple. Drake Pope had two hits for the Angels and John Genevie and David Duckworth rapped two-base hits.

In a morning game at Constitution Park, the Cubs defeated the Pirates by the score of 10-7 in a Dapper Division tilt. The Bucaneers finished the season in fourth place with a 7-7 record.

Bob Lewis had a two-base hit for the Pirates while Pat Bailey slammed a pair of triples and Roger Everly also socked a three-bagger for the victors.

In an extra inning battle at Dapper Dan Field, the Dodgers eked out an 11-10 decision over the Senators.

The Senators exploded for 10 runs in the 5th inning to take a 10-9 lead but the Dodgers knotted the count at 10-all in the bottom of the 6th frame.

Jeff Sterne's leadoff double and Jimmy Daum's long single to centerfield after two out produced the winning tally in the bottom of the 7th inning. Sterne, who followed Daum and Bobby Martin to the rubber, received credit for the win.

Daum slammed a homer, double and single to pace the Dodger's 12-hit attack. Bobby Fields, Mark Nies and Sandy Miller garnered two hits each. Whetzel and Drenning shared four of the Senator's nine safeties.

The Dodgers clinched third place in the Dan Division with a 9-5 record.

Athletics Edge White Sox, 4-3

KANSAS CITY (UPI) —Pinch-hitter George Alusik singled home the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning Tuesday night to give the Kansas City Athletics a 4-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Alusik's hit hung the seventh loss against two victories on Hoyt Wilhelm, although Jim Brosnan was on the mound at the time. After Wilhelm opened the inning by striking out Gino Cimoli, the third strike got away from catcher Camilo Carreon and Cimoli was safe at first.

Cimoli advanced to second on a wild pitch and this brought in Brosnan, who got Ken Harrelson to ground out. Then Alusik hit through the box to centerfield.

Rule Gets $5,300, Palmer Sets Pace

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Jack Rule Jr. collected $5,300 in winning last weekend's St. Paul Open Golf Tournament, but Arnold Palmer's status as the top pro golf money earner was not disturbed.

Palmer, with $96,995 for 17 tourneys this year, was still well ahead of Jack Nicklaus, the No. 2 winner at $79,590.

Don Cardwell Beats Braves By Score 3-0

McBean's Relief Pitching In 9th Saves Shutout

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Righthander Don Cardwell, with relief help from Alvin McBean in the ninth inning, pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-0 victory Tuesday night over the Milwaukee Braves.

Cardwell, registering his eighth victory against 12 defeats, had a three-hitter going into the ninth inning, but surrendered a single to Hank Aaron and walked Joe Torre.

McBean came in at that point to get Gene Oliver to hit into a force play and Denis Menke ended the game by grounding into a double play.

After Bill Virdon walked, Bob Sadowski replaced Denny LeMaster and yielded a single to Johnny Logan as Pagliaroni scored the third Pirate run.

Jaycees Top Rotary, 11-5

Steve Walters Bags 8th Win Of Season

The Jaycees retained their 1½ games edged over the Cumberland Optimists in the battle for the second place playoff berth in the Stoves Division of the Hot Stove League by trimming the Rotary Club last evening by the score of 11-5 in the opener of a twin bill at Penn Avenue Field.

Cumberland Optimists stayed on the heels of the Jaycees, however, by defeating the Bedford Road Optimists in the nightcap affair by the score of 11-6.

The Jaycees are 12-8 with two games remaining while the Cumberland Optimists (11-10) have only one game to play.

Steve Walters went all the way for the Jaycees to notch his eighth victory against a single setback. He scattered seven hits and struck out ten. Six of the Jaycees 11 safeties were shared by Walters, Gary Hixenbaugh and Mark Lindner. Walters and Hixenbaugh banged a triple and single each.

Ernie Elliott wen the route for the Rotarians and whiffed six. Jimmy Bennett belted a homer and double, Ed Hollen had a two-bagger and single and Steve Snoots also had a pair of one-base knocks.

Roy Hare had a perfect day at bat for the Cumberland Optimists with four hits to his credit. Larry Martin slammed a triple and Ralph Leasure and Oscar Lewis had two singles each.

Shantz Puts Out Fire As Cards Edge Mets, 4-3

NEW YORK (UPI) — Little Bobby Shantz checked an eighth inning threat and went on to preserve Ron Taylor's sixth victory of the season Tuesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals scored a 4-3 triumph over the New York Mets.

It was the Mets' 15th defeat in their last 17 games. They also suffered the loss of hard-hitting catcher Jesse Gonder, who incurred a torn ligament in his left side while running out a grounder in the third inning. The Mets said Gonder, whose 14 game hitting streak was ended, would be sidelined for three or four days.

The Cardinals scored the winning run off starter Galen Cisco in the fifth inning when Dick Groat singled, went to second when Bill White walked, and came around on Ken Boyer's single.

That boosted the Cardinals' early lead to 4-1 but the Mets tallied once in the fifth on Larry Bearnarth's double, an infield out and Ron Hunt's sacrifice fly and reduced St. Louis' lead to one run in the sixth on Jim Hickman's double and Duke Carmel's single.

Shantz took over with one out and one on in the eighth inning and retired the side with the help of his own excellent fielding play on Joe Christopher's slow grounder. The loss was Cisco's 10th against seven wins.

Freak Accident Nearly Costs Golfer His Life

TORONTO (AP) — Harold Kalles, 41-year old golfer who escaped death when a broken five-iron slashed his jugular vein in a freak accident Monday, was in satisfactory condition in a hospital Tusday.

Kalles was blasting out of the rough at Oakdale Golf and Country Club when his club snapped against a tree. The shattered end flew up and pierced his neck.

Dr. Marvin J. Lester, playing nearby, applied pressure to the wound to stop the flow of blood while Kalles was taken first to the pro shop and later to a hospital.

Washington Splits With Yankees, Orioles And Pirates Win

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stan Williams tossed a brilliant one-hit, 1-0 shutout at the Washington Senators Tuesday night, enabling the New York Yankees to split a doubleheader after the Senators had bombed Whitey Ford with four home runs and handed him his third straight loss in the opener, 8-5.

Williams, who last went the distance April 14 in his first start with the Yankees, struck out 11 and walked one. The lone hit off the hulking, former Los Angeles Dodger was Don Blasingame's double down the left field line in the third inning. He was the only Senator to go as far as second.

The Yanks' run off loser Bennie Daniels came in the eighth on a triple by Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson's sacrifice fly.

In the opener, light - hitting Chuck Cottier hit two homers off Ford and drove in four runs.

Cottier, hitting only .201 going ingo the doubleheader, hit his fourth homer of the season with the bases empty in the fifth inning, pulling the Senators into a 4-4 tie. His fifth, also against the Yanks' struggling left-handed ace, came with two on in the sixth and broke a 5-5 tie.

Tigers Wallop Red Sox, 10-1

DETROIT (UPI) — George Smith, playing in only his second major league game, slashed two doubles and a triple Tuesday night and drove in three runs to lead Frank Lary and the Detroit Tigers to a 10-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Smith, called up from Syracuse Sunday to replace injured second baseman Jake Wood, also scored a pair of runs.

He received ample hitting support from Lary, the hard-luck pitcher who spent most of the season at Knoxville with a bad arm.

Lary, now 2-5, drove in a pair of runs with two singles and a perfectly executed squeeze bunt.

Rocky Colvaito hit his 16th homer in the eighth with a man on. The Tigers got to Red Sox starter Earl Wilson, now 9-12, for single runs in the first and second innings, then added two more in the fourth, three in the fifth and two in the eighth.

The 16 hits rapped out by the Tigers was their highest total of the season. In addition, the Tigers played errorless ball for the 11th consecutive game, setting an American League record and tying Cincinnati's major league record.

Griffith Testifies Butts Furnished Bryant Only Plays Georgia Used

Georgia Coach Defense Witness In Libel Trial

By DON McKEE

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgia football Coach Johnny Griffith testified Tuesday that information allegedly passed to a rival coach disclosed the only two playing formations employed by his squad in their 1962 opener against Alabama.

Griffith took the stand as a witness for Curtis Publishing Co., in its defense against a $10 million libel suit by Wally Butts, former Georgia athletic director. The Saturday Evening Post, published by Curtis, has charged that Butts gave Georgia football secrets to Coach Paul Bryant of Alabama.

Griffith was questioned about notes allegedly taken by an insurance salesman who said he overheard Butts give information to Bryant in a telephone conversation last September.

However, on cross-examination the coach said a description for one of the plays involved was used during his first year as head coach in 1961. He also testified that neither of the two formations was new but that both had been employed in previous seasons.

Griffith said in his opinion it would be helpful to an opponent to know that Georgia would use only the two formations described in the notes.

Butts' attorney, William H. Schroder Jr., attacked Griffith's testimony in an attempt to show that the Georgia team was not prepared for the game against Alabama.

Going over the scoring plays—Alabama won 35-0 — Griffith admitted that the first three touchdowns were scored because of errors or weakness on the part of Georgia players.

Earlier, Welborn B. Cody, Atlanta attorney for Curtis, said he could prove that Butts made numerous calls to persons engaged in gambling.

But Cody added: "We do not say that Coach Butts gambled."

Cody brought up gambling in the second day of the trial of Butts' suit against Curtis, publishers of the Saturday Evening Post which in a March issue charged that Butts rigged a football game.

Cody argued before U.S. District Judge Lewis R. Morgan that he wanted to identify by a witness a list of telephone calls made by Butts. Cody said his purpose was to prepare for defense against one part of the libel suit.

In the suit, Butts contends the Post charged him with seeking to benefit by gambling.

Cody said the list of calls in question included "a tremendous number of calls to several different parties who I can prove were engaged in gambling."

Schroder countered with a challenge for Cody to prove his statement.

Cody's statement followed testimony by University of Georgia comptroller-treasurer J. D. Bolton, who told of Butts being confronted with accusations against him at a meeting of university officials Jan. 29.

Bolton said Butts confirmed the story of Atlanta insurance salesman George P. Burnett, who said he overheard a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant last Sept. 13.

According to Burnett, Butts — then athletic director at Georgia—passed on to Bryant information about Georgia's football team. Burnett said he took notes which were introduced in evidenec Tuesday.

Bolton said the notes were shown to Butts at the meeting Jan. 29.

"Coach Butts looked at the notes and said, 'No doubt the guy heard what he said he heard—I don't blame him for placing the interpretation on it that he did.'

"'If I had been in his place," Bolton quoted Butts, "'I would have done the same thing. But he was mistaken.

"'You know I would not give anything to hurt Georgia . . . if I did give anything to hurt Georgia, it was not intentional.' "

Under cross-examination, Bolton quoted Butts as saying:

Bolton said Butts handed in his resignation the following day, effective Feb. 28. The university official testified that when Butts stepped down as football coach in January 1961, university President O. C. Aderhold made it plain Butts "would have no responsibility for coaching."

Gurley's wound up its regular schedule in the High School Rec Baseball League by registering its sixth straight win at the expense of the pennant-winning V.F.W. tossers yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 7-2.

Bill Rawnsley outpitched Larry Wolfe to make his record 6-5 for the campaign. Rawnsley fanned seven and failed to issue a pass while Wolfe also whiffed seven and gave up six bases on balls.

Al Delbrugge, Dave Merrill and Lonnie Lewis shared six of the winning team's nine hits and Jimmy Graham blasted a triple. Delbrugge excelled at the keystone hassock for Gurley's which finished the season tied with the Forty & Eight Club for third place.

Bob Brady and Eddie Lease collected two hits each and Alan Foley smacked a three-bagger for the losers.

At Municipal Field, the Forty & Eight Club downed Bernstein's by the score of 13-8, with Tommy Zembower getting the win and Tom Stitcher being tagged with the loss.

John Roy was the hitting star with a homer and two-bagger and six runs batted in while Vince DelaGrange collected a triple and two singles. Stitcher accounted for three of Bernstein's seven hits.

The best-of-three playoff semifinals open Friday at 5:45 p.m., with Gurley's at the V.F.W. at Municipal Field and the Forty & Eight Club at the Toy Shop at Fort Hill. The second games are set for Saturday at Municipal Field with the Toy Shop opposing the Forty & Eight Club at 1 p.m., and the V.F.W. battling Gurley's at 4 p.m.

If third games are necessary they will be staged Sunday at Municipal Field. At 1 p.m., the Toy Shop plays the Forty & Eight Club and at 4 p.m., the V.F.W. tackles Gurley's. The teams will flip a coin to determine the home teams in the third and deciding contests. The playoff finals, best-of-three, will be held next Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

Gentile Belts Two Home Runs In 6-4 Victory

Roberts Rings Up 5th Straight Win Over Cleveland

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Gentile, deposed Baltimore clean-up hitter, knocked in four runs with a pair of homers and powered the Orioles to a 6-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night.

The big first baseman's three-run homer capped a five-run first inning rally as Cleveland starter Barry Latman failed to retire any of the five batters he faced. Gentile's leadoff homer in the sixth off Pete Ramos was the only other hit allowed by three Indian relief pitchers.

Gentile, who has batted in his customary fourth position only twice in the past 17 games because of a slump, increased his season homer output to 19 with his twin blasts. The first homer came after consecutive singles by Luis Aparicio, Russ Snyder, Boog Powell and John Orsino.

Robin Roberts, with relief help from Stu Miller, won his fifth straight game for Baltimore and 11th of the season. He has lost nine.

After allowing a first inning run on two singles, a walk and a force play, Roberts was touched for the three solo homers — by Woodie Held in the second, and Fred Whitfield in the sixth and eighth innings.

Miller relieved Roberts after Whitfield's second homer and picked up his 17th save. He permitted one hit in 1 1-3 innings while preserving Roberts' 255th career victory.

Reds Win Opener From Phils, 6-4

BULLETIN

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Dennis Bennett's air-tight hurling and three doubles by Johnny Callison spearheaded the Philadelphia Phillies to a 7-1 victory over Cincinnati Tuesday night after the Reds took the 10-inning opener of a doubleheader, 6-4.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Cincinnati capitalized on two mistakes by Philadelphia reliefer Jack Baldschun to gain a 6-4 victory in 10 innings in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader.

Baldschun opened the gates for the Reds by dropping Frank Torre's throw on an infield grounder that allowed Marty Keough to reach first safely. Catcher John Edwards then slammed a double to left to score Keough. Later in the frame, Edwards came home from third when Baldschun uncorked a wild pitch.

Tigers, Dodgers, Cubs Triumph In Dapper Dan Games

The pennant winning Tigers of the Dan Division wound up their regular season in the Dapper Dan Little League with a 13-1 record by trimming the Angels yesterday at Constitution Park by the score of 11-4.

The Tigers racked up an even dozen safeties, four of which were credited to Merv Uhl. Tommy Geatz garnered three hits and Jeff Storr larruped a triple. Drake Pope had two hits for the Angels and John Genevie and David Duckworth rapped two-base hits.

In a morning game at Constitution Park, the Cubs defeated the Pirates by the score of 10-7 in a Dapper Division tilt. The Bucaneers finished the season in fourth place with a 7-7 record.

Wayne Hill received credit for the win while Ronnie Golden absorbed the loss.

Bob Lewis had a two-base hit for the Pirates while Pat Bailey slammed a pair of triples and Roger Everly also socked a three-bagger for the victors.

In an extra inning battle at Dapper Dan Field, the Dodgers eked out an 11-10 decision over the Senators.

The Senators exploded for 10 runs in the 5th inning to take a 10-9 lead but the Dodgers knotted the count at 10-all in the bottom of the 6th frame.

Jeff Sterne's leadoff double and Jimmy Daum's long single to centerfield after two out produced the winning tally in the bottom of the 7th inning. Sterne, who followed Daum and Bobby Martin to the rubber, received credit for the win.

Daum slammed a homer, double and single to pace the Dodger's 12-hit attack. Bobby Fields, Mark Nies and Sandy Miller garnered two hits each. Whetzel and Drenning shared four of the Senator's nine safeties.

The Dodgers clinched third place in the Dan Division with a 9-5 record.

Athletics Edge White Sox, 4-3

KANSAS CITY (UPI) —Pinch-hitter George Alusik singled home the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning Tuesday night to give the Kansas City Athletics a 4-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Alusik's hit hung the seventh loss against two victories on Hoyt Wilhelm, although Jim Brosnan was on the mound at the time. After Wilhelm opened the inning by striking out Gino Cimoli, the third strike got away from catcher Camilo Carreon and Cimoli was safe at first.

Cimoli advanced to second on a wild pitch and this brought in Brosnan, who got Ken Harrelson to ground out. Then Alusik hit through the box to centerfield.

Don Cardwell Beats Braves By Score 3-0

McBean's Relief Pitching In 9th Saves Shutout

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Righthander Don Cardwell, with relief help from Alvin McBean in the ninth inning, pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-0 victory Tuesday night over the Milwaukee Braves.

Cardwell, registering his eighth victory against 12 defeats, had a three-hitter going into the ninth inning, but surrendered a single to Hank Aaron and walked Joe Torre.

McBean came in at that point to get Gene Oliver to hit into a force play and Denis Menke ended the game by grounding into a double play.

After Bill Virdon walked, Bob Sadowski replaced Denny LeMaster and yielded a single to Johnny Logan as Pagliaroni scored the third Pirate run.

Jaycees Top Rotary, 11-5

Steve Walters Bags 8th Win Of Season

The Jaycees retained their 1½ games edged over the Cumberland Optimists in the battle for the second place playoff berth in the Stoves Division of the Hot Stove League by trimming the Rotary Club last evening by the score of 11-5 in the opener of a twin bill at Penn Avenue Field.

Cumberland Optimists stayed on the heels of the Jaycees, however, by defeating the Bedford Road Optimists in the nightcap affair by the score of 11-6.

The Jaycees are 12-8 with two games remaining while the Cumberland Optimists (11-10) have only one game to play.

Steve Walters went all the way for the Jaycees to notch his eighth victory against a single setback. He scattered seven hits and struck out ten. Six of the Jaycees 11 safeties were shared by Walters, Gary Hixenbaugh and Mark Lindner. Walters and Hixenbaugh banged a triple and single each.

Ernie Elliott wen the route for the Rotarians and whiffed six. Jimmy Bennett belted a homer and double, Ed Hollen had a two-bagger and single and Steve Snoots also had a pair of one-base knocks.

Roy Hare had a perfect day at bat for the Cumberland Optimists with four hits to his credit. Larry Martin slammed a triple and Ralph Leasure and Oscar Lewis had two singles each.

Shantz Puts Out Fire As Cards Edge Mets, 4-3

NEW YORK (UPI) — Little Bobby Shantz checked an eighth inning threat and went on to preserve Ron Taylor's sixth victory of the season Tuesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals scored a 4-3 triumph over the New York Mets.

It was the Mets' 15th defeat in their last 17 games. They also suffered the loss of hard-hitting catcher Jesse Gonder, who incurred a torn ligament in his left side while running out a grounder in the third inning. The Mets said Gonder, whose 14 game hitting streak was ended, would be sidelined for three or four days.

The Cardinals scored the winning run off starter Galen Cisco in the fifth inning when Dick Groat singled, went to second when Bill White walked, and came around on Ken Boyer's single.

That boosted the Cardinals' early lead to 4-1 but the Mets tallied once in the fifth on Larry Bearnarth's double, an infield out and Ron Hunt's sacrifice fly and reduced St. Louis' lead to one run in the sixth on Jim Hickman's double and Duke Carmel's single.

Shantz took over with one out and one on in the eighth inning and retired the side with the help of his own excellent fielding play on Joe Christopher's slow grounder. The loss was Cisco's 10th against seven wins.

Freak Accident Nearly Costs Golfer His Life

TORONTO (AP) — Harold Kalles, 41-year old golfer who escaped death when a broken five-iron slashed his jugular vein in a freak accident Monday, was in satisfactory condition in a hospital Tusday.

Kalles was blasting out of the rough at Oakdale Golf and Country Club when his club snapped against a tree. The shattered end flew up and pierced his neck.

Dr. Marvin J. Lester, playing nearby, applied pressure to the wound to stop the flow of blood while Kalles was taken first to the pro shop and later to a hospital.

Mt. Savage Invades Frostburg Today For Crucial Pen-Mar Battle

Flag Contenders Clash In Sixth Game Of Series

Hermans To Visit Hyndman; Exports Host Lonaconing

The race for the Pen-Mar Baseball League pennant has narrowed down to two teams, namely, Mt. Savage and Frostburg, and they'll battle it out in the sixth and final game of their series today at 6 p.m. at Frostburg.

Mt. Savage (19-7) leads Frostburg (16-9) by 2½ games. The Old Germans have only four remaining on their schedule while the merchants have five. The season ends Sunday, August 25.

If Mt. Savage Wins

A Mt. Savage victory today would almost clinch the pennant for the Old Germans. The league leaders would then be 3½ games in front and would need only one more victory in their three remaining games to clinch it even though Frostburg would make a four-game sweep.

Last season Frostburg and Mt. Savage wound up the pennant race in a 16-8 deadlock and in the playoff for the flag the Old Gees won 4-3. Then Mt. Savage bagged playoff honors by winning four straight from Grantsville and Frostburg.

During the regular 1962 campaign Frostburg copped three out of four games from Mt. Savage.

Frostburg Holds 4-1 Edge

This season Frostburg has taken four out of five games from Mt. Savage, winning 9-5, 6-3, 7-5 and 7-6 while losing by the score of 13-8.

Cumberland (14-12) and Lonaconing (13-13) are out of the pennant race but they'll be in the playoffs.

Hermans Visit Hyndman

The Hermans, victorious in their last four outings against Frostburg, Hyndman, Lonaconing and Frostburg the second time, visit Hyndman today while the Barrelville Old Exports host Lonaconing.

Cumberland has won 4 out of 5 games from Hyndman while Lonaconing has taken 4 out of 5 from barrelville.

Barrelville's record is 7-17 while Hyndman has won seven and lost 18.

Cresaptown	2	16	.111

Cresaptown Tri-State reeled off its 17th consecutive victory by clobbering the LaVale Maroons, 21-0, the LaVale Orioles nosed out Corriganville, 7-6, and Wellersburg eked out a 4-3 decision over the Cresaptown Eagles yesterday in the Pen-Mar Little League.

Bobby Deremer wound up the campaign with a 9-0 record by firing a three-hitter at the Maroons and mowed down 13 via the strikeout route. Rich Underwood, losing pitcher, and Glenn Twigg struck out eight Tri-State batsmen.

Tri-State collected 13 hits, including a double and two singles by Dave Moreland. Rod Long, Ricky Wolford and Deremer garnered two hits each and Dwight Cowgill belted a triple. Billy Piquett, Rich Underwood and "Chip" Zimmer collected the Maroons hits.

Wayne Miller, who started on the rubber for Corriganville struck out 12 but Ricky Kauffman, who replaced him in the 7th inning was charged with the loss. Sam Schwab homered for the Orioles and Wayne Miller rapped a triple and double for the Corgs.

Larry Huffman's single, following two bases on balls produced the tie-breaking run in the 6th inning as Wellersburg edged Cresaptown. Dave Petenbrink connected for a triple and single and Neil Robinette had a pair of singles for Wellersburg while Dave Brown of the Eagles hammered a homer, three-base hit and single.

The regular league season was to have been concluded but there is a possibility that Corriganville and Tri-State will play off a postponed game on Thursday at Cresaptown. Scores:

Liston-Clay Bout This Year Is Off Due To Tax Problems

Champ To Consider December Go With Another Challenger

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)-Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston Tuesday postponed until "sometime next year" his proposed September Philadelphia title defense against young Cassius Clay because of tax problems but said he would consider a December defense on home-television against some other challenger.

To open discussions about the December defense, probably against Chicago giant Ernie Terrell, Liston said he would go to New York Wednesday to talk with promoter Harry Markson of Madison Square Garden and Teddy Brenner.

In New York, Clay said he was "gravely disappointed that I won't be the youngest heavyweight champion in history, because that big, ugly bear is afraid of me."

"He's scared to death of me," said the 21-year-old Clay. "I'm no Floyd Patterson. He's afraid of this little old kid beating him. A little kid, who doesn't even shave yet.

Want Discusssion

Markson said he and Brenner will be glad to "sit down socially" with big Sonny and discuss possibilities of a home-television defense. But he stressed:

"We cannot do any business with Sonny about a fight in New York until he obtains a New York state license, out of regard to the New York State Athletic Commission. But he should have no difficulty getting a New York license now since his conduct as champion has reflected nothing but credit to boxing."

On April 27, 1962, the New York commission denied a license to Liston because of previous run-ins with the law. That ruling caused Liston's first title fight with the then champion Floyd Patterson to be shifted from New York to Chicago, where Sonny won the title last Sept. 25, on a first-round knockout. He kept the crown on another first round kayo at Las Vegas, Nev., July 22.

At Louisville, Ky., the attorney for the group which controls Clay said that Liston's announcement "comes as a surprise but no big disappointment."

Both Could Benefit

Gordon Davidson Jr., acting as Clay's manager in the absence of Bill Faversham, said the postponement might be beneficial to both fighters, from a tax standpoint.

CCC Golf Team At Johnstown

Undefeated Locals Seek 5th Straight

The men's golf team of the Cumberland Country Club will be angling for its fifth consecutive win of the season today when it plays a return match with the North Fork Country Club at Johnstown, Pa.

Since opening the season with a 19½-19½ tie match at Martinsburg, W. Va., the CCC linksmen have beaten Maplehurst, 39½ to 20½, North Fork 43-14, Maplehurst 37-32 and Kingwood, W. Va., 33½ to 11½.

At home the CCC is 2-0 while on the road the locals have won two and played a tie.

Thirty-six players will represent the Cumberland Country Club in today's match which will get underway following luncheon at noon.

Old Exports Down Sports Shoppe, 4-1, In Playoff Opener

The Old Exports started off with three runs in the top of the first inning, then coasted behind the steady pitching of Gene Hess for a 4-1 victory over Sports Shoppe in the opener of their Rec Softball League semi-final series yesterday at Stitcher Field.

The best-of-three set continues today at Post Field at 6:15 p.m. The Pepsis and Old Germans tangle today at Stitcher Field at 6:15 in the second game of their series. The Pepsis won Monday's opener, 2-0.

Third games, if necessary, will be played on Friday and a flip of the coin will determine the home team.

Joe Biggs' two-run triple highlighted the Exports' first inning uprising yesterday. Ernie Rockwell then doubled to drive in Biggs. Jamie Taylor collected three hits for the winners, who finished second during the regular season play.

Sports Shoppe's only run came on a first inning homer by Joe DiNicola. Stumbaugh's three-bagger was the only other extra-base hit among the four safeties yielded by Hess, who struck out seven batters.

The linescores:

VFW came from behind for a 6-5 victory over the Caseys yesterday at Post Field to maintain a two-game edge over the Moose in the Rocking Chair Softball League pennant race. The latter team swamped C&P Phone, 18-1, at Naval Reserve Field, and the Elks nipped Rothe Heating, 2-1, at East Side.

The Caseys scored four runs in the top of the fifth inning to take a 5-2 lead over the league leaders, but the Vets came right back in the bottom of the frame with four tallies to put away their 20th victory against only two losses.

Ronnie Cage's second single of the evening scored the fourth and decisive run for VFW for the Vets, while Jimmy Collins collected three hits and Bill Briner bagged two for the Caseys.

Tom McLuckie, who went all the way for the Vets, registered his tenth straight victory and 11th in 12 starts this year. Starter Dick Klavuhn was the loser.

The Moose opened with a big bang, scoring ten runs in a first inning outburst featured by Bob Keyser's grand slam home run. Keyser also had a single in the winners' 20-hit attack. Bill Thompson hit a double and two singles, Junior Brelsford smashed a triple and single, and Paul McGregor had two hits including a two-bagger. Partlow singled twice for C&P.

Leo Rhodes gained the decision over Niles Shuck in the Elks-Rothe struggle. Pooch Orndorff enjoyed a perfect day at the plate in three trips, and Tom McConnell smacked a double and single for the Elks. Galen McGregor had two hits for Rothe.

Barrelville Notches 12th Win In Row

Old Germans Drub National Jet, 17-1

Having clinched the County Softball League pennant last Friday, the Barrelville Old Germans began warming up for the playoffs yesterday with a runaway 17-1 triumph over National Jet at Narrows Park.

Stringtown tripped Corriganville, 5-2, at the latter place in a battle for second place, and Hyndman scored a 14-6 victory at Kennell's Mill.

Bill Kenney twirled a two-hitter and the Old Germans backed him up with 24 hits in running their winning streak to 12 straight games. Barrelville has lost only four times in 27 starts this season.

Leroy Morris and Fay Often headed the assault with four hits each, the latter including a triple and double in his output. Ronnie Neubeiser and Sonny Glass had a double and two singles apiece. Smith and Fadley obtained National Jet's only hits.

Stringtown assured itself of at least a tie for second by beating Corriganville. Stringtown has a 15-12 mark and Corriganville is 18-9 with three games remaining.

Paul Stair limited the Corgs to three hits, walked only one and struck out five. Royce Waltman rapped a double and single, and Rich Lybarger singled twice for Stringtown. Dick Niner connected for a three-bagger for Corriganville.

Ray Bowser was Hyndman's slugging star with a pair of two-run homers. Vohn Lehman came through with a pair of triples, and Don Logue and Bill Clayton obtained three hits apiece. "Pep" May tagged two doubles, Clyde Kennell a double and single, and Sam Bittner had two singles for Kennell's Mill.

Johnny Buckley, Fight Manager, Taken By Death

Piloted Brouillard, Sharkey And Pender

BOSTON (AP) — Johnny Buckley, one of the last of the vanishing breed of oldtime fight managers and the man who guided Jack Sharkey, Lou Brouillard and Paul Pender to world boxing titles, died Tuesday.

Buckley, who was 74, had been ill for several months before he died in St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

His last fight of prominence was the bout which brought Pender the world middleweight championship. He steered the former Brookline fireman from obscurity to a title fight with Sugar Ray Robinson in 1960.

Buckley's ringside voice could be heard in most of the nation's arenas as he yelled instructions to his fighters.

"I just keep telling them what to do," he once said. "Sometimes they get excited and don't think too good in the ring."

At Louisville, Ky., the attorney for the group which controls Clay said that Liston's announcement "comes as a surprise but no big disappointment."

Both Could Benefit

Gordon Davidson Jr., acting as Clay's manager in the absence of Bill Faversham, said the postponement might be beneficial to both fighters, from a tax standpoint.

CCC Golf Team At Johnstown

Undefeated Locals Seek 5th Straight

The men's golf team of the Cumberland Country Club will be angling for its fifth consecutive win of the season today when it plays a return match with the North Fork Country Club at Johnstown, Pa.

Since opening the season with a 19½-19½ tie match at Martinsburg, W. Va., the CCC linksmen have beaten Maplehurst, 39½ to 20½, North Fork 43-14, Maplehurst 37-32 and Kingwood, W. Va., 33½ to 11½.

At home the CCC is 2-0 while on the road the locals have won two and played a tie.

Thirty-six players will represent the Cumberland Country Club in today's match which will get underway following luncheon at noon.

Old Exports Down Sports Shoppe, 4-1, In Playoff Opener

The Old Exports started off with three runs in the top of the first inning, then coasted behind the steady pitching of Gene Hess for a 4-1 victory over Sports Shoppe in the opener of their Rec Softball League semi-final series yesterday at Stitcher Field.

The best-of-three set continues today at Post Field at 6:15 p.m. The Pepsis and Old Germans tangle today at Stitcher Field at 6:15 in the second game of their series. The Pepsis won Monday's opener, 2-0.

Third games, if necessary, will be played on Friday and a flip of the coin will determine the home team.

Joe Biggs' two-run triple highlighted the Exports' first inning uprising yesterday. Ernie Rockwell then doubled to drive in Biggs. Jamie Taylor collected three hits for the winners, who finished second during the regular season play.

Sports Shoppe's only run came on a first inning homer by Joe DiNicola. Stumbaugh's three-bagger was the only other extra-base hit among the four safeties yielded by Hess, who struck out seven batters.

VFW came from behind for a 6-5 victory over the Caseys yesterday at Post Field to maintain a two-game edge over the Moose in the Rocking Chair Softball League pennant race. The latter team swamped C&P Phone, 18-1, at Naval Reserve Field, and the Elks nipped Rothe Heating, 2-1, at East Side.

The Caseys scored four runs in the top of the fifth inning to take a 5-2 lead over the league leaders, but the Vets came right back in the bottom of the frame with four tallies to put away their 20th victory against only two losses.

Ronnie Cage's second single of the evening scored the fourth and decisive run for VFW for the Vets, while Jimmy Collins collected three hits and Bill Briner bagged two for the Caseys.

Tom McLuckie, who went all the way for the Vets, registered his tenth straight victory and 11th in 12 starts this year. Starter Dick Klavuhn was the loser.

The Moose opened with a big bang, scoring ten runs in a first inning outburst featured by Bob Keyser's grand slam home run. Keyser also had a single in the winners' 20-hit attack. Bill Thompson hit a double and two singles, Junior Brelsford smashed a triple and single, and Paul McGregor had two hits including a two-bagger. Partlow singled twice for C&P.

Leo Rhodes gained the decision over Niles Shuck in the Elks-Rothe struggle. Pooch Orndorff enjoyed a perfect day at the plate in three trips, and Tom McConnell smacked a double and single for the Elks. Galen McGregor had two hits for Rothe.

Barrelville Notches 12th Win In Row

Old Germans Drub National Jet, 17-1

Having clinched the County Softball League pennant last Friday, the Barrelville Old Germans began warming up for the playoffs yesterday with a runaway 17-1 triumph over National Jet at Narrows Park.

Stringtown tripped Corriganville, 5-2, at the latter place in a battle for second place, and Hyndman scored a 14-6 victory at Kennell's Mill.

Bill Kenney twirled a two-hitter and the Old Germans backed him up with 24 hits in running their winning streak to 12 straight games. Barrelville has lost only four times in 27 starts this season.

Leroy Morris and Fay Often headed the assault with four hits each, the latter including a triple and double in his output. Ronnie Neubeiser and Sonny Glass had a double and two singles apiece. Smith and Fadley obtained National Jet's only hits.

Stringtown assured itself of at least a tie for second by beating Corriganville. Stringtown has a 15-12 mark and Corriganville is 18-9 with three games remaining.

Paul Stair limited the Corgs to three hits, walked only one and struck out five. Royce Waltman rapped a double and single, and Rich Lybarger singled twice for Stringtown. Dick Niner connected for a three-bagger for Corriganville.

Ray Bowser was Hyndman's slugging star with a pair of two-run homers. Vohn Lehman came through with a pair of triples, and Don Logue and Bill Clayton obtained three hits apiece. "Pep" May tagged two doubles, Clyde Kennell a double and single, and Sam Bittner had two singles for Kennell's Mill.

Johnny Buckley, Fight Manager, Taken By Death

Piloted Brouillard, Sharkey And Pender

BOSTON (AP) — Johnny Buckley, one of the last of the vanishing breed of oldtime fight managers and the man who guided Jack Sharkey, Lou Brouillard and Paul Pender to world boxing titles, died Tuesday.

Buckley, who was 74, had been ill for several months before he died in St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

His last fight of prominence was the bout which brought Pender the world middleweight championship. He steered the former Brookline fireman from obscurity to a title fight with Sugar Ray Robinson in 1960.

Buckley's ringside voice could be heard in most of the nation's arenas as he yelled instructions to his fighters.

"I just keep telling them what to do," he once said. "Sometimes they get excited and don't think too good in the ring."

Frederick Defeats Easton, 4-3, Cops State Legion Junior Title

Lefty Jim Trout Fans 14, Victors Get Regional Berth

The undefeated Frederick squad wrapped up the title in the ninth inning with two out as Gary Himes singled, stole second and scored on Leo Duncan's single.

The victory gave Frederick a berth in next week's eastern regional tournament which will bring together state champions not yet named from New York, Delaware, New Jersey, West Virginia and Washington, D.C.

Lefthander Jim Trout survived a rocky start and went on to strike out 14 men for Frederick.

Easton got its runs on a pair of errors in the first inning and Jim Rauthley's double in the second. Phil Sewell, who had reached base on an error, came home on Rauthley's hit.

Frederick pecked away at righthander Don Saulsbury for single runs in the third and fourth innings. Tom Bichy tied the score in the eighth as he singled, stole second, took third on a fly ball and scored on a passed ball.

Legion ball is for players 19 and younger.

The regional tournament which opens here Aug. 14 will be double elimination, as was the state tournament. A team must lose twice to be out of contention.

Shula Makes Debut Saturday When Colts Meet Eagles

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Don Shula will make his debut as Baltimore head coach Saturday night as the Colts tangle with the Philadelphia Eagles at Hershey, Pa., stadium.

The Colts have won four out of eight National Football League encounters with the Eagles at their training site, including a 56-28 victory last year.

Shula will be looking at his offensive potential when the team takes to the field.

"We know that we have good passing and receiving. Now we want to develop better pass protection and get our running game going. Our blockers are going to have to get into position to pick up those blitzing linebackers."

"On the ground, we're still sorting out fullbacks," Shula said.

Fullmer Finishes Heavy Training

IBADAN, Nigeria (AP)—Brawny Gene Fullmer finished heavy training Tuesday for his title fight with middleweight champion Dick Tiger Saturday by boxing three spirited rounds with Milo Savage, his Utah sparring partner. Some 300 fans cheered the Amercian challenger after the workout.

The former champion from West Jordan, Utah, and Tiger, the pride and joy of Nigeria, will meet for the third time in a 15-rounder at Ibadan's Liberty Stadium.

"What's impressed me most about Nigeria is the hospitality and friendliness of the people," said Fullmer after the drill in the Ibadan University gym.

Wills Collects Four Hits In Dodgers' 4-1 Victory

Drysdale Tosses 6-Hitter At Cubs, Earns 14th Win

CHICAGO (UPI)—Maury Wills went four for five Tuesday, scoring once and driving in a run, to pace the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs, their sixth in seven games in Wrigley Field this year.

Don Drysdale blanked the Cubs until the sixth to earn his 14th win and his fourth in five starts against Chicago. It was the Dodgers' third straight victory.

Cubs starter Larry Jackson took his 10th loss and needed relief from Tom Baker and Don Elston in the seventh after the Dodgers had tallied all their runs on eight hits. It was Jackson's third loss to the Dodgers without a victory this season.

Wills scored on Jim Gilliam's sacrifice fly in the first inning and singled in the seventh t drive in Marv Breeding. Ron Fairly hit his 11th homer and the Dodgers got a single run in the fifth on a walk and two singles.

The Cubs failed to hit a home run for the first time in 10 games, and Billy Williams' consecutive game hitting streak ended at 12. Jim Schaffer extended his batting streak to seven games with a double and a single.

The game was halted twice by rain, once for seven minutes and the second time for 25 minutes.

14 Top Ranking Net Stars To Vie In M.A. Tourney

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fourteen of the nation's ranking tennis stars, headed by Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., open play Wednesday in the Middle Atlantic Lawn Tennis Association Championships.

Froehling, ranked No. 2 in the United States, has been seeded first in the 32-man field. The tourney at the Baltimore Country Club replaces the defunct Southhampton, N.Y. event on the grass court circuit this year.

Other ranking players include Donald Dell, No. 7, Roger Werksman, 14, Larry Nagler, 16, and Andy Lloyd 19.

The 22-year-old Barnes finished runnerup to Chuck McKinley, the No. 1 U.S. player and Wimbledon champion, in the Pennsylvania Lawn Tennis championships two weekends ago. Last April, Barnes won the Pan American Games title.

Froehling was upset in the quarterfinals of the Eastern Grass Court championships at South Orange, N.J., last week by 20-year-old David Reed of Los Angeles.

Phillies Extend Mauch's Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gene Mauch's contract as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies has been extended through the 1965 season, general manager John Quinn announced Tuesday.

The 37-year-old Mauch was manager of the year in the National League in 1962 when he directed the Phillies to a seventh-place finish.

This season, after a slow start due to numerous injuries, the Phillies have come on to move within a game of the first division and only nine games out of first place.

They have won 27 of their last 40 games and 14 in their last 20.

Sheik Attends Laurel Races

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The Sheik of Dubai led a party of eight Arabs to the Laurel Race Course Tuesday to watch a day of American horse racing.

The sheik, Rashid Bin Said Al Maktoum, is on an unofficial visit to the United States.

Accompanying the sheik were two sons, the prime minister of Dubai, a customs official, a merchant, a banker, and a retainer.

Under and by virtue of writ of nonresident attachment issued out of Trial Magistrates Court, Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, and against George E. Fansler and Sandra Fansler, late of 574 Winfred Road, and whose address is now unknown, I will offer for sale at public auction at George Powers Towing Service, 302 N. Centre St., on Friday, August 30, 1963, at 10 a. m., one 1953 2 door Chevrolet. I reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

New Philadelphia NBA Team Will Be Known As 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The new Philadelphia team in the National Basketball Association will be known as the Philadelphia 76ers.

Irv Kosloff, club president, said the nickname was selected from 4,000 entries and more than 450 different suggestions in a name the club contest.

Stalberg said his reason for 76ers was:

"No athletic team has ever paid tribute to the gallant men who forged this country's independence, and certainly, Philadelphia, Shrine of Liberty, should do so."

ORDER NISI

ORDERED This 5th day of August, 1963, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in equity, that the sale made and reported in the above cause by Edward J. Ryan, Assignee, be ratified and confirmed unless cause to the contrary thereof be shown on or before the 6th day of September, 1963, provided a copy of this order be published in some newspaper published in Allegany County, once a week for three successive weeks before the 31st day of August, 1963.

The report states the amount of the sale to be $8400.00.

Frederick Defeats Easton, 4-3, Cops State Legion Junior Title

The undefeated Frederick squad wrapped up the title in the ninth inning with two out as Gary Himes singled, stole second and scored on Leo Duncan's single.

The victory gave Frederick a berth in next week's eastern regional tournament which will bring together state champions not yet named from New York, Delaware, New Jersey, West Virginia and Washington, D.C.

Lefthander Jim Trout survived a rocky start and went on to strike out 14 men for Frederick.

Easton got its runs on a pair of errors in the first inning and Jim Rauthley's double in the second. Phil Sewell, who had reached base on an error, came home on Rauthley's hit.

Frederick pecked away at righthander Don Saulsbury for single runs in the third and fourth innings. Tom Bichy tied the score in the eighth as he singled, stole second, took third on a fly ball and scored on a passed ball.

Legion ball is for players 19 and younger.

The regional tournament which opens here Aug. 14 will be double elimination, as was the state tournament. A team must lose twice to be out of contention.

Shula Makes Debut Saturday When Colts Meet Eagles

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Don Shula will make his debut as Baltimore head coach Saturday night as the Colts tangle with the Philadelphia Eagles at Hershey, Pa., stadium.

The Colts have won four out of eight National Football League encounters with the Eagles at their training site, including a 56-28 victory last year.

Shula will be looking at his offensive potential when the team takes to the field.

"We know that we have good passing and receiving. Now we want to develop better pass protection and get our running game going. Our blockers are going to have to get into position to pick up those blitzing linebackers."

"On the ground, we're still sorting out fullbacks," Shula said.

Fullmer Finishes Heavy Training

IBADAN, Nigeria (AP)— Brawny Gene Fullmer finished heavy training Tuesday for his title fight with middleweight champion Dick Tiger Saturday by boxing three spirited rounds with Milo Savage, his Utah sparring partner. Some 300 fans cheered the Amercian challenger after the workout.

The former champion from West Jordan, Utah, and Tiger, the pride and joy of Nigeria, will meet for the third time in a 15-rounder at Ibadan's Liberty Stadium.

"What's impressed me most about Nigeria is the hospitality and friendliness of the people," said Fullmer after the drill in the Ibadan University gym.

Wills Collects Four Hits In Dodgers' 4-1 Victory

Drysdale Tosses 6-Hitter At Cubs, Earns 14th Win

CHICAGO (UPI)—Maury Wills went four for five Tuesday, scoring once and driving in a run, to pace the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs, their sixth in seven games in Wrigley Field this year.

Don Drysdale blanked the Cubs until the sixth to earn his 14th win and his fourth in five starts against Chicago. It was the Dodgers' third straight victory.

Cubs starter Larry Jackson took his 10th loss and needed relief from Tom Baker and Don Elston in the seventh after the Dodgers had tallied all their runs on eight hits. It was Jackson's third loss to the Dodgers without a victory this season.

Wills scored on Jim Gilliam's sacrifice fly in the first inning and singled in the seventh t drive in Marv Breeding. Ron Fairly hit his 11th homer and the Dodgers got a single run in the fifth on a walk and two singles.

The Cubs failed to hit a home run for the first time in 10 games, and Billy Williams' consecutive game hitting streak ended at 12. Jim Schaffer extended his batting streak to seven games with a double and a single.

The game was halted twice by rain, once for seven minutes and the second time for 25 minutes.

14 Top Ranking Net Stars To Vie In M.A. Tourney

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fourteen of the nation's ranking tennis stars, headed by Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., open play Wednesday in the Middle Atlantic Lawn Tennis Association Championships.

Froehling, ranked No. 2 in the United States, has been seeded first in the 32-man field. The tourney at the Baltimore Country Club replaces the defunct Southhampton, N.Y. event on the grass court circuit this year.

Other ranking players include Donald Dell, No. 7, Roger Werksman, 14, Larry Nagler, 16, and Andy Lloyd 19.

The 22-year-old Barnes finished runnerup to Chuck McKinley, the No. 1 U.S. player and Wimbledon champion, in the Pennsylvania Lawn Tennis championships two weekends ago. Last April, Barnes won the Pan American Games title.

Froehling was upset in the quarterfinals of the Eastern Grass Court championships at South Orange, N.J., last week by 20-year-old David Reed of Los Angeles.

Phillies Extend Mauch's Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gene Mauch's contract as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies has been extended through the 1965 season, general manager John Quinn announced Tuesday.

The 37-year-old Mauch was manager of the year in the National League in 1962 when he directed the Phillies to a seventh-place finish.

This season, after a slow start due to numerous injuries, the Phillies have come on to move within a game of the first division and only nine games out of first place.

They have won 27 of their last 40 games and 14 in their last 20.

Sheik Attends Laurel Races

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The Sheik of Dubai led a party of eight Arabs to the Laurel Race Course Tuesday to watch a day of American horse racing.

The sheik, Rashid Bin Said Al Maktoum, is on an unofficial visit to the United States.

Accompanying the sheik were two sons, the prime minister of Dubai, a customs official, a merchant, a banker, and a retainer.

New Philadelphia NBA Team Will Be Known As 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The new Philadelphia team in the National Basketball Association will be known as the Philadelphia 76ers.

Irv Kosloff, club president, said the nickname was selected from 4,000 entries and more than 450 different suggestions in a name the club contest.

Stalberg said his reason for 76ers was:

"No athletic team has ever paid tribute to the gallant men who forged this country's independence, and certainly, Philadelphia, Shrine of Liberty, should do so."

Under and by virtue of writ of non-resident attachment issued out of Trial Magistrates Court, Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, and against George E. Fansler and Sandra Fansler, late of 574 Winfred Road, and whose address is now unknown, I will offer for sale at public auction at George Powers Towing Service, 302 N. Centre St., on Friday, August 30, 1963, at 10 a. m., one 1953 2 door Chevrolet. I reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

Stock Market Registers Third Straight Advance

NEW YORK (UPI) — Even a bout of afternoon profit-taking couldn't stem the tide of the stock market's advance Tuesday, and it closed higher for the third consecutive session.

Dow-Jones industrial average, which backed off a point or so late in the afternoon, recouped its loss and closed up 4.51 to 707.06. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index rose 0.46 to 70.17.

IBM jumped 5, Electronic Associates 1⅝, Consolidated Electronics 2¼, and Control Data 1⅜. RCA rose 1⅛ after a spokesman for the company said net income for the first seven months of this year improved more than 25 per cent over the similar 1962 period.

Among the metals, Anaconda rose 1⅜, Alcoa 2⅛, International Nickel 1, Newmont Mining ½ and Reynolds 1¼.

In the drug section, Pfizer advanced 1¼, Merick 1⅞, Abbott Labs 1¼, American Home Products ¾ and Bristol-Myers 2½, the last in delayed response to a dividend boost, proposed 2-for-1 stock split and higher earnings.

Of the 1,284 issues traded, 650 advanced and 350 declined — 56 to new 1963 highs and 22 to new lows.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

MAMA GAINED ANOTHER POUND THIS WEEK
SHE DID?
SO SHE'S STARTING ON A VERY STRENUOUS DIET
BLONDIE, IF YOU'RE DIETING, WHY ARE YOU EATING THAT GOOEY STUFF?
MY DIET STARTS TOMORROW
NOBODY EVER STARTS A DIET TODAY
CHIC YOUNG 8-7

SCAMP

WHEW! THIS HOT WEATHER IS TERRIBLE!
I THEENK EET'S SWELL!
PHOOEY! ABOUT ALL YOU CAN DO IS LIE AROUND!
I KNOW!
THEES EES WHY I LIKE EET!
WALT DISNEY 8-7

JULIET JONES

BROOK! WHERE'S BROOK WILE?
WITH HIS WIFE, MR. GRIFFIN.
I DON'T LIKE THE IMPLICATIONS OF THAT. IT MEANS HE'S NOT GOING TO MAKE THE CHANGES I ORDERED HIM TO MAKE.
TOOLS

PEANUTS
DON'T SAY ANYTHING TO ME!
DON'T ANYONE SAY ANYTHING TO ME! I KNOW I LOST US THE CHAMPIONSHIP!
NOBODY HAS TO TELL ME I'M A BLOCKHEAD! I KNOW I'M A BLOCKHEAD! NOBODY HAS TO TELL ME!
YOU BLOCKHEAD!

BEETLE BAILEY

YOU WOLF! I'M GETTING OUT OF THIS BOAT!
SMAK!
YEAH? WE'RE TWO MILES FROM SHORE! WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO...WALK?!
HEH HEH
MORT WALKER

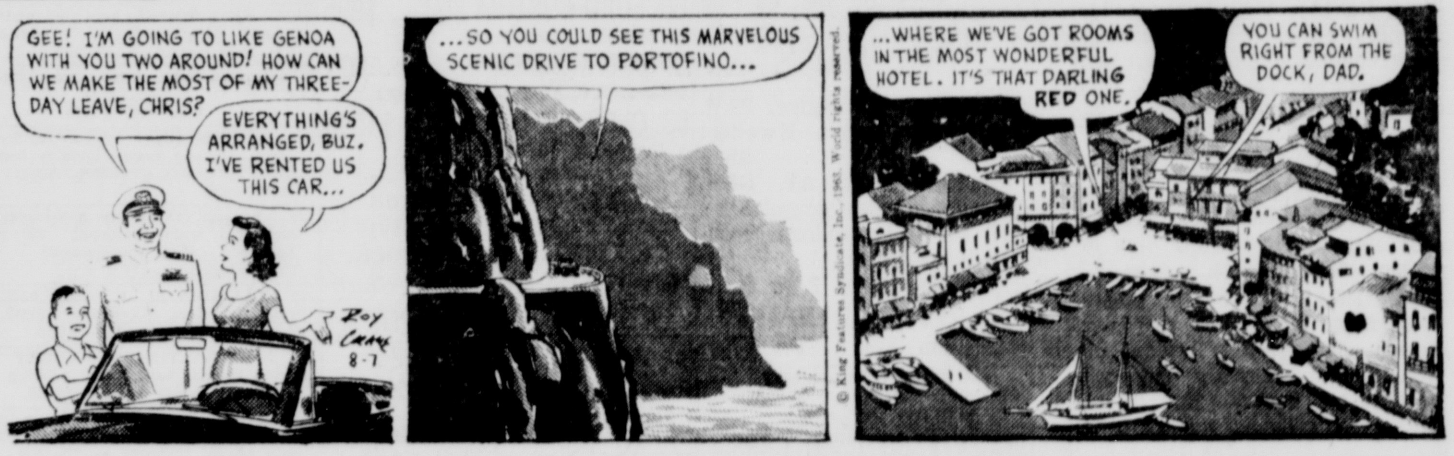
BUZ SAWYER



GEE! I'M GOING TO LIKE GENOA WITH YOU TWO AROUND! HOW CAN WE MAKE THE MOST OF MY THREE-DAY LEAVE, CHRIS?
EVERYTHING'S ARRANGED, BUZ. I'VE RENTED US THIS CAR...
...SO YOU COULD SEE THIS MARVELOUS SCENIC DRIVE TO PORTOFINO...
...WHERE WE'VE GOT ROOMS IN THE MOST WONDERFUL HOTEL. IT'S THAT DARLING RED ONE.
YOU CAN SWIM RIGHT FROM THE DOCK, DAD.

BARNEY & SNUFFY

PAW!! YONDER COMES TH' PARSON
PAW!! DON'T YE DARE HURT HIS FEELIN'S!!
PARSON!! YE AIN'T CHANGED A BIT
FRED LASSWELL 8-7

DICK TRACY

GET LI'L DROPOUT OFF THOSE BINS BEFORE HE TURNS THEM OVER.
GO TO YOUR LOOKOUT!
LI'L DROPOUT
CHESTER GOULD

Stock Market Registers Third Straight Advance

NEW YORK (UPI) — Even a bout of afternoon profit-taking couldn't stem the tide of the stock market's advance Tuesday, and it closed higher for the third consecutive session.

Dow-Jones industrial average, which backed off a point or so late in the afternoon, recouped its loss and closed up 4.51 to 707.06. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index rose 0.46 to 70.17.

Trading followed its recent pattern of tending to increase on the rise. Volume totaled 3,760,000 shares, 390,000 more than Monday.

Electronics, drugs and metals paced the advance.

IBM jumped 5, Electronic Associates 1⅝, Consolidated Electronics 2¼, and Control Data 1⅜. RCA rose 1⅛ after a spokesman for the company said net income for the first seven months of this year improved more than 25 per cent over the similar 1962 period.

Among the metals, Anaconda rose 1⅜, Alcoa 2⅛, International Nickel 1, Newmont Mining ½ and Reynolds 1¼.

In the drug section, Pfizer advanced 1¼, Merick 1⅞, Abbott Labs 1¼, American Home Products ¾ and Bristol-Myers 2½, the last in delayed response to a dividend boost, proposed 2-for-1 stock split and higher earnings.

Of the 1,284 issues traded, 650 advanced and 350 declined — 56 to new 1963 highs and 22 to new lows.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

ORDINANCE NO. 2364

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, ENTITLED, "AN ORDINANCE TO REPEAL ORDINANCE NO. 2099 OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL, PASSED ON DECEMBER 8, 1958, PROVIDING FOR THE ADOPTION OF THE FIRE PREVENTION CODE PREPARED BY THE NATIONAL BOARD OF FIRE UNDERWRITERS (1956 Edition), AND TO ENACT IN LIEU THEREOF A NEW ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE ADOPTION OF THE FIRE PREVENTION CODE PREPARED BY THE NATIONAL BOARD OF FIRE UNDERWRITERS (1960 Edition) AND ALL AMENDMENTS THERETO AS THE FIRE PREVENTION CODE OF THE CITY OF CUMBERLAND, AND PROVIDING FOR PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF."

SECTION 1: BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, That Ordinance No. 2099, passed December 8, 1958, be and the same is hereby repealed.

SECTION 2: AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That the provisions of the Fire Prevention Code prepared by the National Board of Fire Underwriters (1960 Edition) and all amendments to said Fire Prevention Code, which consists of thirty (30) sections and Appendix A through D and Amendments of November, 1961, be and they are hereby adopted as the Fire Prevention Code of the City of Cumberland as though specifically set forth herein totidem verbis, reference to said publication being hereby made.

SECTION 3: AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That any and all Ordinances and Orders of the Mayor and City Council in conflict with this Ordinance, and the terms and provisions of said Fire Prevention Code and not herewith expressly repealed, be and they are hereby repealed, rescinded, revoked, annulled and rendered void and of no effect whatsoever.

SECTION 4: AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That Section 11 of Appendix D of said Fire Prevention Code, which provides for penalties for the violation of said Code, shall be published in accordance with the law, which said section reads as follows:

"a. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of the code hereby adopted or fail to comply therewith, or who shall violate or fail to comply with any order made thereunder, or who shall build in violation of any detailed statement of specifications or plans submitted and approved thereunder, or any certificate or permit issued thereunder, and from which no appeal has been taken, or who shall fail to comply with such an order as affirmed or modified by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, or by a court of competent jurisdiction, within the time fixed herein, shall severally for each and every such violation and noncompliance respectively, be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $25.00 nor more than $100.00 or by imprisonment for not less than 1 day nor more than 10 days or by both such fine and imprisonment. The imposition of one penalty for any violation shall not excuse the violation or permit it to continue; and all such persons shall be required to correct or remedy such violations or defects within a reasonable time; and when not otherwise specified, each ten days that prohibited conditions are maintained shall constitute a separate offense.

SECTION 5: AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this Ordinance be codified as Chapter 36 of the General Ordinances of the City of Cumberland, Maryland.

SECTION 6: AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this Ordinance shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Passed this 29th day of July, 1963.

YOUNG, FAST-GROWING CELANESE DIVISION IN SOLID ROCKET PROPELLANTS and HIGH ENERGY EXPLOSIVES

Established in 1959 on a 1,300-acre site in Asheville, North Carolina, AMCEL has more than tripled its technical staff and achieved many advances in high energy propellant formulation, propellant processing and manufacturing techniques as well as in rocket component design and fabrication, explosive forming, and experimental multiple re-start rocket propulsion systems.

Backed by the financial stability of Celanese, one of America's leading chemical firms, with its 35-years research backlog in the fields of organic, polymer, plastic and nitration research, the future of the new organization is bright.

IMMEDIATE OPPORTUNITIES FOR:

SENIOR PROCESS ENGINEER & SUPERVISORS
To plan and direct processing of propellant formulation and motor components for rocket motor development or production programs. BS or MS in ChE or ME with 3 years minimum experience in solid propellant rocket motor processing.

SOLID PROPELLANT FORMULATION SPECIALIST & SUPERVISORS
To formulate new propellants, tailor existing formulations for specific applications, characterize propellants, establish processing methods, conduct physical and chemical test analyses and assist in development programs. BS or MS in Chemistry with 2 years minimum experience in propellant formulation.

STRUCTURAL DESIGN ENGINEER & SUPERVISORS
To supervise design of structural components for rocket motors and associated equipment; specify materials and recommend methods for construction of designed items; and to calculate stresses, strains, heat transfer, vibration and dynamic loading effects.

SENIOR DEVELOPMENT ENGINEER
To plan, organize, integrate and measure the engineering development function necessary to develop and initial propulsion system design into a reliable, low cost production product. Requires BSME with 3 years' minimum experience in solid propellant rockets.

SENIOR TEST ENGINEERS
To plan, design and coordinate complete test programs of rocket motors; establish and define instrumentation requirements for tests, as well as other requirements for the test set-up and performance and for data reduction. BS in ME, AE, EE, Physics or equivalent with 3 to 7 years' experience in rocket motor test engineering.

INTERNAL BALLISTICIAN
To make charge design studies to optimize ballistic performance, and preliminary charge design studies for proposals; make ballistic calculations of the parameters on propulsion units. Degree in science, physics or AE plus 3 to 7 years' experience in ballistic evaluation and analysis of propellants and propulsion systems.

TECHNICAL REPORT WRITER/EDITOR
To write, edit and coordinate the preparation of technical reports. Will be responsible for completion of reports through typing, art work and reproduction. Should have 2 to 4 years' experience in rocket or aerospace field. BA or BS degree and some technical proposal experience desirable.

ORDINANCE NO. 2364

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, ENTITLED, "AN ORDINANCE TO REPEAL ORDINANCE NO. 2099 OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL, PASSED ON DECEMBER 8, 1958, PROVIDING FOR THE ADOPTION OF THE FIRE PREVENTION CODE PREPARED BY THE NATIONAL BOARD OF FIRE UNDERWRITERS (1956 Edition), AND TO ENACT IN LIEU THEREOF A NEW ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE ADOPTION OF THE FIRE PREVENTION CODE PREPARED BY THE NATIONAL BOARD OF FIRE UNDERWRITERS (1960 Edition) AND ALL AMENDMENTS THERETO AS THE FIRE PREVENTION CODE OF THE CITY OF CUMBERLAND, AND PROVIDING FOR PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF."

SECTION 1: BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, That Ordinance No. 2099, passed December 8, 1958, be and the same is hereby repealed.

SECTION 2: AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That the provisions of the Fire Prevention Code prepared by the National Board of Fire Underwriters (1960 Edition) and all amendments to said Fire Prevention Code, which consists of thirty (30) sections and Appendix A through D and Amendments of November, 1961, be and they are hereby adopted as the Fire Prevention Code of the City of Cumberland as though specifically set forth herein totidem verbis, reference to said publication being hereby made.

SECTION 3: AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That any and all Ordinances and Orders of the Mayor and City Council in conflict with this Ordinance, and the terms and provisions of said Fire Prevention Code and not herewith expressly repealed, be and they are hereby repealed, rescinded, revoked, annulled and rendered void and of no effect whatsoever.

SECTION 4: AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That Section 11 of Appendix D of said Fire Prevention Code, which provides for penalties for the violation of said Code, shall be published in accordance with the law, which said section reads as follows:

"a. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of the code hereby adopted or fail to comply therewith, or who shall violate or fail to comply with any order made thereunder, or who shall build in violation of any detailed statement of specifications or plans submitted and approved thereunder, or any certificate or permit issued thereunder, and from which no appeal has been taken, or who shall fail to comply with such an order as affirmed or modified by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, or by a court of competent jurisdiction, within the time fixed herein, shall severally for each and every such violation and noncompliance respectively, be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $25.00 nor more than $100.00 or by imprisonment for not less than 1 day nor more than 10 days or by both such fine and imprisonment. The imposition of one penalty for any violation shall not excuse the violation or permit it to continue; and all such persons shall be required to correct or remedy such violations or defects within a reasonable time; and when not otherwise specified, each ten days that prohibited conditions are maintained shall constitute a separate offense.

SECTION 5: AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this Ordinance be codified as Chapter 36 of the General Ordinances of the City of Cumberland, Maryland.

SECTION 6: AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this Ordinance shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Passed this 29th day of July, 1963.

KEY POSITIONS OPEN WITH AMCEL

CELANESE DIVISION IN SOLID ROCKET PROPELLANTS
and
HIGH ENERGY EXPLOSIVES

Established in 1959 on a 1,300-acre site in Asheville, North Carolina, AMCEL has more than tripled its technical staff and achieved many advances in high energy propellant formulation, propellant processing and manufacturing techniques as well as in rocket component design and fabrication, explosive forming, and experimental multiple re-start rocket propulsion systems.

Backed by the financial stability of Celanese, one of America's leading chemical firms, with its 35-years research backlog in the fields of organic, polymer, plastic and nitration research, the future of the new organization is bright.

IMMEDIATE OPPORTUNITIES FOR:

SENIOR PROCESS ENGINEER & SUPERVISORS
To plan and direct processing of propellant formulation and motor components for rocket motor development or production programs. BS or MS in ChE or ME with 3 years minimum experience in solid propellant rocket motor processing.

SOLID PROPELLANT FORMULATION SPECIALIST & SUPERVISORS
To formulate new propellants, tailor existing formulations for specific applications, characterize propellants, establish processing methods, conduct physical and chemical test analyses and assist in development programs. BS or MS in Chemistry with 2 years minimum experience in propellant formulation.

STRUCTURAL DESIGN ENGINEER & SUPERVISORS
To supervise design of structural components for rocket motors and associated equipment; specify materials and recommend methods for construction of designed items; and to calculate stresses, strains, heat transfer, vibration and dynamic loading effects.

SENIOR DEVELOPMENT ENGINEER
To plan, organize, integrate and measure the engineering development function necessary to develop and initial propulsion system design into a reliable, low cost production product. Requires BSME with 3 years' minimum experience in solid propellant rockets.

SENIOR TEST ENGINEERS
To plan, design and coordinate complete test programs of rocket motors; establish and define instrumentation requirements for tests, as well as other requirements for the test set-up and performance and for data reduction. BS in ME, AE, EE, Physics or equivalent with 3 to 7 years' experience in rocket motor test engineering.

INTERNAL BALLISTICIAN
To make charge design studies to optimize ballistic performance, and preliminary charge design studies for proposals; make ballistic calculations of the parameters on propulsion units. Degree in science, physics or AE plus 3 to 7 years' experience in ballistic evaluation and analysis of propellants and propulsion systems.

TECHNICAL REPORT WRITER/EDITOR
To write, edit and coordinate the preparation of technical reports. Will be responsible for completion of reports through typing, art work and reproduction. Should have 2 to 4 years' experience in rocket or aerospace field. BA or BS degree and some technical proposal experience desirable.

$40 Million Tag On Roads In County

18 Projects Listed As Critical

Eighteen highway improvement projects on state roads in Allegany County costing between $40 and $45 million were cited by a State Roads Commission spokesman yesterday afternoon as critical needs.

The list was presented at a meeting with county representatives at the Court House by Robert J. Hajzyk, chief of the SRC's planning and programming division.

Yesterday morning, John B. Funk, chairman-director of the SRC, and other representatives of the commission met with Garrett County officials at the Court House in Oakland and cited eight projects in that county as critical needs.

Some Advertised

Mr Hajzyk's list did not include two county jobs which already have been advertised for bids, and three others which are included in the current five-year roads program.

Already advertised are the resurfacing of State Route 49 (Braddock Road) from State Route 53 (Winchester Road) to the city limits, a distance of 2.6 miles, and the resurfacing of U. S. Route 220, the Bedford Road, 4.4 miles from the Mason-Dixon Line to the city limits. Bids are due August 13 on the latter job.

The Cumberland Thruway is chief among three other projects not included in the critical list because they are in the current five-year program. Bids are expected in December for the portion of the Thruway from Willowbrook Road to Maryland Avenue, Mr. Hajzyk said. Two other U. S. Route 40 projects are not on the list because they are already on the five-year program. One would link up the two segments of divided highway, running roughly from Naves Crossroad to a point east of the Baltimore Pike Fire Hall. The other would be Route 40 west from Winchester Road to Frostburg.

17th Meeting

Mr. Funk explained that yesterday's meeting at the Court House was the 17th of 23 the SRC is arranging on its 20-year needs study requested by joint resolution of the Maryland General Assembly in 1962.

Still to be held are meetings in the four metropolitan counties — Baltimore, Montgomery, Prince George's and Anne Arundel — and in two Eastern Shore counties, Dorchester and Wicomico.

The needs study is to be presented to the Legislative Council on September 12.

One relocated road included on the SRC's critical list for Allegany County is a new State Route 36 running 4.8 miles from about one-half mile west of Barrelville to U. S. Route 40 at Eckhart. Mr. Hajzyk explained that the existing State Route 36 between Mt. Savage and Frostburg cannot be reconstructed.

The SRC spokesman stressed that a priority list of the 18 Allegany County projects has not been prepared and there is no significance to the order in which they appear.

Other projects besides the new Route 36 job are as follows:

1. Construction of State Route 36 from Frostburg to Midland (5.4 miles).
2. Construction of new road and Potomac River Bridge at Wiley Ford from W. Va. Route 28 to Maryland 51 (1.2 miles).
3. Construction of Maryland 658 (Vocke Road) from Route 40 to Maryland 53 (Winchester Road) 8/10ths of a mile).
4. Construction of Maryland 36 from north of Westernport to the West Virginia line (1.45 miles).
5. Reconstruct Maryland 395 (Nave's Crossroad) from Route 40 to Route 220 (8/10ths of a mile).
6. Construction of Maryland 35 from Pennsylvania line to Maryland 36 (2.3 miles — Ellerslie to Corriganville).

George's Creek Work

7. Construction of Maryland 36 from the north limits of Midland to the south limits of Barton (6.9 miles).
8. Reconstruction of Maryland

Chaires Cites Maintenance Costs

Litterbugs are costing the taxpayers of Maryland $100,000 a year just for cleaning trash off the edges of the state highways.

That $100,000 was one completely unnecessary item cited by G. Bates Chaires, assistant chief engineer in charge of maintenance for the State Roads Commission, in explaining where the state road maintenance money is spent each year.

He was one of the speakers for the SRC yesterday at a meeting with county officials at the Court House held primarily to discuss the 20-year roads study now being completed in compliance with a request of the 1962 General Assembly.

Mr. Chaires used the litterbug illustration in explaining where part of the SRC's $13,200,000 annual maintenance budget could be saved for constructive purposes. The SRC maintenance engineer suggested that the volume of litter might be reduced if county building permits required sufficient litter barrels around drive-in restaurants and other places of this type along the highways.

Other maintenance expenses cited included $2,000,000 annually for snow and ice removal, $800,000 for mowing on median strips and along the edges of highways, $400,000 for painting lines on the highways. He said the state has to maintain some 600,000 signs alongs its roads and they cost anywhere from $1.50 to $2,500 each.

Only about $500,000 is left to blacktopping of state roads. He noted that the SRC district engineers informed him that they could spend about $7,000,000 a year for blacktopping roads throughout the state each year.

Another speaker at yesterday's session was Carl L. Wannen, SRC comptroller, who sought to show where the SRC gets its $104 million annually and where it is spent.

Mr. Wannen said that $31.7 million comes from gasoline taxes, $13.5 million from titling taxes, $5.2 million from motor vehicle revenues, $47 million from federal aid for interstate highways, $4.2 million from primary federal aid and $27.5 million from a bond issue.

Annual expenditures include $13.2 million for maintenance, $21 million for debt service, $27 million for interstate construction, $10 million for federal primary construction and $33 million for other primary and secondary roads.

Mr. Wannen said the counties of Maryland get $928 a mile each year from the state for road maintenance.

Water Shortage In Mt. Savage

There is a serious water shortage in some parts of the county, and at least one water company has issued a request for conservation.

Thomas E. Stephens, president of the Mt. Savage Water Company, said last night that all members and users are requested to refrain from watering lawns and gardens and washing cars, in order to conserve the dwindling supply.

According to their agreements with the company, if users violate this emergency request, Mr. Stephens said, their water supply will be turned off.

Great Sachem To Visit Lodge

William Conn, great sachem, will visit Tonkaway Lodge 120 tonight. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock, at the Red Men's hall. Following the meeting refreshments will be served.

Discussing County's Road Needs

A number of representatives of the State Roads Commission attended a meeting yesterday afternoon at the Allegany County Court House to discuss the county's road needs as brought out in the current 20-year needs survey. County Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon is shown pointing to the county map, and County Commissioner Robert Little Ebert is at the extreme right. Standing, left to right, in the foreground, are David H. Fisher, SRC chief engineer; Carl L. Wannen, SRC comptroller; Albert S. Gordon, executive secretary to the SRC chairman; Robert J. Hajzyk, chief of the SRC's planning and programming division, and John B. Funk, SRC chairman-director. In the background, same order, are G. Bates Chaires, SRC assistant chief engineer in charge of maintenance; Delegate Noel Speir 'Cook and State Senator George R. Hughes Jr. Eighteen projects in the county were given "critical" priorities.

Luke Mill To Tap PE Power Line

The Potomac Edison Company will begin providing power to the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company this month.

A 10-year contract for firm standby and emergency service has been signed by PE and the paper-making firm.

It calls for a 25,000 kva connection to provide 5,000 firm and 10,000 standby for five years, 15,000 standby for another five years and scheduled use of all 25,000 kva during parts of the year.

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company generates its own power at the Fine Papers Division mill at Luke but the growth of operations there have reached a point where more capacity was needed.

PE will provide service to the Luke mill with a 138,000 volt tap line from the new Albright-Fort Ashby line. A new 25,000 kva substation is being built at Luke to serve the mill.

Broken Arm Heals, He Breaks It Again

A 13-year-old South Cumberland boy who fractured his arm in June while playing was back in Memorial Hospital last night with a fracture of the same arm.

The youth, Tommy Valentine, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Valentine, 428 Arch Street, was treated at the hospital just hours after his physician had discharged him from treatment of the first fracture.

Dog Kills Snake

Vickie Lee Yeargen, 13, of 410 McMullen Highway, Roberts Place, last evening saw a 29-inch copperhead snake back of her house but before she could summon her father her pet hound dog, Micky, had killed the snake.

PE Will Build $1,000,000 Link In Power Grid

The Potomac Edison Company expects early this fall to place into service a 230,000-volt line that will interconnect the PE system with adjoining facilities of the Potomac Electric Power Company.

Work is under way in the company's Frederick district on the construction of eight miles of 230,000-volt line, employing steel towers, which will connect the new PE Doubs substation with the PEPCO system at its Dickerson generating station.

An existing 138,000-volt line from Millville to Frederick will be connected to the Doubs substation, providing an intertie between PEPCO's 230,000-volt system and PE's 138,000-volt transmission system.

The $1,000,000 interconnection will permit mutual interchange of power and will provide an additional course for the PE System's eastern area. It will also provide both systems with more diversity in meeting peak demands and increase the reserve capabilities for both.

The Doubs-Dickerson line will be the first major transmission project by Potomac Edison to use steel towers. About 50 towers will be built to carry the line.

The line will be constructed for double circuit. Initially, however, only one 230,000-volt circuit will be built. The 230,000 voltage is the highest capacity line ever constructed on the PE System.

This intertie with PEPCO provides another interconnection between Allegheny Power System companies and utility systems to the east. This new tie, along with the major interconnections existing toward the west, place APS in a vital role in the pooling and interchange picture nationally.

Through a series of interties completed last year, almost half of the North American continent was linked together. Seven of these interties were built by APS companies—three by PE and four by West Penn.

Attending Speech Institute

Nello Teer Bids Low On Rt. 40 Job

The Nello L. Teer construction company of Durham, N. C., yesterday submitted the apparent low bid of $2,755,364.43 for the construction of 3.21 miles of relocated U. S. Route 40 from Mountain Road to Davis Road.

The North Carolina firm was one of four big construction firms which submitted bids yesterday to the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Bids were also submitted by the Ralph Meyers Contracting Company of Monroeville, Pa., the S. J. Groves company of Minneapolis, Minn., and the E. B. Plummer Company of Chambersburg, Pa.

The contract calls for draining and grading a dual highway on U. S. 40 and the construction of dual bridges across Fifteen Mile Creek.

The project will eliminate the last bad stretch of road on U. S. 40 between Cumberland and the Washington County line and is the second half of the Town Hill bypass program.

The S. T. Brotemarkle Company here is building the first section of the relocation project.

The upcoming contract will call for the deepest fill and cut on any Maryland highway.

Carnival Postponed

A carnival scheduled next week in Ridgeley, sponsored by Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Company and the Ridgeley Volunteer Ambulance Unit, has been postponed until next month.

The carnival was postponed until September 5-7 because a new fire truck which had been ordered will not arrive until later this month.

The truck was to be used in connection with the fund raising event, according to Donald Jewell, president of the ambulance unit, and Charles Blackburn, president of the fire company.

The carnival will include games, booths, concessions and pony rides for the youngsters. Third Avenue will be blocked off for the street carnival.

Members of the carnival committee will meet Monday at 8:30 p. m. at the fire hall to make plans for the event.

Schools Serve 1,913,734 Lunches In Year

Some 1,913,734 lunches were served in the Allegany County public school cafeterias during the 1962-63 school year, according to figures compiled in the office of Mrs. Gladys Miller Eaton, dietician and supervisor of cafeterias.

In the 181 school days that the cafeterias were open in the past school year some 1,821,923 childrens lunches and 91,811 adult lunches were served. They average out to 10,066 children's lunches and 507 adult lunches every day. Some 64 per cent of the 15,641 students who averaged attending each day ate lunch in the school cafeteria.

All But Ellerslie

The rest of the students brought their lunches from home or went home for lunch. Ellerslie, a three-room institution, is the only of 33 public schools in the county which does not operate a cafeteria, Mrs. Eaton said.

Use of the school cafeterias reached their peak in December when an average of 10,644 children were served each of 14 school days. Second best month was September when an average of 10,619 children were served each of 16 school days.

September — 10,619; October — 10,519; November — 10,260; December — 10,644; January — 10,114; February — 9,795; March — 9,796; April — 9,590; May — 9,699, and June — 9,812.

More than half of the youngsters who ate lunch in the school cafeterias last year bought a second half pint of milk. Mrs. Eaton's figures show that 1,821,923 children's lunches were served in the school year and 2,976,054 half pints of milk were bought. In other words 1,100,805 extra half pints were sold.

The total milk purchased for the school amounts to 744,013 quarts or 186,003 gallons. That is 1,027 gallons each school day.

Students Help

Regular cafeteria employes were augmented by student help in most of the school cafeterias. An average of 338 students helped in the school cafeterias. In some schools they were the same youngsters each day but in other schools different children were on different days.

The cafeteria financial report, published last week, revealed total expenditures during the year of $731,121.14. Of this total $222,205.57 was spent for salaries, $422,626.45 for food, $27,335 for equipment and $58,954.12 for miscellaneous other expenses.

Income included $111,965.11 in federal funds and $664,360.57 from other sources. The cafeteria account had a balance June 30, 1962 of $119,620.06 and on June 28, 1963 the balance was $164,824.60, of which $30,000 was encumbered for new equipment, repairs and improvements to school cafeterias.

Glass Removed

The hook and ladder truck from Central Fire Station was called to the Sears Roebuck and Co. warehouse on Union Street last night to remove a pane of broken glass from a third-story window. A report was received that the glass was in danger of falling, and firemen answered the call at 9:02 p.m.

Booth, Picnic Planned

The Optimist Club of Bedford Road will meet today at 6:30 p.m. at the Bedford Road Fire Hall. Plans for the picnic and club-sponsored booth at the Cumberland Fair will be completed.

County Gets $3,322,755 During June

Allegany County real estate and personal property tax collections during June added up to a whopping $3,322,755.22, County Tax Collector Francis G. Philpot reported yesterday.

That total is 85.8 per cent of the $3,873,500 the county commissioners anticipated in the entire fiscal year when they set the tax rate at $2.05 on each $100 of assessed valuation back in early April. June traditionally is the peak month because a five per cent discount is allowed on county and special taxing area taxes during that month. The discount dropped to four per cent in July and now is three per cent this month.

June collections included $2,263,317.26 from real estate and $1,059,437.96 from corporations. The June total is $518,912.80 more than the $2,803,842.42 collected in June 1962. Last year the rate was only $1.85 so the collections should be higher than a year ago.

State tax collections in Allegany County totaled $187,156.06, including $182,280.95 from real estate and $4,875.11 from corporations.

Mr. Philpot's office at the Court House also received collections in June for the four special taxing areas of the county. They included $12,840.21 for LaVale or 91.7 per cent of the $14,000 needed in the year to pay interest and principal on bonds for water needs; $3,299.84 for Cresaptown, or 77.5 per cent of the $4,260 needed for water maintenance there in the year; $810.39 for Potomac Park or 81 per cent of the $1,000 needed in the year for street lights and fire protection, and $924.46 for Mt. Savage or 59.3 per cent of the $1,560 needed for street lights in the fiscal year.

Band Concert Set At LaVale

A band concert will be presented tonight at the LaVale Fire Hall in connection with the annual Firemen's Festival sponsored by the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company.

The concert will be presented at 7:30 p. m. by Local 787 of the American Federation of Musicians.

A kiddies' parade will be staged Thursday at 7:30 p. m. and on Friday at 7:30 p. m. a pet parade will be staged. Prizes will be awarded to the winners of both events.

Lions Meet Today

The Cumberland Lions Club will hold its weekly luncheon meeting today at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA. Guest speaker will be Capt. Richard Horne, USAF, who will speak on "Aerospace Research Pilot School."

USAF Office To Sponsor Model Airplane Contest

A model airplane contest, sponsored by the local Air Force recruiting office, will be held again this year in conjunction with the Cumberland Fair, August 19-24.

According to the recruiters, Staff Sgt. Harold A. Harlow and Staff Sgt. Lawrence D. Allison, all tri-state area boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 16 are eligible.

The contest will be divided into three classes — fighter, bomber and missile, with only one entry permitted by an individual in each class. The recruiters emphasized that models built by the youngsters need not necessarily be of Air Force type.

Entries will be accepted in the Air Force recruiting booth under the grandstand of the Fairgrounds up until 10 p. m. August 22. Judging is scheduled for the evening of August 23.

The model plane contest has been a popular feature of the fair for the past several years. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded for the top entries in all three classes.

Agency Cites Objectives Of Renewal Plan

Program Includes Heart Of City

The Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency has cited eight reasons why it wants to undertake a general neighborhood renewal program, rather than a piecemeal approach, in its plan for the rehabilitation of the heart of this industrial and transportation center.

The reasons, cited are in an application to the Housing and Home Finance Agency for an advance of $133,147 to finance the preparation of plans for the 10-year program are:

The area is well defined, having well recognizable physical boundaries and characteristics

Cites Congestion

It contains the highest percentage of deteriorated structures, over 37 per cent, of any other neighborhood in the city. A major contributor to blight throughout the area is a gradual conversion of original residential structures to commercial uses or mixed commercial and residential.

The entire area is characterized by severe traffic congestion created by extremely narrow streets, inadequate circulation and off-street parking, and major traffic conflicts with the railroads.

It is characterized by a severe mixture of uses ranging from heavy industrial to residential.

The entire area is intensively developed with extreme use of alleys not only for congested circulation but also for access to alley residences.

A small core of retail and office structures are in reasonably fair condition but are in constant danger from the severe blighted conditions through the entire neighborhood.

The presence of two main line railroads within te central area, with freight yards and switching yards, contributes, to the overall blight and major congestion in the entire area.

The replanning of the entire area will eliminate blighted areas and its influence on surrounding neighborhoods will provide the necessary impetus for improving conditions through both public and private action.

The area to be included in the program includes the center of the city, bounded by the city limits in the Narrows, Wills Creek on the west, the B & O tracks on the east and Oldtown Road to the south.

The application notes that 299, or 37 per cent, of the 798 structures in the 211-acre section have one or more deficiencies.

Stages Planned

Plans of the agency call for undertaking the big project in five stages, including the proposed George Street renewal project.

The application noted that clearance of certain areas would be needed to eliminate severely blighted conditions but that the GNRP will also provide for both rehabilitation and conservation and serve as guide for similar programs throughout the city.

In addition to the George Street project, CNRA is proposing four other projects in the central section of the city.

They include the South Mechanic Street project, the North Centre Street project and the east and west projects north of the B & O viaduct.

Building Contracts Are Up 52 Per Cent

June contracts for future construction in Maryland totaled $110,643,000, up 52 per cent compared to June 1962, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation.

Nonresidential at $46,414,000, was up 142 per cent; residential at $48,855,000, up 49 per cent, and public works and utilities at $15,374,000, down 27 per cent.

Contracts for the first six months totaled $466,946,000, a 21 per cent decrease.

$40 Million Tag On Roads In County

18 Projects Listed As Critical

Eighteen highway improvement projects on state roads in Allegany County costing between $40 and $45 million were cited by a State Roads Commission spokesman yesterday afternoon as critical needs.

The list was presented at a meeting with county representatives at the Court House by Robert J. Hajzyk, chief of the SRC's planning and programming division.

Yesterday morning, John B. Funk, chairman-director of the SRC, and other representatives of the commission met with Garrett County officials at the Court House in Oakland and cited eight projects in that county as critical needs.

Some Advertised

Mr Hajzyk's list did not include two county jobs which already have been advertised for bids, and three others which are included in the current five-year roads program.

Already advertised are the resurfacing of State Route 49 (Braddock Road) from State Route 53 (Winchester Road) to the city limits, a distance of 2.6 miles, and the resurfacing of U. S. Route 220, the Bedford Road, 4.4 miles from the Mason-Dixon Line to the city limits. Bids are due August 13 on the latter job.

The Cumberland Thruway is chief among three other projects not included in the critical list because they are in the current five-year program. Bids are expected in December for the portion of the Thruway from Willowbrook Road to Maryland Avenue, Mr. Hajzyk said. Two other U. S. Route 40 projects are not on the list because they are already on the five-year program. One would link up the two segments of divided highway, running roughly from Naves Crossroad to a point east of the Baltimore Pike Fire Hall. The other would be Route 40 west from Winchester Road to Frostburg.

17th Meeting

Mr. Funk explained that yesterday's meeting at the Court House was the 17th of 23 the SRC is arranging on its 20-year needs study requested by joint resolution of the Maryland General Assembly in 1962.

Still to be held are meetings in the four metropolitan counties — Baltimore, Montgomery, Prince George's and Anne Arundel — and in two Eastern Shore counties, Dorchester and Wicomico.

The needs study is to be presented to the Legislative Council on September 12.

One relocated road included on the SRC's critical list for Allegany County is a new State Route 36 running 4.8 miles from about one-half mile west of Barrelville to U. S. Route 40 at Eckhart. Mr. Hajzyk explained that the existing State Route 36 between Mt. Savage and Frostburg cannot be reconstructed.

The SRC spokesman stressed that a priority list of the 18 Allegany County projects has not been prepared and there is no significance to the order in which they appear.

Other projects besides the new Route 36 job are as follows:

1. Construction of State Route 36 from Frostburg to Midland (5.4 miles).
2. Construction of new road and Potomac River Bridge at Wiley Ford from W. Va. Route 28 to Maryland 51 (1.2 miles).
3. Construction of Maryland 658 (Vocke Road) from Route 40 to Maryland 53 (Winchester Road) 8/10ths of a mile).
4. Construction of Maryland 36 from north of Westernport to the West Virginia line (1.45 miles).
5. Reconstruct Maryland 395 (Nave's Crossroad) from Route 40 to Route 220 (8/10ths of a mile).
6. Construction of Maryland 35 from Pennsylvania line to Maryland 36 (2.3 miles — Ellerslie to Corriganville).

George's Creek Work

7. Construction of Maryland 36 from the north limits of Midland to the south limits of Barton (6.9 miles).
8. Reconstruction of Maryland

Chaires Cites Maintenance Costs

Litterbugs are costing the taxpayers of Maryland $100,000 a year just for cleaning trash off the edges of the state highways.

That $100,000 was one completely unnecessary item cited by G. Bates Chaires, assistant chief engineer in charge of maintenance for the State Roads Commission, in explaining where the state road maintenance money is spent each year.

He was one of the speakers for the SRC yesterday at a meeting with county officials at the Court House held primarily to discuss the 20-year roads study now being completed in compliance with a request of the 1962 General Assembly.

Mr. Chaires used the litterbug illustration in explaining where part of the SRC's $13,200,000 annual maintenance budget could be saved for constructive purposes. The SRC maintenance engineer suggested that the volume of litter might be reduced if county building permits required sufficient litter barrels around drive-in restaurants and other places of this type along the highways.

Other maintenance expenses cited included $2,000,000 annually for snow and ice removal, $800,000 for mowing on median strips and along the edges of highways, $400,000 for painting lines on the highways. He said the state has to maintain some 600,000 signs alongs its roads and they cost anywhere from $1.50 to $2,500 each.

Only about $500,000 is left to blacktopping of state roads. He noted that the SRC district engineers informed him that they could spend about $7,000,000 a year for blacktopping roads throughout the state each year.

Another speaker at yesterday's session was Carl L. Wannen, SRC comptroller, who sought to show where the SRC gets its $104 million annually and where it is spent.

Mr. Wannen said that $31.7 million comes from gasoline taxes, $13.5 million from titling taxes, $5.2 million from motor vehicle revenues, $47 million from federal aid for interstate highways, $4.2 million from primary federal aid and $27.5 million from a bond issue.

Annual expenditures include $13.2 million for maintenance, $21 million for debt service, $27 million for interstate construction, $10 million for federal primary construction and $33 million for other primary and secondary roads.

Mr. Wannen said the counties of Maryland get $928 a mile each year from the state for road maintenance.

Water Shortage In Mt. Savage

There is a serious water shortage in some parts of the county, and at least one water company has issued a request for conservation.

Thomas E. Stephens, president of the Mt. Savage Water Company, said last night that all members and users are requested to refrain from watering lawns and gardens and washing cars, in order to conserve the dwindling supply.

According to their agreements with the company, if users violate this emergency request, Mr. Stephens said, their water supply will be turned off.

Great Sachem To Visit Lodge

William Conn, great sachem, will visit Tonkaway Lodge 120 tonight. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock, at the Red Men's hall. Following the meeting refreshments will be served.

Optimists To Meet

A representative of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Comany is to be guest speaker at today's meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club. The meeting will be held at Central YMCA at 6:15 p. m.

Discussing County's Road Needs

A number of representatives of the State Roads Commission attended a meeting yesterday afternoon at the Allegany County Court House to discuss the county's road needs as brought out in the current 20-year needs survey. County Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon is shown pointing to the county map, and County Commissioner Robert Little Ebert is at the extreme right. Standing, left to right, in the foreground, are David H. Fisher, SRC chief engineer; Carl L. Wannen, SRC comptroller; Albert S. Gordon, executive secretary to the SRC chairman; Robert J. Hajzyk, chief of the SRC's planning and programming division, and John B. Funk, SRC chairman-director. In the background, same order, are G. Bates Chaires, SRC assistant chief engineer in charge of maintenance; Delegate Noel Speir Cook and State Senator George R. Hughes Jr. Eighteen projects in the county were given "critical" priorities.

Luke Mill To Tap PE Power Line

The Potomac Edison Company will begin providing power to the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company this month.

A 10-year contract for firm standby and emergency service has been signed by PE and the paper-making firm.

It calls for a 25,000 kva connection to provide 5,000 firm and 10,000 standby for five years, 15,000 standby for another five years and scheduled use of all 25,000 kva during parts of the year.

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company generates its own power at the Fine Papers Division mill at Luke but the growth of operations there have reached a point where more capacity was needed.

PE will provide service to the Luke mill with a 138,000 volt tap line from the new Albright-Fort Ashby line. A new 25,000 kva substation is being built at Luke to serve the mill.

Broken Arm Heals, He Breaks It Again

A 13-year-old South Cumberland boy who fractured his arm in June while playing was back in Memorial Hospital last night with a fracture of the same arm.

The youth, Tommy Valentine, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Valentine, 428 Arch Street, was treated at the hospital just hours after his physician had discharged him from treatment of the first fracture.

The young boy injured his arm in June while playing football and reinjured it again yesterday evening in the same manner.

Dog Kills Snake

Vickie Lee Yeargen, 13, of 410 McMullen Highway, Roberts Place, last evening saw a 29-inch copperhead snake back of her house but before she could summon her father her pet hound dog, Micky, had killed the snake.

PE Will Build $1,000,000 Link In Power Grid

The Potomac Edison Company expects early this fall to place into service a 230,000-volt line that will interconnect the PE system with adjoining facilities of the Potomac Electric Power Company.

Work is under way in the company's Frederick district on the construction of eight miles of 230,000-volt line, employing steel towers, which will connect the new PE Doubs substation with the PEPCO system at its Dickerson generating station.

An existing 138,000-volt line from Millville to Frederick will be connected to the Doubs substation, providing an intertie between PEPCO's 230,000-volt system and PE's 138,000-volt transmission system.

The $1,000,000 interconnection will permit mutual interchange of power and will provide an additional course for the PE System's eastern area. It will also provide both systems with more diversity in meeting peak demands and increase the reserve capabilities for both.

The Doubs-Dickerson line will be the first major transmission project by Potomac Edison to use steel towers. About 50 towers will be built to carry the line.

The line will be constructed for double circuit. Initially, however, only one 230,000-volt circuit will be built. The 230,000 voltage is the highest capacity line ever constructed on the PE System.

This intertie with PEPCO provides another interconnection between Allegheny Power System companies and utility systems to the east. This new tie, along with the major interconnections existing toward the west, place APS in a vital role in the pooling and interchange picture nationally.

Through a series of interties completed last year, almost half of the North American continent was linked together. Seven of these interties were built by APS companies—three by PE and four by West Penn.

Attending Speech Institute

Nello Teer Bids Low On Rt. 40 Job

The Nello L. Teer construction company of Durham, N. C., yesterday submitted the apparent low bid of $2,755,364.43 for the construction of 3.21 miles of relocated U. S. Route 40 from Mountain Road to Davis Road.

The North Carolina firm was one of four big construction firms which submitted bids yesterday to the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Bids were also submitted by the Ralph Meyers Contracting Company of Monroeville, Pa., the S. J. Groves company of Minneapolis, Minn., and the E. B. Plummer Company of Chambersburg, Pa.

The contract calls for draining and grading a dual highway on U. S. 40 and the construction of dual bridges across Fifteen Mile Creek.

The project will eliminate the last bad stretch of road on U. S. 40 between Cumberland and the Washington County line and is the second half of the Town Hill bypass program.

The S. T. Brotemarkle Company here is building the first section of the relocation project.

The upcoming contract will call for the deepest fill and cut on any Maryland highway.

Carnival Postponed

A carnival scheduled next week in Ridgeley, sponsored by Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Company and the Ridgeley Volunteer Ambulance Unit, has been postponed until next month.

The carnival was postponed until September 5-7 because a new fire truck which had been ordered will not arrive until later this month.

The truck was to be used in connection with the fund raising event, according to Donald Jewell, president of the ambulance unit, and Charles Blackburn, president of the fire company.

The carnival will include games, booths, concessions and pony rides for the youngsters. Third Avenue will be blocked off for the street carnival.

Members of the carnival committee will meet Monday at 8:30 p. m. at the fire hall to make plans for the event.

Agency Cites Objectives Of Renewal Plan

Program Includes Heart Of City

The Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency has cited eight reasons why it wants to undertake a general neighborhood renewal program, rather than a piecemeal approach, in its plan for the rehabilitation of the heart of this industrial and transportation center.

The reasons, cited are in an application to the Housing and Home Finance Agency for an advance of $133,147 to finance the preparation of plans for the 10-year program are:

The area is well defined, having well recognizable physical boundaries and characteristics

Cites Congestion

It contains the highest percentage of deteriorated structures, over 37 per cent, of any other neighborhood in the city. A major contributor to blight throughout the area is a gradual conversion of original residential structures to commercial uses or mixed commercial and residential.

The entire area is characterized by severe traffic congestion created by extremely narrow streets, inadequate circulation and off-street parking, and major traffic conflicts with the railroads.

It is characterized by a severe mixture of uses ranging from heavy industrial to residential.

The entire area is intensively developed with extreme use of alleys not only for congested circulation but also for access to alley residences.

A small core of retail and office structures are in reasonably fair condition but are in constant danger from the severe blighted conditions through the entire neighborhood.

The presence of two main line railroads within te central area, with freight yards and switching yards, contributes, to the overall blight and major congestion in the entire area.

The replanning of the entire area will eliminate blighted areas and its influence on surrounding neighborhoods will provide the necessary impetus for improving conditions through both public and private action.

The area to be included in the program includes the center of the city, bounded by the city limits in the Narrows, Wills Creek on the west, the B & O tracks on the east and Oldtown Road to the south.

The application notes that 299, or 37 per cent, of the 798 structures in the 211-acre section have one or more deficiencies.

Stages Planned

Plans of the agency call for undertaking the big project in five stages, including the proposed George Street renewal project.

The application noted that clearance of certain areas would be needed to eliminate severely blighted conditions but that the GNRP will also provide for both rehabilitation and conservation and serve as guide for similar programs throughout the city.

In addition to the George Street project, CNRA is proposing four other projects in the central section of the city.

They include the South Mechanic Street project, the North Centre Street project and the east and west projects north of the B & O viaduct.

USAF Office To Sponsor Model Airplane Contest

A model airplane contest, sponsored by the local Air Force recruiting office, will be held again this year in conjunction with the Cumberland Fair, August 19-24.

According to the recruiters, Staff Sgt. Harold A. Harlow and Staff Sgt. Lawrence D. Allison, all tri-state area boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 16 are eligible.

The contest will be divided into three classes — fighter, bomber and missile, with only one entry permitted by an individual in each class. The recruiters emphasized that models built by the youngsters need not necessarily be of Air Force type.

Entries will be accepted in the Air Force recruiting booth under the grandstand of the Fairgrounds up until 10 p. m. August 22. Judging is scheduled for the evening of August 23.

The model plane contest has been a popular feature of the fair for the past several years. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded for the top entries in all three classes.
